PDA Diagnostic Laboratory Completes Link In Tripartite

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A dairy producer with an unidentifiably sick cow calls his veterinarian.

The vet is unable to diagnose the illness.

What killed the animal? Is is contagious? Can it be stopped before the producer is driven to the verge of bankrupcty through the loss of his herd?

How many more cattle in the state will be affected and who will be affected?

With the recent groundbreaking ceremonies for the state's new diagnostic laboratory, Pennsylvania is getting a little closer to the ideal for finding and controlling diseases which pose severe threats to the state's animal and public health.

Tuberculosis transmittable between humans and animals, rabies, preon proteins such as cause Scrappie disease, Johnne's disease, bacteria such as Salmonella enteritis, various virulent strains of E. coli, etc. are some of the concerns that have been brought to the forefront by academia and supported by politicians of all ranks.

Experts on animal disease have watched, some in quiet horror, as the state has grown and become more concentrated in human population and livestock population and services and technology to protect the health of both diminished or stagnated.

Along with increased traffic and easier and longer distances traveled transporting domestic animals, a scenario has been created

A tribute to the 43 new Dairy of Distinction farms across Pennsylvania will be featured in a special section next week. We have farm photos, background information on each farm, a proclamation from Governor Tom Ridge, and messages of congratulation from our advertisers. Watch for it!

York 4-H'ers Win At Southeast Regionals

ANDY ANDREWS

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — York County youth had a remarkably strong showing on Tuesday afternoon during the 10th annual Southeast 4-H Livestock Judging Contest at the Manheim Fairgrounds.

York County youth captured both junior and senior individual judging honors and top senior team at the competition, which featured 4-H'ers from Lancaster, York, Lebanon, Chester, and Berks counties.

Capturing top senior individual competiton honors with a total score of 496 and a reasons total of 130 was Matt Trostle. Matt, 16, is the son of Ronald and Yvonne Trostle, Red Lion, and York County 4-H member. This was Matt's first senior individual honors at the contest. Matt also captured last year's State 4-H Days competition in the junior division and was on the state's winning team.

Matt attributes the many hours spent on farms in practice as the

This Week

Special advertising messages from exhibitors along with a review of activities at the Lebanon Fair to be held July 29 to Aug. 5. can be found on Pages A32 to A37.

Cameo Tops Lancaster Holstein Show Again

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — The tall, black, dairy-type Astro Jet daughter again was named grand champion of the Lancaster County Holstein Show. Repeting her win last year, New-Direction Jet Cameo-ET topped the 140 head show for the Alan McCauley family, New Direction Holsteins from Elizabethtown. The grandchampion win was only one of many ribbons and trophies taken by New Direction to give the McCauley family both the Premier Breeder and Premier Breeder awards. Cameo showed as an aged cow and was also best bred and owned.

Along the way, the McCauleys had the reserve grand champion with New-Direction Star Banbi-ET, their first place four-year-old. In addition, the junior champion was New-Direction Budgee, own-

POULTRY ◆ MARKETS

Delmarva Broiler

JULY 19, 1995

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was light to fair. Seller offerings were generally adequate. Live supplies were light with weights ranging light to desirable. Processing schedules were moderately heavy, with some schedules reduced because of hot and humid weather. Less than trucklot asking prices were 1 cent higher at 57 to 68 cents. Trade sentiment was fully steady. In the parts complex, demand was generally fair on most items, with bone-in breast and leg quarters in the best position.

National Egg Market

ATLANTA, GA
JULY 19, 1995

Prices were unchanged to higher in the Northeast and Midwest, and elsewhere, prices were unchanged. The market tone was steady to firm. Demand was light to very good, best where featured and in vacation areas. Supplies of the large sizes were tight to about adequate and extra eggs continued to be held with extreme confidence as a result of decreased production. Supplies of mediums and smalls remained adequate. Breaking stock supplies were short to adequate, and heavy eggs were held with confidence at higher asking prices. Spent hen offerings were limited to adequate for the light to moderate demand.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
JULY 19, 1995

Cooler weather, grain and soybean plants getting a darker green and prices dropping today. Wheat marginally steady. Corn 1 to 4 cents lower. Sorghum 6 to 9 cents lower. Soybeans took a whipping, 13 to 18 cents lower. Weather cooled down from drastic heat wave of last week and foreage much improved. However, majority of the combelt needs moisture and only scattered showers showing up. Traders taking profits on the boards and looking at seasonal peaks while they reestablish positions. Recent sharp jump in prices put more grain trucks on the hiways. Sprinkling export orders of a little bit of everything on the books again today. Speculators watching for the rain clouds.

Export demand: Purchaser Commodity Tonnage Del date Sub-Saharan Africa Hard Red Spring Wheat 60,000 Sep 1-Oct 31 Taiwan Corn 18,000 Aug 10-25 Taiwan Soybeans 12,000 Aug 10-25

Totals: Wheat 60,000 tonnes. Corn 18,000 tonnes. Soybeans 12,000 tonnes.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

PIONEER DAY, UTAH, JULY 24.

BEST FISHING DAYS

When the Moon is between New (July 27) and Full (August 10), fishing is improved, some say. Other best fishing times are when the ocean tides are restless before their turn and in the first hour of ebbing. All fish in all waters — salt or fresh — feed most heavily then. An hour before and an hour after the high tide or the low tide is considered optimum. Inland, times for high tides would correspond to the times the Moon is due south. Low tides are halfway between the high tides. When we can get off to go fishing is always a better time than when we can't, although it's not necessarily the best.

Time and tide wait for no man.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Don't buy a fish that has dim, sunken eyes; dark-colored gills; or that is soft in flesh.

CREAMED FLOUNDER

2 pounds flounder fillets
2 cups thin cream
1/2 cup sherry
salt and pepper to taste
1 pound cooked shrimp OR cooked meat from 1 small lobster
1/3 cup buttered crumbs

Lay fillets in greased skillet and cover with cream. Add sherry, seasonings, and cook 5 minutes on stovetop. Remove to a baking dish, add shrimp or lobster meat, and bake at 400° F until sauce is thick. Add breadcrumbs and broil, briefly, until bubbly and lightly browned.

Makes 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

Special Offer
Handy chart full of interesting weather proverbs Send $3 to Weather Chart, Dept UF, The Old Farmer's Almanac, Box 520, Dublin, NH 03444

OPINION

Vanishing Acres

How does the farm stay as a viable business operation, while neighbors complain about the odors, the flies, and all the challenges faced by farmers?

A long time ago, a great writer was asked a series of questions by an interviewer, and he responded, "what makes you so certain there is an answer to every question?"

However, perhaps some answers for farmer/development situations can be found in the experiences of the farmers interviewed for the three-part series, "Vanishing Acres," in Lancaster Farming.

From their stories, it is easy to see there are some solutions to the challenges of farming in a heavily urbanized area, or in dealing with the pressures of developments as they engulf farmland:

• Talk to your neighbors. Communication should be the topmost consideration. Try .o understand what the problems are and work with an open mind to coming up with solutions.

• Follow common-sense management strategies. Incoporate manure by moldboard plowing immediately. Don't wait to spread the manure before the urban neighbors' July 4 picnic.

• Watch what is going on around you. If you believe there are moves to put developments in near or around your farm, attend township board meetings. A lack of involvement is the spark that starts the fire of future problems.

• Use the tried-and-true public relations skills of those who faced similar situations. Invite the neighbors over for farm tours. Hand out free sweet corn for landowners who border your property. Do what is necessary to promote the fact that you really do care about their welfare.

"Entertainment farming" might be the extreme solution to the problems. For most, it works. At the least, finding out exactly who your urban neighbors are and trying to educate them about farming could go a long way.

Take the experiences of the farmers in the series and put some of them to use.

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Scout For Corn Rootworm

According to Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent, a few hours spent now scouting your corn fields could go a long way in protecting next year's corn crop.

While the adult rootworm beetle is not responsible for a large amount of damage or economical losses to the corn crop, the adult beetle is much easier to scout for than is the larvae stage which feeds on corn roots in June.

Fields which should be checked very carefully are those that show corn plants crooked due to larvae feeding. These fields should be checked very carefully for adults.

If you find an average of over 1 beetle per corn plant, the number of larvae which will be feeding next spring in that field will be sufficiently high to cause an economic loss if corn is going to be grown in that field again. If the number of adult beetles is extremely high, you may want to rotate to a crop other than corn.

Fields with extremely high adult beetle numbers may produce so many larvae even a good insecticide program may not control the larvae sufficiently and could have an economic impact.

The female adult beetle will lay close to 1,000 eggs. With 15 to 20 adults per plant, there could be 7,500 to 10,000 larvae per plant next year.

To Look At Rootworm Control

It could take some planning to have an effective corn rootworm control program. Most of the soil insecticides applied at planting time will do a good job.

However, under normal growing conditions these applications at planting time will remain effective for approximately six weeks. The rootworm larvae normally hatch in early June and begin feeding on the corn roots. When corn is planted in late April or early May, there is a good possibility that the soil insecticide applied at planting time has lost its effectiveness before the larvae reach their peak feeding time.

Larvae feeding will continue through early July most years. When corn is planted early, an alternative to at planting time application of insecticides should be considered.

The best control of the rootworm larvae on early planted corn is a sidedress application of an insecticide along with cultivation in late May or very early June. An application near the beginning of June would be effective until mid-Julv. which is the peak feeding period for rootworm larvae.

To Consider Adapting Equipment

Most corn growers are not equipped with the type of equipment that is needed to make a sidedress application of an insecticide applied to corn. It will take some preparation and planning time this winter to get ready.

Most granular insecticide application equipment will work if mounted on the cultivator, if you find a way to drive the unit. If you are lucky, you have an electrically driven unit and not a ground-driven unit on your corn planter. Thus, all you need to do is build a mounting bracket on the cultivator.

If your corn planter is equipped with a ground-driven insecticide units, you will need to mount a ground drive wheel on the cultivator or buy electric motors for the units. Time will be needed to get ready, so plan to work on it this winter before next spring's rush.

BENT IN THE WRONG DIRECTION
July 23, 1995

Bent In The Wrong Direction
July 23, 1995
Background Scripture:
Hosea 11
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 103:6-14

Much of the Book of Hosea is based upon his love for Gomer and shows us that this love which Hosea has demonstrated in his own marriage is suggestive of God's love for us.

In chapter 11, however, Hosea changes the analogy from his love of Gomer to the love of a parent for his children. Some of the most tender expressions in the Bible are to be found in this passage; at the same time it is one of the most powerful chapters in the Old Testament.

Anyone who is a parent can appreciate what God is saying through Hosea. Even the most disappointed or heartbroken parent can identify with the tender love of God: "When Israel was a child, I loved him" (11:1). Children are loved the moment they come into the world, if not before. There is no way they can deserve the love that is poured out to them. It is given to them as grace, unconditioned love. (I realize that this has not been the experience of some children, but I believe it is still the prevailing one in the world.)

We can appreciate God's lament, "The more I called them, the more they went from me..." (11:2). What parent hasn't had that experience? And we know that, just because a child ignores our call, that is no reason to withdraw our love. Do we love our children any less because they disobey us?

The child receives all this love without being aware of its great dimensions. Who among us lovingly remembers our parents because they taught us to walk? Most of us don't even remember that experience. And all those times our parents took us lovingly in their arms and healed our hurts—we absorbed all that without really being aware of the love we received. No child at any age is ever truly aware and appreciative of all the love the parent bestows.

And so it is with God and his children. How much love each of us receives every day of our lives and yet how unaware we are. Like children, we accept it because we assume that it is naturally due us. So, we can appreciate God, saying of us: "Yet it was I who taught Ephraim to walk, I took them up in my arms; but they did not know that I healed them" (11:3).

Then, like a parent, God's mood changes and he is irate over the way that his children have treated him. As parents we have experienced that, too: tenderness turning to anger. When a child is very late getting home, you have probably felt the conflicting emotions of worry and anger. And even when they finally came home and are o.k., we can feel both relief that they are all right and anger that they made us worry. That is the way it is with God's love, too.

In this moment of anxiety, God says, "My people are bent on turning away from me..." (11:7). So it is with children. They seem bent away from us, inclined to do the very things that disappoint us and break our hearts.

But God is torn between his tender love and his anger: "How can I give you up, O Ephraim!" (11:6). Yes, the children of the Lord deserve to lose his love, deserve the worst kind of punishment. But his love is stronger than his judgement: "I will not execute my fierce anger, I will not again destroy Ephraim; for I am God and not man" (11:9). Men and women may give in to their anger and despair, but not God. His love is divine.

That love redeems us; though we are bent in the wrong direction, his love seeks to find us and bend us back in the right direction.

Editor,

I am a subscriber to Lancaster Farming and have just read the first part of your 3 part series entitled "Vanishing Acres." You did an excellent job! But I had to write as I am infuriated by the behavior of "transplanted" people!

We are a "transplanted" family. However I am angered by others who are so intolerant of our farmers.

I have been a farmer-want-to-be ever since I can remember. My grandparents had a small farm from which my grandmother sold eggs to her neighbors. I have wonderful memories of tractor rides, feeding chickens and my cousins and I running among the corn. Of course I was a child then and never realized how much work my dad did to keep even this small operation going.

As a teen my family frequently vacationed on a working dairy farm in Dauphin County where I really learned a lot about the realities of farm issues and what it takes to keep a farm running. This only made my desire to raise children on a farm or at least in the country among farm folks more important to me.

We've lived her in Lancaster County for nearly 8 years. By the grace of God we were able to buy an older home on a small amount of acreage in rural Conoy Township from which we feed our family through the winter and our daughters learn the value of a little hard work.

We have a pig farm to our right and a chicken house to our left and a dairy behind us and I wouldn't change a thing. We love the quality of life and closeness with God that we are able to give our children. We are in constant awe of God's creation and provision here in the country.

If people wish to transfer to the country it should be they who

WaterGate.™ 3" Irrigation Pipe 30' Length

ECONOMICAL First Cost Is Less Expensive!

- Chemical Resistant — won't corrode with agricultural chemicals, corrosive waters or hot soils.
- Formulated Compound — resistant to impact and sun's ultraviolet rays.
- Non-conductor or electricity — eliminates electrolysis, easy to handle, safer!
- Comparable in weight — interchangeable with coupled aluminum tubing and fittings.
- Flexible — doesn't dent, male end doesn't egg shape.
- Threaded outlet — 1" pipe thread.

Over the years we have found this pipe to be more durable than aluminum pipe. Aluminum prices went up 15-20% since last year and WaterGate Pipe has come down in price. Interchanges with standard hook & latch irrigation pipe, over 30,000 ft in stock ready for delivery.
FREE Delivery on 1,500 ft or more.

Crossbreeding Field Day Set

ROCHESTER MILLS (Indiana Co.) — John and Margaret Marshall will host a field day entitled "Cross-Breeding and the Commercial Cattleman" at their Tejas Farm on Saturday, July 29.

Tejas Farm is located at 185 Marshall Road. Directions are available by calling the Marshalls at (412) 286-9804. The program will start at 1 p.m. Registration deadline is July 24.

The Marshalls are directors of the NorthEast Santa Gertrudis Associaiton (NESGA), which is sponsoring the event.

Events at the field day will include cattle viewing by hay ride, pasture rotation information, high tensile fence demonstration, classic car exhibit, food, fellowship and fun events.

The program will feature beef cattle produced by the Marshalls in their cross-breeding program using a Santa Gertrudis bull on females of various breeds. Others scheduled to participate are Linda and Gene Moose, who are bringing purebred Santas from their herd at Chapel Ridge Farms in Gettysburg.

"We hope to introduce breeders in western Pennsylvania to the benefits of using this wonderful breed in their commercial operations," said Linda Moose, president of the NESGA. "Our Field Day held in Gettysburg last year was very successful and we are hoping for a repeat in this new area."

The Santa Gertrudis is the first beef breed developed in the Western Hemisphere. Experimental cross-breeding of Brahman and Shorthorn cattle was begun about 1910 at the King Ranch in Texas. Texans needed an animal that could maintain itself in the sparse forage areas of their range lands, could bear young and otherwise maintain themselves without assistance, and could put on weight fast.

The ultimate result was a versatile and hardy breed that could adapt itself to any situation. The United States Department of Agriculture recognized the Santa Gertrudis as a distinct beef breed in 1940. Today the breed thrives in 44 states and in 18 other countries.

Santa Gertrudis bulls are extensively used in cross-breeding with cows of many different breeds throughout the world. Santa mothers produce large quantities of milk enabling the low birthweight calves to grow fast. Their parental instincts are strong and their disease resistance is high. They pass on their resistance to pinkeye. The dispositions of both bulls and cows make them exceptionally easy to handle.

Santa Gertrudis Breeders International was organized in 1951 to continue the improvement of the breed, work for standardization of the breed, establish a practical registry, and to inform, market, merchandise and promote the breed. Membership in Santa Gertrudis Breeders International is open to anyone interested in Santa Gertrudis and in the purposes of the association. The NESGA membership does the same in West Virginia, Virginia, and all states to the north and east.

The district six cattle sale sponsored by SGBI which includes Pennsylvania will be held this year on Sept. 23 in Sydney, Ohio.

Field Day Looks At Ways To Handle Heat Stress

MERCER (Mercer Co.)—On July 31, a field day looking at ways to relieve heat stress will be held on the following farms. All those in neighboring counties who are interested are invited to attend.

Topics are to include tunnel ventilation of tiestall housing and sprinkler systems for freestall housing.

Included are the following:

•9 a.m.-10 a.m., tunnel ventilation, Albright Farms, Cochranton

•10:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m., tunnel ventilation, Rolling Springs Farms, Franklin

•Noon-1 p.m., lunch, discussion

•1:30 p.m.-2:30 p.m., freestall sprinkler system, Waddell Farms, Townville.

No advanced registration is needed. For additional information, contact John Tyson at the Erie County Cooperative Extension, (814) 825-0900 or David Dowler at the Mercer County Cooperative Extension, (412) 662-2323.

Vanishing Acres: Despite Development Pressure, Farmers Find Ways To Thrive

Part 2 of 3

Editor's Note: In part one of the Vanishing Acres series, farmers spoke about their experiences when dealing with residential neighbors. In part two, farmers learn to deal with — and profit — from the challenges.

It has become increasingly difficult for agriculture to remain a way of life in communities such as Lancaster County. Due to rapid growth, many organizations talk of preserving farmland as part of our landscape without thought to preserving the economic viability of farmers.

— Jeff Stoltzfus
Adult Farmer Instructor
Eastern Lancaster County

John Valkovec, Kiecknersville, right, farms more than 500 acres, including a great deal of rented land in various locations. In the late 1980s, Valkovec saw farmland being lost to development at a rapid rate. "We saw that they were selling everything around us," he said. "We got scared." At left is Tom Morgart, technician, Lehigh Valley Crop Management Association.

Ressler admits that choosing to develop land is 'more profitable than the difficult, uphill production battle that keeps the land in production.'

Sprawling residential development that destroys farmland imposes a net financial loss on the coffers of local communities, inhibiting their ability to, among other things, fund quality school systems, according to a new analysis of three Minnesota towns recently released by the Land Stewardship Project and the American Farmland Trust. . . . Farmland protection may be financially beneficial not only because of its contribution to the tax base, but also because it holds down property tax valuation.

— Excerpt From
"Farmland And The
Tax Bill: The Cost
Of Community Services
In Three
Minnesota Cities"
The Land Stewardship Project
St. Croix, Minn.

Seven years ago, feeling the incessant pressure of development take away land he used to rent, and trying to figure out how to compete against the giant Philadelphia milk processors, Fred decided to open up an ice cream parlor.

The Towamencin Township dairy farmer saw how successful it was with the crowds. Even while losing farmland rapidly, Seipt saw how many people enjoyed ice cream.

Two years later, at the suggestion of his son, Matthew, Seipt spent $1.2 million to construct two miniature golf courses, a batting cage, and a driving range to round out the dream of an "entertainment farm."

The "lemonade strategy" worked. Now, business at Freddy-Hill Farms is booming, with no end in sight.

Before Jacob and Joe Stahl built a poultry layer operation in Lititz in 1979, as part of the arrangement, the farmers were required to grow a cash crop. Instead of tobacco, Jacob Stahl decided to grow tomatoes — 10 acres of them — in addition to a large variety of vegetable crops.

The market is there. Instead, of where there appeared nothing but constant development pressure and nearly mindless urban sprawl, with help from son Joe, Stahl is able to market vegetable crops to hundreds of neighbors. Regularly, those driving to and from work are customers of the small truck farm, which also houses about 60,000 layers.

Tim Fritz, who farms part-time with his father Harold and brother Jack near Bridgeport, east of Lancaster, has learned to make the best of steadily encroaching development. Houses are close to his farm.

In a 13-year span, between 1982 and 1995, about 30,000 acres have been lost in Lancaster County. Farmland is being lost at a rate of 2,000 acres per year.

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANSDALE (Montgomery Co.) — Like the saying, Fred Seipt knows how to turn a lemon into lemonade.

Also, the Stahls are paid to do custom mowing work in fields owned by the housing developers.

Tim Fritz, who farms part-time with his father Harold and brother Jack near Bridgeport, east of Lancaster, has learned to make the best of steadily encroaching development. Some land was sold to the East Lampeter Township to be used as a park. In essence, at least that part of the farm is "preserved" and will remain green.

The rest has been converted to a productive grazing system. Fritz said the grazing system is not only good for the cows and farm profitability, but also good for community relations.

"Our location in an urbanizing area has a lot of influence of what's possible," said Leon Ressler, Lancaster County's ag environment agent who deals with farm/urban interface issues. Ressler admits that choosing to develop land is "more profitable than the difficult, uphill production battle that keeps the land in production.

'We saw that they were selling everything around us,' he said. 'We got scared.'

have been lost in Lancaster County.

According to Tom Daniels, director of the county's ag preservation board, in 1982, the county's farmland numbered 417,000 acres. In 1995, about 388,000 acres are devoted to farmland.

Farmland is being lost at a rate of 2,000 acres per year. In 38 of 41 townships, there are about 310,000 acres in ag zoning. Strasburg township will be adopting ag zoning this year, according to Daniels.

"The whole time emphasis has changed," said Fred Seipt. In the past, farmers worried about timeliness, management, and many other business considerations. Production and profitability were forefront. But development pressures have given farmers additional worries.

'What do you do?' said Anita. 'I mean, I hate the developers, I hate what they're doing. . . .'

"People don't really understand that," said Ressler. "They see open space with a romantic feeling. They don't have a real concept about the level of activity necessary to maintain the economic structure to maintain that open space."

Rapidly, the county (which accounts for 25 percent of the state's total agricultural production) is losing farmland to development. In a 13-year span, between 1982 and 1995, about 30,000 acres

Selling the property to development can be a heartbreaking decision. For many farmers, that simply isn't the option, despite enormous market losses.

For the Stahls in Lititz, they admit to feeling the pressures as more layer contracts are dropped. "The egg business is such that they don't need any more houses," said Jacob. "The unfortunate thing is that they don't need any more eggs."

SURVEY OF INVERTEBRATES OF GRAZED DAIRY PASTURES IN PENNSYLVANIA AND THEIR ASSOCIATIONS WITH FARM MANAGEMENT PRACTICES

Robert Byers, PSWMRL, U.S. Pasture Lab. University Park and Gary Barker, Ruakura Agricultural Research Station, Hamilton, New Zealand

Last year, we sampled the invertebrate populations over a range of grazing systems along a gradient of soil types, grazing intensity and past histories for 21 farms in several different Pennsylvania counties representative of northeastern conditions. The invertebrates we collected were earthworms, spiders, spider mites, centipedes, millipedes, slugs, snails, and many different kinds of insects.

We collected the animals in three different ways: 1) soil cores 4 inches in diameter and about 2 to 4 inches deep (depending on how dry the soil and the presence of stones); 2) pitfall traps made from cottage cheese containers sitting inside 4-inch diameter sewer pipe connectors buried to the soil level; and 3) vacuum suction of four sites about 2 square feet each with a reserved flow leaf blower.

We did all the sampling in late May and early June at the time of maximum grass and legume growth.

We are overwhelmed by the huge number of species of insects that we collected in the pitfall traps. The soil samples revealed low numbers of important pests such as white grubs and wireworms in every farm sampled. Larvae of the clover root curculio, a pest of clover and alfalfa, was found on all 21 farms but in low numbers.

Clover root curculio were correlated with sites on each farm with dense stands of white clover. We have not started sorting the vacuum samples because we discovered the insects passed through the impellor of the leaf blower and only the mites and small insects were collected intact. We have since devised an insert in the collecting tube to prevent injury to the specimens.

The pitfall traps collected many species of spiders and ants and we are still sorting them after more than one year. There were also great numbers of beetles, 63 species of ground beetles, many of which are insect predators, have been identified by Dr. Bob Davidson of the Carnegie Museum of Pittsburgh. Rove beetles, another group of ground dwelling beetles, were also represented by over 80 species and are being identified by Dr. Rich Hobeke, Cornell University.

Many of the numerous flies, dung beetles, and other insects feeding on dung patties were collected in our traps. There were lots of weevils in these traps, especially billbugs which feed on grasses, stem weevils, and occasionally specimens of the clover root curculio, alfalfa weevil, and clover leaf weevils.

What are our plans for all the data we have collected and what does it all mean to you? We plan multivariate statistical analyses of the insects and slugs at community and species level based on systematic group (beetles, ants, wasps), feeding behavior (root feeders, stem feeders, leaf feeders, parasites, predators), and abundance (numbers per trap, per soil core), and we will associate these data with site vegetation, soil type and farm management practices. Our goal is to describe invertebrate communities by their habitat relationships in grazed pastures to determine the invertebrate species most likely to impact pasture systems and sustainability.

Our preliminary results show few species abundant enough to be pests of roots. At no time did we see damage to foliage except at the Forrest Stricker Farm in Berks County when we observed alfalfa weevil damage on grazed alfalfa on the south facing slope. Grasses and clovers showed little insect damage symptoms on any farm.

In the summer and fall of last year, and spring, summer and fall this year and next, we plan to continue our survey on five farms (Forrest Stricker Farm; Will Chamberlain Farm, Tioga County; Leonard Queitzsch Farm, Juniata County; Jerry Beary Farm, Venango County; and Herb Guyer Farm, Westmoreland County).

These farms represent different physiogeographic regions typical of northeastern U.S. conditions, and different ways of management.

Gary Barker returned this April to help arrange data for analysis and plan which insect groups to study. We are in contact by E-mail frequently and hope to be able to write some papers in the coming year on the effect of grazing management on insect diversity and abundance.

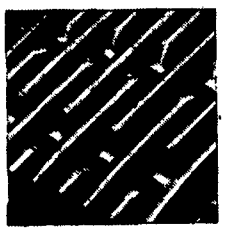
FLOORING

BOSS HOG WOVEN WIRE

Woven wire is generally used for hog flooring but is not limited to this use. Elevator fencing, fork truck safety cages, wire truck tailgates, etc. can also be made from the same construction. Call for your specific job needs.



* Excellent for farrowing/nursery pigs
* Does not retain bacteria
* No extra charge for custom size
* Easy cleaning
* Surface is non-porous
* Low cost flooring

Plastic Flooring

Sanitation - Constructed of solid plastic material. Some plastic floors are foamed. As these floors wear down their micro air pockets fill with bacteria which make the floor difficult, if not impossible to disinfect. This flooring features a triangle underside design which diminishes the need for high pressure washing from below to completely clean, as the floor can be cleaned sufficiently from above.

Outstanding Traction - Unique "High-low" finger design provides traction for pigs of all sizes, while enhancing safety and comfort.

Vanishing Acres: Despite Development Pressure, Farmers Find Ways To Thrive

For Stahl, converting an old tobacco curing shed into a house for 1,800 layers years ago used to be a large undertaking. In 1979, they constructed a house to maintain 60,000 layers. At the time, that was a huge enterprise, but pales in comparison to the 105,000- to 120,000-bird houses of today.

According to Joe Stahl, the mentality is that many homeowners want to be the last one in and are resistant to any additional development.

Still, taking on the debt load for that size of operation proved challenging for the Stahls. Money remained tight. What troubled them the most was, at the beginning of the 1980s, developments skyrocketed in the county and township.

A nearby farm went up for sale to developers. In 1988, the Stahls fell to pressure to put a sewer line through their property.

Then, in the late 1980s, development reached a peak. Two new housing projects, Wheat Stone and Rosemont, were constructed to house 150 units near the Stahls.

"The whole western border of our farm was affected by it," said Joe Stahl. To this day, part of a barn remains gutted out near the entrance to the Rosemont development, while the old homestead is being remodeled.

Anita and John Valkovec, Klecknersville, farm more than 500 acres, including a great deal of rented land in various locations. In the late 1980s, John Valkovec saw farmland being lost to development at a rapid rate.

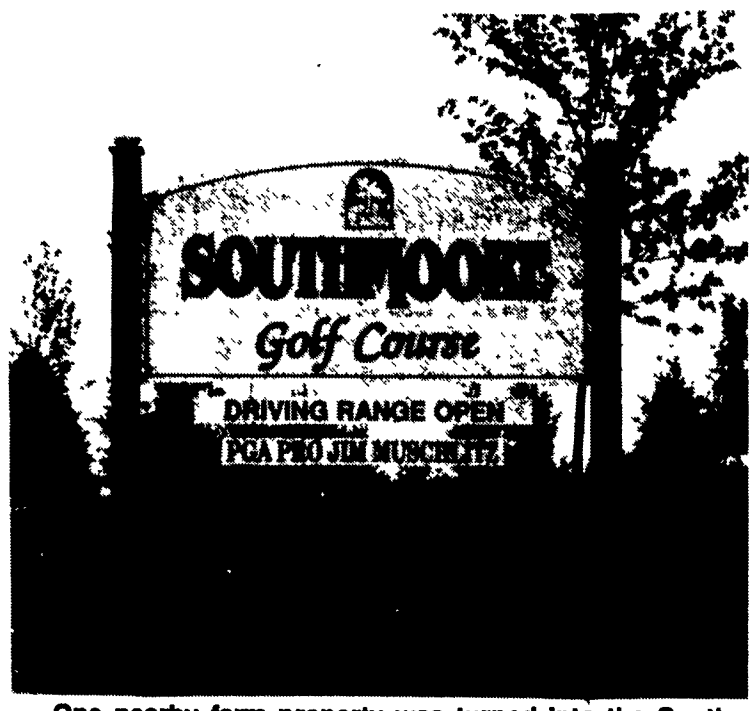
"We saw that they were selling everything around us," he said. "We got scared. We started looking. We were going to move to Bradford County. There was a nice dairy farm up there."

Instead, the Valkovec's decided they couldn't leave the area they grew up in and loved.

Anita said, "It was uprooting everything that we had lived with all of our lives — our families, the whole dairy operation. It was an incredibly hard decision to make."

Anita admitted, "We saw no future for us here anymore. The whole support of the ag business in the area was dying down."

John said that the ag business support infrastructure — the equipment dealers, the repair shops, the supply centers — are located far away. Sometimes they drive for miles just to obtain a $2 machine part.



One nearby farm property was turned into the Southmoore golf course. Valkovec said he prefers the land to be golf courses rather than houses, because at least some sense of open, lush fields remains.

Fritz, who farms part-time, uses composted manure to reduce odor. Notice the proximity of the houses. The spreader is used in the composting process.

'You don't have to get up at 4:30 in the morning to milk the golf course. You don't get up on Sunday and seven days a week to do that.'

"What do you do?" said Anita. "I mean, I hate the developers, I hate what they're doing, but really the farmer has no one to leave the property to. So they sell it because they can no longer farm it. And who buys it? The developer."

The questions that haunted the dairy family: at this late in life, do we want to go into debt? Can we afford to successfully relocate the business in light of depressed milk prices?

John said, "The roots run deep. My grandparents moved here during the Great Depression. There's four generations of us living here now."

But the facts remain: the nearest veterinarian is 30 miles away, in Oley. Obtaining parts is a nightmare, said John. They can waste a whole workday simply trying to find parts — often located as far away as Lancaster County — for their equipment.

About seven years ago, according to John, developers offered the Valkovecs $1 million for their 135-acre farmstead.

One nearby property, which sold for a huge amount of money, was turned into the Southmoore Golf Course.

Valkovec said he prefers the land to be golf courses rather than houses because at least some sense of open, lush fields remains.

Old farmhouses still remain in the middle of some of the multitude of housing developments in the area.

According to Joe Stahl, the mentality is that many homeowners want to be the last one in and are resistant to any additional development.

Jacob Stahl said that some of the housing development neighbors also decided that preserving farmland was a good idea.

When some neighbors "found out that we were not minded to sell the farm to development, oh, they were rejoicing. They were all happy — that's what they wanted to hear."

Clearly, attitudes were changing. The move was on to preserve farmland in Lancaster County. The Stahls signed their farm to preservation.

"We were happy to see the farm preserved, and we were hoping that some farmland would be saved. But not all farmers share that opinion," said Jacob.

"The whole time emphasis has changed," said Fred Seipt. In times past, we worried about timeliness, management, and many other business considerations. Production and profitability were forefront. Now, the "part of the business with the most profitability gets the attention," he said.

But Seipt is sincere about what counts in his business. "I might as well admit it — the entertainment center is more profitable. It gets the attention." Seipt admitted that, recently, haymaking needed to be done and wasn't because of the chores at the entertainment complex.

"The farm is a profit center, also. But there's a whole lot less effort involved in the entertainment per dollar return than there is on the farm.

"You don't have to get up at 4:30 in the morning to milk the golf course. You don't get up on Sunday and seven days a week to do that.

"Just plain farming, without the retail store, without the ice cream, without the entertainment, would not survive in this area," he said. "Is that because we're farming for fun? My wife says, why don't you pack it in? The point is, farming is our love and the changes we've made have allowed us to continue."

Editor's Note: In the final part of the Vanishing Acres series, learning the art of public relations — developing good neighbor relations — can go a long way toward farm survivability.

To this day, part of a barn remains gutted out near the entrance to the Rosemont development.

Organizations Raise $87,000 At Ephrata Fair

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Not only does the Ephrata Farmers Day Association donate proceeds from the Ephrata Fair each year, but many nonprofit organizations use their stands at the Ephrata Fair as their major fund raising project. This year's Ephrata Fair will be held from Tuesday, Sept. 26 until Saturday, Sept. 30.

Those organizations include Ephrata Area Adult Farmers, Soroptimist International of Lancaster, Society of Farm Women, Our Mother of Perpetual Help Church, Lancaster County Poultry Association, Knights of Columbus, Ephrata Rotary Club, Ephrata Recreation Center, Ephrata Pioneer Fire Company, Ephrata Area Republican Committee, Ephrata Lions Club, East Cocalico Lions Club, Democratic Committee of Lancaster County and Akron Lions Club.

The total combined net profit for the stands occupied by these nonprofit organizations totaled more than $87,500 in 1994.

S.E. FFA Dairy Show Displays Quality

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — The 40th annual Pa. Southeastern District FFA Dairy Show was held Tuesday at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds.

Participation in the show, which suffered last year as did participation in many shows because of concern over bovine virus diarrhea, was up, though not as great as previously.

According to Christine Williams, chairperson of the show committee, though the numbers of animals entered isn't as strong as it once was for a number of reasons, the quality of animals continues to be high and competitive.

Thomas Arrowsmith, of Peach Bottom, judged fitting and colored breeds, while Larry Swartz, with Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, judged the showmanship and Holstein breed.

FFA members from Berks, Bucks, Chester, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Montgomery, Northampton, and Schuylkill counties were eligible to compete.

In the Ayrshire breed, Craig Nolan and brother Brian Nolan, of Pottstown, showed the champions. Craig's senior 2-year-old, Dreamnol Olympic Brita was judged senior and grand champion while his junior yearling heifer Dreamnol Trident's Minerva was junior champion and best animal bred and owned. Craig also showed the reserve junior champion, a senior calf.

In the Holstein breed, Sheri Bollinger, of Quarryville showed her senior 3-year-old Locust Trail Stylist Crissy to take senior and grand champion as well as best animal bred and owned.

Jesse Bomgardner, of Ono, showed his senior 2-year-old, Loving-Meadows Krystan TW, to earn reserve senior and reserve grand champion. Jesse also showed the junior champion, a senior yearling Loving-Meadows Kameo.

Southern Md. Ag Field Day July 26

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—The Upper Marlboro Facility of the Central Maryland Research and Education Center will host the Southern Maryland Ag Field Day on Wednesday, July 26, from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Historically, the Upper Marlboro Facility has had an emphasis on tobacco research; however, the facility has expanded its mission to include work on other high-value crops and environmental studies. This is reflected in the activities scheduled for its 45th annual field day.

From 8:30 a.m. to noon, two wagon tours will make brief stops at various field locations for research presentations. Tour one features "Managing Pastures For Affordable Horse Feeding and Environmental Soundness," presented by Janine Baratta, southern Maryland consultant for the cooperative extension service. She will emphasize alternative pasture management techniques that are designed to prevent overgrazing. With these practices, more efficient utilization of grass as a food source can be obtained, and environmental concerns, such as erosion, can be controlled.

Another presentation, by Dr. Adel Shirmohammadi, Department of Agricultural Engineering of the University of Maryland at College Park (UMCP), details the "Environmental Fate of Pesticides." Rounding off this tour will be an overview of the production practices of the new cut flower industry and an evaluation of field production practices for seedless cucumbers.

Tour two features tobacco-related research and other topics. Andrew J. Clark, coordinator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Sustainable Agriculture Network at the National Agricultural Library in Beltsville, will present research on winter annual cover crop contributions to corn production. As an alternative to nitrogen fertilizers, cover crops may maximize production yields while having minimal environmental impact.

In the morning, field day visitors can browse through displays, such as "Introduction to Computer Uses on the Farm" or "Making the Most of Seasonal Produce." The USDA's Sustainable Agriculture Network and other agricultural equipment will be on display throughout the day.

You can munch on tasty tidbits and enjoy "A Taste of Southern Maryland" theme during lunch. The luncheon is available for a nominal charge. Dr. Arvydas Grybauskas, extension plant biology specialist, is the guest speaker and will give an update on tobacco diseases.

To reach the Upper Marlboro Facility from the north, proceed south on Interstate Highway 95, then take the state Highway 202 exit and proceed east for 6 miles. The facility is on the right.

From the south, proceed north on U.S. Highway 301 to Upper Marlboro; turn west on state Highway 725 (Marlboro Pike). Then turn right onto state Highway 202 (Largo Road) and proceed northwest for 2 miles.

For more information on the Southern Maryland Ag Field Day, Maryland residents may contact their county extension agent. Phone numbers can be found in the blue pages of your local telephone directory, or call Mark Spicknall at the Upper Marlboro Facility at (301) 627-8440.

Board Summary Report

PA DHIA
Dave Slusser
General Manager

The PA DHIA Board of Directors met June 28 in Mars, PA. President Lane Sollenberger called the meeting to order, and Secretary Neal McCulloch called roll. The minutes of the April 25, 26 Board Meeting were approved.

President Sollenberger announced his committee appointments: Finance; Dale Hoover, Chairman, Norman Hershey, John Castrogiovanni, Mark Eby, William Itle, Marian Butler. Policy; George Cudoc, Chairman, John Wilcox, Brooks Smith, John Brodzina, Frank Orner. Retirement Trust; Neal McCulloch, Chairman, Norman Hershey. DRPC; Steve Mowry, Chairman, Ralph Gilkinson. Planning; William Jackson, Chairman, Luke Rebuck, Ralph Gilkinson, Don Duncan, Steve Mowry. Technician Training & Certification Advisory; Neal McCulloch, Chairman, Marian Butler.

Financial Reports

Ted Brown, Director of Finance and Personnel gave the financial reports for March and April and went over the preliminary budget for the 1995-96 fiscal year. After the Finance Committee reviews next year's budget, and makes recommendations on field service pay and benefits, the committee will recommend a 1995-96 budget for approval at the August Board Meeting.

Staff Reports

Dean Amick reported on the very good meetings that have recently been held with the field technicians. The Technicians Advisory Committee meeting with Dean Amick, Ted Brown, Dave Slusser, David Bigelow, and the Region Managers met to discuss problems with pay, bonus, and benefits and discuss solutions. The meeting was positive and productive. Also, the Technicians Summer Conference was the most positive and productive in PA DHIA history. Technicians received training and inspiration in marketing and sales. All field Technicians are meeting bimonthly with their Region Managers for additional training.

Dixie Burris reported that the "Focus" distribution in the farm reports will begin next week and that news releases and advertising are occurring in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Delaware, West Virginia and Maryland. The PA DHIA Booth manned by staff has appeared at the National Holstein Convention, and will appear at Ag Progress Days. She also attended the Summer Technician Conference, Agri Forum and PA Dairy Futures Committee.

Jim Boyer gave the DRPC division report. Jim attended the Summer Technicians Conference where he led a panel discussion on Laptop computer use. The panel was made up of field technicians and was a productive part of the conference. Jim also reported that Randy Mayes was moved from Field Technician to Help Desk. Jim is developing an update to Dairy Plan for the Technician's computers. He stated the results of the Veterinarian and Nutritionist Conferences favored MUN testing. Calf identification from the Jersey Cattle Club was being worked on and progress is being made in PC processing, billing, and payroll.

Ted Brown reported that Pension fund investments were up and on allowing our employees to join a credit union.

Dave Slusser asked for a uniform recognition program for this fall's local annual meetings. He suggested the following as recommendations by staff for all counties; Herd Certificates for 500 lbs, and higher in fat and protein, Cow Certificates for lifetime production of 100,000 lbs. and 25,000 lbs. increments for milk or 4,000 lbs. of fat or protein and 1,000 lbs. increments. Rolling Herd Average ribbons for protein only, certificates in Herd Management Award in the county for 20 or more official herds enrolled will be recognized for first three positions with 10 tests for the most recent cow year and have at least 10 cow years. Rolling Herd Average Certificates for high protein herd and Lowest SCC herd. (All information available from start of the cow testing year (October 1) to the end (September 30) will be used). State would also print programs upon request, and that no plaques or trophies be provided by State. The Local Annual Meeting Recognition Program sponsored by the State will be reviewed by the Planning Committee and a recommendation will be made at the State Board meeting in August.

The policy on members and non-members using the DHIA trucks to transport soil and mastitis samples was reviewed. The policy manual update has been completed, copies will be updated by next board meeting.

MUN Testing

The board voted to lease a Foss 4000 machine for the purpose of testing our members Milk for Milk Urea Nitrogen (MUN).

Industry Talks

Dave Slusser reported on talks that he had with Dairy Industry Leaders, and with Russell C. Redding, Deputy Secretary of Marketing, Promotion and Program Services of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. The center of the discussion concerned the future of PA dairy farms and what these farmers as well as their farm organizations have to do to cope.

The meeting was adjourned at 4:00 p.m.

Pa.DHIA Introduces Technicians

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association is proud to present three of its technicians who serve on the association's Technician Advisory Committee.

The 10-member committee is instrumental in making suggestions and helping Pa.DHIA set policy.

Bob Edwards, an Indiana County resident, said he enjoys working for Pa.DHIA. Born and raised in the county, he decided to stay and work there.

Currently he is responsible for matinaining a circuit of 47 herds, which consists of 2,300 cows, in Indiana and parts of Westmoreland counties.

A graduate of Marion Center High School, Edwards has experience working with his father, a contractor. Part of their work included building pole barns for Agway. Edwards also had the opportunity to work for Agway in Marion center as a laborer.

Having an interest in agriculture, he was a member of his local FFA chapter, serving as president, and also as a county officer. Currently, he serves as a Cub Scout den leader. He is also a member of Marion Center Presbyterian Church.

In addition to serving on the Technician Advisory Committee, he is also a senior technician.

Being a senior technician involves promotion, training and substituting for those on vacations or off work for illness.

Edwards also completed the Westfalia Training School and has the training to teach other technicians how to tailor-make dairymen's same-day test reports.

Bob Edwards

A graduate of Franklin High School, she has a business degree from Clarion University of Pennsylvania and has participated in the Dale Carnegie Course.

She currently serves as a 4-H leader for the Venango County Livestock Club and just finished a term of office on the county extension board.

Her past work experience includes working for Talong Division of Textron, where she worked in the computer department for two years. She also worked for American Breeders Service for 12 years serving as a genetic mating specialist for 10 years and a district representative for two. During her employment she was named the 1989 ABS top evaluator in the Northeast, an award based on accuracy. She was also named a runner-up district representative of the year.

She and her husband Gale have a daughter Heather. Nancy said she and her daughter enjoy showing sheep at the county 4-H livestock show.

Carol Spatz, of Hamburg, has a 40-herd circuit with 2,400 cows in Berks County that keeps her busy. Raised on a dairy farm in Berks County, she has been a technician for 15 years and has served as a senior technician.

She is a graduate of Hamburg Area High School and began testing for Pa.DHIA the same year she finished high school. She is an active member of Saint Michael's Church in Hamburg were she serves as a council person and helps with church activities.

Included in some of her career accomplishments is receiving the Merti Award several times.

Feel free to contact Pa.DHIA at 1-800-344-8378, if we can assist you in your dairy operation.

Pa. Ayrshire Association To Hold Field Day

CONNOQUENESSING (Butler Co.) — Homestead Acres Ayrshires, owned by Harold and Barbara Rader and family in Connoquenissing, Butler County, is serving as host of the 1995 Pennsylvania Ayrshire Field Day, set to be held 9:30 a.m., July 29.

The family affair event is to include dairy judging for juniors, women and men, with prizes awarded in all three groups; while that is ongoing, dairy princess are to oversee children's activities such as a coloring contest, playing in a sawdust pile, playing hide-n-seek, etc.

At 11:30 a.m., an "Anything Goes Auction" is set to be held with proceeds going to support the 1997 National Ayrshire Youth Convention, which the Pa. Ayrshire Youth are to serve as host.

Any type of item is needed and would be appreciated. Everyone is encouraged to bring something to contribute toward the youth fundraising event.

At noon, a pig roast is to commence, followed by a short business meeting and awards presentation for the adults, while the youth may participate in a "Junior Olympics" designed to test their skills at identifying feeds combined with other games.

Entertainment is to be provided by Cindy Speck, a ventriloquist with puppets from Zelienople.

The Homestead Acres family includes Harold and Barbara Rader and their children, Elaina, John, Sharon, Jr. and Louanne, Lona and Steve Peters, and the Rader's parents, Clinton and Evelyn Rader.

The farm is located at 114 Connoquenessing School Road, off of Rt.68 about halfway between the towns of Butler and Evans City. At a brick schoolhouse, turn east onto Connoquenessing School Road, and the farm is less than a mile. Watch for signs. For more information, call (412) 789-7413.

◆FARM FORUM◆

adapt—not the farmer. In today's world of "intelligence," people readily investigate everything from which new car to buy to which stock or money market investments will yield the most profit for them. Why don't they investigate what living next door to a farming business would be like? These people wouldn't move next to a factory or a mega-mall for obvious reasons. By whining and complaining about farm operations they will wind up taking away the very reason they wanted to move to a rural area.

In my opinion, the farmer deserves the public's request, admiration and support for the hard, 365 day-24 hour job he does to provide the food for our tables. I also think that the "yuppie" transplants should be made to spend one week-in July-working on a farm. Would those with corporate city positions who hold health club memberships and large egos make it for even one day? It is inexcusable to me that these people invade our rural areas to get away from the cities and suburbs and then want to change the way things have been here for generations to make it more comfortable for them.

As I said previously, the farmers don't need to adapt, the transplants do. And if they don't like it, they have this country's freedom to go back to where they came from.

Looking forward to upcoming additions to "Vanishing Acres." Keep up the good writing!

PDA Diagnostic Laboratory

which could result in the quick and devastating spread of disease.

This observation is not an alarmist's call. It is a very real threat and the agriculture industry is leading the way in creating a solid, respected quick response effort to protect people and livestock.

The avaian influenza outbreak, the reoccurance of bovine tuberculosis during the 1980s, new strains of bovine virus diarrhea, bacteria, fungus, etc. are all recent examples of what health threats are present.

And for the first time since the 1980s outbreak of rabies in the state when no one state agency took responsbility for testing for the disease much less helping to control it, the tripartite animal diagnostic laboratory system offers the entire public a solid network of defense against health threats from animal disease.

On the farm, the term used to describe methods to detect and mostly prevent the spread of disease is "biosecurity."

Poultry producers especially and more recently swine producers have instituted greater biosecurity controls since having been faced with potentially devastating diseases. On these farms access to buildings is restricted and clothes and footwear are to be clean and uncontaminated by potentially disease carrying matter.

The dairy industry, especially with such recent diseases as strawberry wart (it is referred to by several common names) and new strains of bovine viral diarrhea, is starting to implement such protective practices on farms such as requiring footwear to be washed and clean or protected in a solid plastic slipover boot before visitors or non-essential people enter an animal traffic area.

On a grander scale that is what the state is undergoing. The state's tripartite diagnostic system is to serve as a coordinated and cooperative effort between producers, veterinarians, researchers and university and state diagnosticians to quickly identify and isolate animal disease.

Especially disease that poses risks to the rest of the agricultural industry and to the health of the residents of the commonwealth.

In order for the system to work, people need to know about it and support it.

Dr. C. Seymour Card, executive director of the Pennsylvania Department of Ariculture (PDA) laboratories, said last week that the breaking of ground for the new state laboratory to replace the old 1920s Summerdale Laboratory marks the nearing of the completion of a fully functioning and accredited Pennsylvania Animal Diagnostic Laboratory System (PADLS).

The state earlier this year received conditional accreditation that lasts for three years. Within three years, the new lab should be fully functioning, equipped and tied directly into a computer and telephone link between Penn State Univesity Animal Disease Laboratory and the University of Pennsylvania New Bolton Center Diagnostic Laboratories.

According to Dr. Card, the system is to work for the producer by having field people ready to investigate unusual disease occurances.

For now there are to be two such field investigators, both specially trained to access research, data, and assistance agencies in determining causes of animal health problems and possible solutions.

The support structure behind the field investigator is strong.

The directing agency is the Pennsylvania Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission, which was established by an act of the Pennsylvania Legislature in 1988. Chaired by the state secretary of agriculture, three veterinarians and six farmers sit on the commission along with the majority and minority chairman of the House and Senate Agricultural and Rural Affairs committees.

What has resulted in the following years has been a cooperative effort between PDA Bureau of Diagnostic Laboratories, the Penn State University Animal Diagnostic Laboratory and the University of Pennsylvania New Bolton Center Diagnostic Laboratories.

The new state diagnostic lab is to provide 30,000 square feet of space with 20,000 devoted to lab space and the rest to administration and management.

All three labs in the system are to have their own incinerators to dispose of biological tissues as a further safeguard to the community.

The state facility is to have a special area for bringing sick or dead animals to the laboratory for testing, necropsies, etc. The receiving dock is to have restricted access and a distinfecting bay so that vehicles hauling the animals can be cleaned before traveling anywhere else, reducing the chance of spreading any disease.

The system is not only to test, but it has research in place to develop testing technologies in such new areas as virology.

The state lab is to have a toxicology lab, bacteriology, microbiology lab, virology, immunology, serology and the special areas and equipment for handling animals and tissues suspected of carrying potentially dangerous disease.

That's for the protection of the lab workers as well. In fact, workers are being offered a voluntary rabies vaccination. Dr. Card said that during the time of the vaccination, blood is to be collected from each worker to serve as a background check so that, in case of suspected exposure to a disease, a worker's blood can be tested to check against changes that would indicate possible exposure.

The new lab system is to be truly state-of-the art. The use of biotechnology is planned in order to develop technology to evaluate materials.

Another small laboratory is to be devoted almost exclusively to testing the accuracey of the rest of the testing procedures used.

Quality assurance and quality control procedures are necessary in order to maintain a high level of dependability on the new system.

And although the money hasn't necessarily been allocated yet, the lab system still needs about $2 million in equipment to bring it up to full potential.

Air flow in the new lab is designed so that it maintains a high level of biosecurity. Basically the flow of air is to be in and up, and then through filters and out.

In this way air from one lab is not comingled with air from another laboratory, and also no air from any of the labs leaves the building without first being filtered for possible airborne pathogens.

The second floor of the new state lab will be available only to lab personnel. The main floor is to have offices for diagnosticians, a reference library, a conference room, several work areas, office equipment and instruments, and a reception area is to be located at the front of the building, facing the Susquehanna River.

The main delivery access to the laboratory is to be from around the back of the current PDA building. That takes advantage of the traffic light on Cameron Street, and allows traffic exiting the laboratory to use the light in order to travel south. The current exit from the lab site allows only a northbound lane exit.

The building itself has been architecturally designed to compliment the existing PDA building.

Functionally, a 24-hour receptionist desk is to be manned at the lab to accept cases, collect case history, and to send material to the appropriate lab areas.

Another area in the lab is for storage of a large volume of lab materials and to handle the shipping, receiving and sorting of mailed materials.

It is imperative that the system function efficiently and quickly, according to Dr. Card. Even with outdated equipment and its crowded and obsolete building design, the Summerdale lab currently conducts about 500,000 tests per year, handling many tests including many required for export.

According to Dr. Card, increasing the potential for exporting agricultural products, especially live animals, requires various tests, depending on the requirements of the importing country.

As it is, Summerdale can conduct some of the necessary tests, but not all. He said it currently has the ability to conduct about 60 to 70 percent of the tests necessary for exporting, etc.

But many exporters have opted to send samples to other states and universities in order to complete a full-range of tests instead of splitting up testing between labs.

"But more than that," Card said, "many vets were sending samples of tissue to labs all over the country for evaluation."

That doesn't allow for easy access to animal health conditions

main reason for picking up the honor. Matt's best competition was in swine, where he placed third with a score of 141. Melissa Trostle, Matt's sister and 4-H leader and coach, said that trials began early in the spring, once a week, to different farms and to study differcent species. Other coaches are Chad Cash and John Eaton.

Capturing junior individual champion was Mike Burrell, 14, Dover, with a total score of 377 and a questions total of 85. Mike, son of William and Carolyn Burrell, had his best showing in the beef individual competition, placing second with a total of 97. Mike also did well in the sheep judging contest, placing third, with a sheep score of 99.

Mike, in the 9th grade at Dover, plans to exhibit at the county fair, KILE, and Farm Show.

Fore FFA Golf Tournament Raises $15,000

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — The third annual Hoss's Fore FFA Golf Tournament and Dinner held at the Fox Chase Golf Course in Denver raised more than $15,000, according to Kerry Hoffman, state secretary of the FFA Foundation.

The event was started three years ago to help fund the FFA Foundation and support state FFA activities. Support has been strong and growing.

"We had a tremendous outpouring of support from sponsors, golfers, ag teachers, and chapter members that allowed us to surpass our goals," Hoffman said, "That allowed us to raise over $15,000 to support Pennsylvania FFA Activities."

A total of more than 203 people attended the golfing and dinner event. Some people opting not to golf attended the evening dinner and auction of donated items.

More than $8,000 was raised at auction.

This year individual FFA chapters were given the opportunity to earn some direct funds. Each chapter was allowed to donate items for auction, with half the proceeds returning directly to the chapter.

For Garden Spot FFA Chapter, participation in that resulted in enough funds to send an additional chapter member to the FFA annual national leadership conference in Washington D.C.

Hoss's Steak and Sea House has served as host sponsor for the event. Bill Campbell, CEO of Hoss's, and others grilled steaks and prepared baked potatoes string beans, rolls, deserts, etc., while FFA members served guests, helped with running the golfing event, and also helping with the auction.

Jennifer Grimes announces the winners of some prizes in the Hoss's Fore FFA Golf Tournament, while Kerry Hoffman, state secretary of the FFA Foundation prepares to hand Grimes the names of the next winners.

Tied for second place in the Hoss's Fore FFA Golf Tournament is this team representing Hostetter Management, a swine industry business. From the left is Mark Mosemann and Jerry Hostetter. Missing from the photo is Greg and Dwane Hostetter.

Tied for second place in the Hoss's Fore FFA Golf Tournament is this team representing Evergreen Farms. From the left is Aris Dirodio, Rob Bokuuewicz, Abe Harpster, and Shane Crawford.

The event is organized by a committee co-chaired by Nancy Campbell, of Hoss's, and Sam Sherk, of Penn-Ag Industries. Other members include Bob Lauffer, an agriculture teacher at Garden Spot High School, Glenn Wenger, of Wenger Farm Machinery, Kerry Hoffman, and Richard Gardner.

The grand champion sponsors of the event were Hatfield Quality Meats, which is also celebrating its 100th anniversary, and Wenger's Farm Equipment. The reserve grand champion sponsor was Lancaster Farming, while the show champion sponsors were Lancaster County Holiday Inn and Commonwealth Bank.

Hole-in-one sponsor was M.H. Eby, with insurance provide by John H. Steffey Inc. Pontiac/Buick. A new car offered to the golfer with a hole-in-one on hole 6 went unclaimed.

Pepsi sponsored the beverage cart with golfers and diners consuming 38 cases of sodas, water and other beverages.

Reilly Creppage and Co. Inc. sponsored the longest drive contest, while K.B. Printing sponsored a putting contest. Successful Farming Magazine sponsored an award for the longest putt on hole 18. There were also 21 different hole sponsors, and nine team prize sponsors.

The better-ball, shotgun tournament got a little late start as heavy rains in the area threatened the use of the course. However, except for observing caution in driving carts, there were no play problems.

The winning golf team actually made a repeat performance, having finished first during the first event in 1993. Representing Fickes Silos was Jamie Fickes, Doug Lehman, Gerald Piper, and Matt Mentzer.

Tied for second place were teams representing Evergreen Farms, of Seven Springs, and Hostetter Management, a swine industry business. Playing for Evergreen Farms were Aris Dirodio, Rob Bokwuewicz, Abe Harpster, and Shane Crawford. Playing for Hostetter was Jerry, Greg and Dwane Hostetter and Mark Mosemann.

Hoffman said the event continues to grow every year. "One of the golfers wants to be a sponsor (for next year)," she said. "(The event) helps itself to grow."

Those wishing more information on the tournament or about the FFA Foundation can call Hoffman at (814) 353-9230.

Chester Beef Club Holds Show

GLENMORE (Chester Co.)—Members of the Chester County 4-H Beef Club gathered recently for their annual summer show held here at the Devereux barn.

Youth from ages 8-19 led their steers into the show ring for competition in four weight class divisions and three showmanship classes.

In the lightweight division, local winners included 1) Jonathan Howe 2) Becky Byrne 3) Jason Marsch. Medium weight division winners included 1) Kasey McAllister 2) Phillip McAllister 3) Lewis Sanchez. Lightheavy weight division winners included 1) Matt McAllister 2) Nathan Howe 3) Torraine Kelly. Heavyweight division winners included 1) Sara Howe 2) Adam Byrne. Grand champion of the show went to Matt McAllister. Reserve grand champion of the show went to Jonathan Howe.

Judge for the day was Fred Weaver of Lancaster County. In judging the steers, some of the requirements he's looking for are how much muscling they have and how lean in fat they are.

In the showmanship contest, competition is based on the animal's grooming, training, and the members' overall presentation of the steer to the judge. Senior division 14 years and older winners were: 1) Matt McAllister 2) Jonathan Howe 3) Kasey McAllister. In the junior division, 13 years and younger, 1) Sara Howe 2) Adam Byrne 3) Jonathan Marsch, and first year members 1) Lewis Sanchez 2) Becky Byrne 3) Wasba Leland.

The 4-H members have been raising their project animals since last November, which not only includes the daily care of their steers but teaches them the responsibility of recordkeeping, finances, and the performance of their animals until the project is finished.

The club will attend several shows throughout the summer months. The next show is the Goshen Fair on Saturday, August 5, at 7 p.m. The conclusion of the beef project will take place with a final show and sale of the 4-H steers at the Kimberton Fire Company Fairgrounds on Friday, August 18, with the show starting at 9 a.m. followed by the sale at 1 p.m.

Lebanon Area Fair Is For Family, Friends, Fun

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — It's time again for the Lebanon Area Fair, an annual community event that brings together people and families for a week of events showcasing county agricultural and home enterprise and entertainment.

Starting Saturday, July 29, through August 5, the fairgrounds are located about two miles south of Lebanon at Cornwall and Evergreen roads. Directional signs are located along Rt. 72.

Parking is free and daily admission is $2, with no charge for children under 11 years old. On Tuesday senior citizens are admitted free.

Those intending to attend musical entertainment should bring lawn chairs. Also, though especially part of the agricultural program, a Monday night truck pull and a Friday tractor and truck pull each carry an additional $6 fee for those which to enter the drag track.

A petting zoo is open all week for family and children entertainment.

The Northwind Circus with elehphants and all the trimmings is to be held three shows a day Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

A previously scheduled Central Penn Youth Rodeo has been cancelled, but the week is packed with activities.

The fair starts off at 9 a.m. Saturday with the sixth annual fun run and also a 4-H horse show. Officially, the exhibition hall opens at 4 p.m.

At 10 a.m., rabbits and cavy are judged.

At noon Saturday, there is judging of antique and classic tractors, followed by competitions and a parade.

From 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. crafts are on display in the main exhibit area.

At 5:30 p.m., the Lebanon Area Fair Queen Contest starts with last year's queen, Kristi Wright expected to crown a 1995 queen.

Other activities for the first day of the fair include performances by an illusionist, Huffy the Clown, a kiddie pedal tractor pull, and country line dancing is set to be held from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

On Sunday, a 4-H horse production show is set to start at 10 a.m., a craft show continues and a ham barbeque dinner (at $6 each) is to be offered. For dining entertainment, the Washington Band is to perform for an hour starting at 12:30 p.m.

At 4 p.m. Sunday a 4-H dog and pet show is to be held.

At 7 p.m. there are Vesper services to be held on the grounds.

Monday night is billed as family night and features entertainment by local country musician Al Shade and Jean Shade with the Potter County Boys.

Livestock showing and judging starts off with a swine show slated to begin at 8:30 a.m. in the swine barn.

At 9 a.m., the dairy youth showmanship and fitting contest gets underway. Later in the day, at 6 p.m., the youth breeding sheep show starts and at 6:30 p.m. the beef blocking show begins.

On Tuesday, starting at 8:30 a.m., the colored breeds dairy show kicks off followed shortly afterward, at 9 a.m., with the youth Holstein show. Later, at 7:30 p.m., is the selection of the 4-H best bred and owned dairy animal and the youth supreme champion. The best bred and owned dairy animal contest rewards those on the ability to breed and raise top quality animals.

At 2:30 p.m., the beef show is to start.

A sheep-to-shawl demonstration at 6:30 p.m. is a precursor to the 7 p.m. sheep lead line competition, where contestants model wool garments.

On Wednesday, a youth tractor driving contest stressing safety is to be held starting at 9 a.m. Sheep blocking contest gets underway at 6 p.m., while the evening is set aside as Farmer's Night with its usually hilarious games, such as bale tossing, and displays of different farming skills.

Thursday is heavy with judging. At 9:30 a.m. is the livestock judging contest. At 10 a.m. the dairy judging contest gets underway.

A ckicken barbeque dinner ($6 each) is featured for Thursday from noon to 2 p.m. as well as a Farmer's Tailgate Market.

At 6 p.m. the market lamb show begins and at 6:30 p.m. a 4-H benefit auction starts with many nice items donated fron. area businesses and individuals.

At 7 p.m., a lawn and garden tractor pull gets underway.

Friday is the close of agricultural activities, but it is one of the busiest days with the open class Holstein show starting at 9 a.m. Lebanon County has one of the largest and deepest quality county fair shows in the state. Entries rival regional and state breed shows.

The annual livestock sale is scheduled to be held at 6 p.m. and those wishing to support local youth can buy champion animals without taking them home. Normally, a packer will buy the animal for market price with the supporter paying the difference between that and what he or she bids.

Saturday is the last day and no exhibits remain on the grounds and volunteers are always welcome to help clean up.

At 7:30 p.m. a demolition derby at the track followed by a fireworks display.

Roxanne Kirst holds the halter of her grand champion market steer. Months of daily work and tedious chores can result in such honors.

Crowds at the Lebanon Area Fair watch intently to see whose entry is judged champion and gets to take home one of the trophies.

These people judge 4-H youth project books, part of a competition which rewards diligence, intelligence and accuracy.

The Lebanon Area Fair has more than petting zoos, circus, rides, and agricultural commodities on display. There're tractors to try out too.

Danny Atkins cuts the cake — a cake that was sold at the Lebanon Area Fair market livestock auction to help support the county livestock judging team which had won state's and was raising funds for a trip to the national competitions.

Sheep to shawl demonstrations show the complete process of making an article of clothing from raw material, an experience uncommon today.

Showing swine is intense work, trying to keep the animal moving and looking good, while concentrating on the desires of the judge.

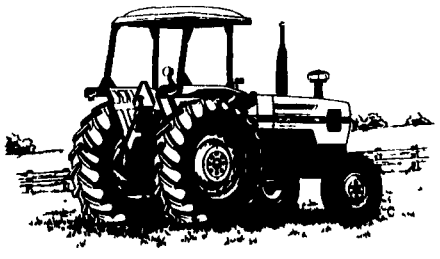
AGCO ALLIS
MODEL 5670 TRACTOR

UTILITY VERSATILITY



The AGCO Allis 5670 utility tractor offers fuel efficiency, reliable drawbar and PTO power, and excellent maneuverability in the 63 PTO hp range. They're also backed by a 4-year/4,000-hour warranty.

• Air- and oil-cooled diesel reliability. The 4-cylinder air-cooled and oil-cooled diesel engine delivers 63 PTO hp in the 5670 with a 22% torque rise. It also eliminates components that cause downtime in liquid-cooled engines. Plus, it is among the best in fuel consumption tests.

• Lots of speed choices. The synchro-power transmission with synchro-reverser offers 12 forward and 12 reverse speeds, planetary final drive and a self-adjusting, hydraulically-actuated clutch. The optional transmissions include 16 forward and 16 reverse with creeper speeds and a dual-speed of 24 forward and 12 reverse speeds and is available with either 2WD or AWD.

• PTO power to do more. The independent PTO operates at 540/1,000 rpm with 6- and 21-spline shafts and a hydraulically-actuated wet PTO clutch. The Category II/I 3-point hitch has a convenient rear remote control and is equipped with telescopic stabilizers. Optional telescopic lower links are available.

• Quality features put you in control. The 5600 Series tractors ride on premium Goodyear radial tires. They have hydrostatic power steering, hydraulically-actuated wet disc brakes, and a mechanically-actuated differential lock. AWD models have four-wheel brakes for 40% better braking and an operator controlled front differential lock for tighter turns.

Jesse Bomgardner holds the trophy for the supreme dairy cow of the youth division, while trophy sponsor Dale and Pattie Maulfair family are on the left, and the show judge and fair royalty are on the right.

Kyle Fleener holds his champion market lamb, while David Elliott, vice president for buying for Hoss's Steak and Sea House kneels with the trophy. Business support of youth projects benefits all — the youth more able to pay for education and the business that creates a better relationship with those who support the business.

Rewarding youth for outstanding achievements is also part of the Lebanon Area Fair. Amanda Martin holds the halter of her winter yearling and her ribbon for winning the first place best-bred and owned youth division award. Also shown is Amanda's sister Alicia who placed second, and Jesse Bomgardner, show took third.

Farm Field Days Set

SHAMOKIN (Northumberland Co.) — George Phillips of the Northumberland County Conservation District announces that nutrient and pesticide management farm field days will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 1, at Meckley's Limestone Products, located approximately 1¾ miles southwest of Mandata on Township Route 337, from 9 a.m.-11:50 a.m. and on August 3 at Pine Hurst Acres (Stanley and Richard Crone farm), located approximately 4½ miles southwest of Riverside on State Route 4001, from 9:30 a.m.-11:55 a.m.

The field days are cosponsored by the host farms, Northumberland County Conservation District and Penn State Cooperative Extension, to demonstrate and provide information on the latest equipment and methods for managing manure nutrients and for pesticide handling and sprayer systems.

At the Meckley field day on Aug. 1, Deerfield Ag & Turf Center will be demonstrating a John-Deere Mulchmaster tillage tool that is designed to leave a high percentage of the previous crop residue on the soil surface after tillage operations. This and similar equipment could be used in many situations to incorporate manure after spreading, allowing maximum utilization of the manure plant nutrient for crop production, while still allowing enough crop residue on the surface to be in compliance with the Food Security Act (FSA) conservation plan for the farm and remain eligible for USDA benefits.

Mark Groshek, engineering technician, Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), will lead a tour of a cropland surface water control system installed on the Meckley farm that includes the use of cropland storage terraces with underground outlets, diversions, and a grassed waterway with a water control structure. Groshek will also explain the installation and use of a agrichemical handling and containment facility installed on the Meckley farm. Fred Meckley, of Meckley's Limestone Products, Inc., will lead a tour and explain the use of sediment traps for runoff control in the limestone quarry operation.

At the Pine Hurst Acres farm on Aug. 3, Snook's Equipment will demonstrate one of the latest methods for incorporating manure into heavy residue cover. Manure is incorporated for maximum utilization of manure plant nutrients, and this method is especially beneficial for manure applied in the fall. The system leaves a rough surface with a lot of residue that increases water infiltration and reduces water and nutrient runoff as well as soil erosion during the winter. Snook will also cover the use of alternative tire sizes to reduce soil compaction while spreading manure. Mark Groshek will also be on hand at this meeting to explain the use of agrichemical handling and containment facilities. The Crones of Pine Hurst Acres will have their pesticide sprayer with an in-field sprayer rinsing and cleaning system on display and will explain its operation and benefits. The Crones will also be at the Meckley field day with a sprayer to show and explain the rinsing and cleaning system.

The following people will be attending both meetings:

• Barry Frantz, NRCS, will have information on a cost-share program to help farmers install the in-field sprayer rinsing and cleaning system on their pesticide sprayers, and will explain the benefits of this system. With the system, a small tank of clean water is carried on the sprayer to the field and used to rinse the main pesticide tank, allowing the rinse water to be sprayed on the crop where the pesticide was applied and avoiding the need to rinse and hold the rinse water at the farmstead, where there is the possibility of contaminating other water or soil.

• Doug Goodlander, conservation program specialist for the Bureau of Land and Water Conservation (BLWC), will cover the new Pennsylvania Nutrient Management Law and explain. who and what situations will be affected.

• Rebecca Takacs, nutrient management specialist, BLWC will explain the DER stream bank fencing program and will have a model of the fencing on display for your inspection. This program provides fencing for streams in pastures at no cost to the landowner, however, the landowner is responsible for maintaining the fence.

• Dave Bailey, extension agent from cooperative extension, will be presenting a program on integrated pest management, covering biological methods and management, and George Phillips from the Northumberland County Conservation District will explain the sign-up period for farmers who may be interested in participating in the Chesapeake Bay Financial Assistance Funding Program, which cost-shares best management practices (BMPs) to correct nutrient management problems.

Farmers and other holders of a private pesticide applicator's license will receive 2 credits (1 core & 1 category) toward certification renewal for attending one of these field days. The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture has approved this program as an update training session.

For more information on the field days, contact the Northumberland County Conservation District at (717) 988-4224 or Northumberland County Cooperative Extension at (717) 644-4455.

RISA, Weaver Farm To Hold Dairy Field Day

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.)—The Regional Infrastructure for Sustaining Agriculture (RISA) Program, which is addressing long-term farm issues in southeast Pennsylvania, will hold a field day highlighting a sustainable dairy cropping system in cooperation with Don and Nelson Weaver of New Holland.

The field day will be held August 3 from 1 p.m.-3 p.m. at the Weaver Homestead Farm.

RISA is working with dairy operators and vegetable producers in the region who are evaluating sustainable farming technologies and other innovative strategies for sustaining the long-term viability of their farming operations. The purpose of the Farm Field Days is to provide other farmers and interested non-farmers with the opportunity to observe and evaluate these practices being used on working farms. The Weaver Field Day will focus on the whole farm system, especially changes over time that have been made to improve the productivity of the soils and animals on the farm.

The Weaver Brothers are the ninth generation to farm their 106-acre dairy operation, which includes 90 cows and 90 young stock. In the 1970s, the Weavers expanded their herd and manure storage. By the early 1980s, they were experiencing problems with compacted soils, high levels of cow mortality, and decreasing productivity. Additionally, water nitrate levels of 40-50 ppm were discovered in the Weavers' well.

During the mid-1980s, Don and Nelson began to initiate changes toward a more biological method of farming, one which stressed the economic sense of good stewardship. This year they have begun the transition of certified organic production to take advantage of value-added markets for organic milk.

Changes in the Weavers' production system were developed by taking farm soils, records, resources, and family goals into account. A new emphasis on soil quality was begun with the establishment of a more diverse crop rotation. The new rotation of alfalfa and small grain followed by two years of haylage, corn silage, rye into soybeans, and high moisture shell corn, along with more strategic use of manures has allowed the Weavers to eliminate use of all synthetic fertilizers. Don feels that the rotation along with pest scouting helped reduce herbicide and insecticide use to spot spraying only for the past several years.

"We hate weeds," said Don. "Our system of tillage does a good job of eliminating weed populations over time. And of course, now that we aren't using any herbicides we've learned to live with a few more weeds, but our yields are comparable to others in this area. That is the important thing, not completely clean fields." Their system of shallow tillage, combined with fall incorporation of manures contributes to the goal of increasing biological activity in the soil, while reducing pests.

Over the past 10 years, Don and Nelson believe they have seen dramatic and positive changes in their soils, their crops, their animals, and their profitability. "Our soils are looser, spongy and we no longer need lime. We even sold some manure in 1994," Don said. "We've raised the organic matter content of our soils from 1.9 to over 3.1, which I believe has increased our drought tolerance. And very importantly, our nitrate levels in the water have dropped to 5-6 ppm."

The Weavers will discuss all aspects of their operation during the field day. Anyone interested in learning more about how improved stewardship can translate into higher profitability is encouraged to attend.

Morrow Is National Outstanding Youth

REYNOLDSBURG, Oh.—Their reactions to the physical and mental labor and challenges of the dairy industry today are what brought these two outstanding individuals to the top of the National Outstanding Youth Contest.

Kenlee Calvin of Mt. Vernon, Missouri, was named the 1995 National Outstanding Guernsey Youth Winner at the National Guernsey Youth Banquet in Hillsboro, Oregon.

This 20-year-old is the son of Kenneth and Marilyn Calvin. Calvin has been very involved with Guernsey associations on state and national levels for the past 13 years. He has served as a field representative, president, vice president and reporter for the Missouri Junior Guernsey Breeders' Association.

Calvin credits the Guernsey Genetic Recovery Program for allowing him to begin to register his herd, which consists of 41 registered Guernseys. Starting a rotational grazing system for his herd is one of his primary goals for the future.

Calvin attends Crowder College where he is majoring in farm business management. For his outstanding accomplishments, Calvin received the $500 Lawrence A. Colebank award and $150 for travel expenses.

Emphasizing milk production and genetic progress is the breeding program Melissa Morrow of Tyrone, Pennsylvania, employs on her 17 registered Guernseys. Morrow is the first runner-up in the 1995 National Outstanding Guernsey Youth Contest. This 20-year-old is the daughter of John and Karen Morrow.

Morrow attends Pennsylvania State University, majoring in agriculture business management. She is active in University Scholars, Sigma Alpha, Ag Advocates, National Agri-Marketing Association, Coaly Society, and the Dairy Science Club. Aside from college, Morrow is extremely active within the Pennsylvania Junior Guernsey Breeders' Association, where she has served as president, vice president, and secretary/treasurer.

A goal of Morrow's is to improve the recordkeeping system on her farm. "I would like more of the management and herd health information to be on the computer where anyone could access the information as they needed it," she explained. Morrow received $75 to assist with her travel expenses to the national convention.

Franklin County Holstein To Hold Field Day

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — The Franklin County Holstein Club has scheduled its annual field day to be held August 1 at Ricecrest Farms, in Chambersburg.

The deadline for meal reservations is Monday, July 24. The cost per dinner is $4 with an option of a barbequed half chicken platter, or a barbequed 3/4 rib platter. Contact Kevin Horst, at 8417 Edenville-Cheesetown Road, Chambersburg Pa. 17201.

Ricecrest Farms is owned and operation by the Fred and Dale Rice families. They have 230 cows with a rolling herd average of about 20,500 pounds of milk, including an outstanding sister to RC Matt, and a cow in the Noreen family, which has several sons in artificial insemination use.

The field day event is to include registration from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m.; cattle judging from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; lunch from noon to 1 p.m.; and a speaker from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., followed by door prizes and judging results.

The speaker is to be Albert Cormier, from Ontario, Canada. Cormier is a Holstein breeder and owner of Cormdale Genetics Inc., a worldwide dairy export business.

There is also to be a chug-a-lug contest sponsored by the county junior Holstein club.

Each team is to consist of four members and all the team members must belong to a specific age group entered: Level A, ages 8-15; Level B, ages 16-21; and Level C, ages 22 and older.

Of the four members on each team, each is to have a different milk consumption task: one is to spoon a cup of milk from a bowl; another is to suck a cup of milk from a baby bottle; another is to drink a cup of milk poured into the mouth via a funnel; and another is to chug a quart of milk.

Each team may participate only once and time is to be monitored by a judge with a stopwatch. A participant may only be on one team.

To get to Ricecrest Farm, from Exit 5 of I81, turn left and go south on Rt. 316 (Wayne Ave.) for four miles. Turn left onto Church Road and travel two miles to the farm lane marked by a sign.

From Exit 6 of I81, travel east on Rt. 30 for 4.8 miles, turn right onto Mont Alto Road and travel south for 2.3 miles to Duffield village. At Duffield turn right onto New Franklin Road and travel one mile. Turn left onto Church Road and go about one-third mile to the farm lane.

Berks Holstein Picnic July 28

MOHRSVILLE (Berks Co.) — The Berks County Holstein Club has scheduled its summer picnic and field day to be held at the Reu-Hel Farms, in Mohrsville, 7 p.m. July 28.

There is no charge for the picnic, but reservations must be made in order to get an accurate head count. Those who intend to attend should call Connie Troutman at (610) 926-3075 by July 18.

Grange Claims Dissappointment In Endangered Species Decision

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—Both the National Grange and the Pennsylvania State Grange express extreme disappointment over the U.S. Supreme Court's decision on June 29th in favor of the Interior Department in the case Babbit v. Sweethome. This adverse ruling further enhances the Grange's position to force Congress to replace the current punitive Endangered Species Act with a non-regulatory, incentive-based approach.

The decision, which passed by a vote of 6 to 3, ruled that government regulators can ban destruction of the natural homes of endangered or threatened species on private property. The court ruled that landowners violate a 1973 law if they change these wildlife habitats. Even unintentional harm can violate a law. Last year, a federal appeals court ruled that the Endangered Species Act bans only direct threats, such as hunting, trapping, or directly killing the species. The U.S. Supreme Court's ruling says the law provides comprehensive protection for an endangered species, thus making the government's interpretation for protecting the species' habitat legitimate.

The Grange and others cannot see a positive side to the court's decision. National Grange Master Robert Barrow said, "The ruling is an enforcement of a failed law. The decision is proof that reforming the Endangered Species Act is an even more urgent matter." He added that special interest groups and landowners should "work together to ensure that property owners are protected and, if in turn, they are willing to have an endangered species habitat on their property."

The Pennsylvania State Grange Master (President) Gordon Hiller has also spoken out against the decision that would hold land, woodlot or any other property owner in violation of Federal Law when their farming or timber practices, even under the best management, did some degree of harm to an endangered species' habitat. Congress must act to reform such ludicrous laws in the interest of private property rights and sanity. There would be fewer endangered species of any kind if encouragement and incentives to propagate the valued species were in place. When misguided and misinformed regulators and courts threaten the production of quality food and fibre, the real endangered species is the "landowner," who can no longer contribute to the American Dream.

Bellwood-Antis Receives Grant

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius recently announced the Bellwood-Antis FFA of Bellwood has been awarded a $2,500 direct grant through the department's Agriculture and Rural Youth Organization Grant Program.

The grant will be used to sponsor 100 FFA members at the Western PA Leadership Conference to be held July 27-28, at the University of Pittsburgh's Johnstown campus.

The objective of the conference is to develop agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship in members at the conference. Activities will include small group workshops, public speaking and organized recreation.

An evaluation will be given to all conference participants, and results will be shared with the planning committee for the upcoming conference.

In addition to the survey, FFA chapter advisors will evaluate the motivational effect of the conference by observing attendees' participation in FFA events at the local, county and state levels.

Under the Agriculture and Rural Youth Organization Grant Program, youth organizations, such as 4-H and FFA, apply for direct grants of up to $2,500 and matching grants of up to $15,000.

Direct grants may be used to fund educational projects, programs and seminars; and matching grants may be used to fund capital projects and equipment purchases.

The Agriculture and Rural Youth Organization Grant Program is designed to fund local efforts to increase the awareness of agricultural and rural issues. There have been three previous rounds of funding under the program, which began in 1992.

Pennsylvania Emu Farmers To Hold Open House

MILLVILLE (Columbia Co.)—The Pennsylvania Emu Farmer's Association (PEFA) is set to hold a "Meet An Emu Day" event state wide. Open houses are to be held on participating PEFA members farms on August 5, 1995.

The public is invited to contact and visit various member farms to learn more. Many farms will be serving emu meat, handing out free samples of emu oil based products, and literature explaining why emu is being raised commercially.

Participating farms in Pennsylvania include those located in Elizabethtown, Woxall, Columbia, Marysville, Glenmore, Berwick, Doylestown, Lewisburg, Bloomsburg, Jonestown, Troy, Muncy and more.

The emu is native to Australia and is being raised commercially in the United States as well as around the world. It is a docile, flightless bird, averaging 5½ feet in height and weighs approx. 100 lbs.

The emu hen will lay about 30 eggs per season and will produce an average of 25 years. Byproducts include a red meat (similar to beef), oil used for cosmetic products, and hide used for leather.

There are more than 10,000 families raising emu in 48 states of the U.S. The American Emu Association (AEA) currently has more than 6,400 members; PEFA is an affiliate chapter of the AEA.

Diagnostic Laboratory

around the state, with data spread around so many labs.

When the state lab is fully functioning it is to be able to conduct all testing within the state, saving the economy at least $20,000 a year, and possibly much more, since it's expected that testing should increase when the lab is up to 100 percent operation.

All three of the lab systems are to offer a full range of services, even if the testing isn't done on site, communications and transport between labs is make the entire system function as one unit.

And with the information centralized and available to all three labs, awareness of serious problems should come faster.

About 50 people, possibly 55 are to work at the new lab. Currently at Summerdale, which is slated to be sold after the new lab is completed, there are about 45 workers.

While general news reports are that the new facility is to cost $6.7 million, construction of the building is to cost about $4.9 million. The rest would account for equipment purchases.

The PADLS system isn't stopping with traditional production agriculture. It has already begun development of a support system for the state's large and growing aquaculture industry.

This past spring proved the need for state testing expertise for aquaculture in order to help the business sector.

New York state faced a trout season without many fish to stock in streams, which could have devastated license sales there.

A disease in the state's stocked trout — whirling disease — caused New York state to destroy thousands of fish that had been targeted for stocking.

Pennsylvania has a large trout-raising industry and had fish that could be sold to New York, but New York wanted assurances it wouldn't be buying fish that carried the disease.

Within a short time, people at Summerdale, working with Penn State scientists and the Pennsylvania Fish and Boating Commission developed a testing program and were able to test and document shipments of trout for sale to New York.

According to Dr. Card and others within the system, more aquaculture testing is to be developed to help Pennsylvania businesses export products.

The goal is the first complete diagnostic service to aquaculture.

A "bellwether" is a leader, named after the leader of a flock of sheep that had a bell tied to it. Dr. Card said that with his farming background, that term was the best he could think of to describe the new state lab and its role in the PADLS.

A Peek Into Martee's Chicken Coop

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

CARLISLE (Dauphin Co.) — Martee Mentzer keeps about 1,000 chickens in her home.

To make room for the flock that keeps expanding, her husband Elmo converted the carport into another room — complete with carpet — to house her chickens and dubbed it the Chicken Coop.

Considered an expert on chickens, the diminutive Martee is in demand as a speaker at Farm Women, senior citizens, church, Lion's and other community groups.

People — even busloads — come from around the state to see Martee's chicken collection.

"Each piece has a story connected to it," Martee said of the chickens made from glass, peanut shells, wicker, brass, sea shells, taxidermy, counted crosstitch, and more in every imaginable object including a music box, rooster alarm clock, lamp, vase, checker board, stamps. . . .

Martee said that her interest in chickens developed by accident in 1964. That year, she emceed the Pennsylvania Farm Women State banquet.

To lighten the atmosphere, Martee told the story about three hens that were exhibited at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. According to her, the hens wanted to date three roosters exhibited nearby. The day after their first date, the hens were discussing their dates.

The first hen reported that she had an enjoyable evening with a Rhode Island Red. The second hen said that things went so well on her date with a Plymouth Rock that they decided to go steady.

The third hen, a bit hesitant to talk, admitted that she had a date with a capon, but all he wanted to talk about was his operation.

Her joke brought the house down, and folks have been sending

To make room for all Martee's chickens, Elmo converted a former carport into Martee's Chicken Coop. Now hundreds of visitors come to see her chickens and — of course — give her another one to add to her collection.

Martee's collections are not limited to chickens. She also collects baskets and keeps heirloom dishes in this corner cupboard.

Martee chicken jokes and chickens ever since.

Martee said that the whole incident taught her an important lesson: "Be careful what you say or it can follow you."

But making the most of the situation, Martee compiled the jokes and facts about chickens and now has a collection of tidbits for her humorous chicken talks.

One person reported that "this chicken lady has more than fair knowledge of fowl."

Martee's talks are peppered with humor. She said that she developed a great sense of humor from her father, who constantly told jokes. Humor, she said, promotes good health. It eases muscle tension, reduces stress, lowers blood pressure, improves communication, and creates good will.

One day, her husband was flipping through her file of chicken jokes. He said, "You know, you have a lot of bum chicken jokes in here."

Martee disagreed. She said, "I put a bunch of them in the fireplace and the fire just roared."

Occasionally Martee will see a chicken that she likes and buy it. "My husband is a good guy to go shopping with. He always tells me, 'If you want it, get it,'" she said.

But most of the chicken collection are gifts.

"I don't go anywhere that someone doesn't give me a chicken," she said.

Martee grew up on a Cumberland County farm where she showed cattle and belonged to every 4-H club imaginable.

Martee said that she joined Farm Women in 1956 at her mother's insistence. True to her character, Martee immersed herself in doing her best and has served almost every local and county office. She served as the 1964 to 1966 state president and now as chairperson of the advisory committee. She is a member of Cumberland County Society 15.

Martee is the person who came up with the idea to hold a state Farm Women's Spring Rally. That was 30 years ago, and the organization has been holding an annual spring rally ever since. The first year it was held and this year — the 30th anniversary — Martee emceed the event.

The first year was the year she told her chicken joke that propelled her into becoming one of the largest chicken collectors in the world.

Although she and Elmo were in the same high school class, Martee said that he didn't pay attention to her until after they graduated and they met each other roller skating.

The happy marriage is on its 48th year. The Mentzlers have one married son and two grandchildren.

In addition to her chicken collection, Martee also collects baskets that hang from the rafters in the enclosed porch and the kitchen. She also has a collection of heirloom dishes stored in an antique corner cupboard.

The Mentzers home overflows with Martee's projects — rug hooking, quilting, and crocheting.

She keeps scrapbooks to organize everything. This includes a scrapbook for each year of her involvement in Farm Women, and a scrapbook charting her employment as a secretary for 30 years at the nearby Army and War College, for which she received outstanding ratings with each of the nine colonels under which she worked and was named federal employee of the year out of 20,000 employees. At her retirement, she received the Commander's Award, the highest award presented to a civilian. Martee was also the first woman to ever receive the award.

Martee, retired in 1980. Her husband retired from his job as school principal two years later.

But the couple say that they are busier than ever. In addition to the chicken talks and tours, the couple are active in the American Association of Retired Persons.

Martee, who often has no intention of becoming involved in leadership, will find herself again and again in leadership roles — ones that others who are aware of her reliability and competence continue to assign her. One example is when the AARP asked her to be secretary for the local chapter, she ended up being a state director overseeing 18 chapters, which took her to workshops as far away as California.

The Mentzlers are also active in the local Zion Lutheran Church, where Martee has been adult Sunday school superintendent, class president, and president of the Lutheran Church Women.

She and her husband vacation in Florida every year during January and February. The couple have gone on five cruises and traveled abroad. Their big hobby is attending dinner theaters and river boating in areas across the country.

Whenever people visit Martee's Chicken Coop, she also serves them a variety of beverages and her specialties — zucchini bread or baked apple crescent rolls.

Here is the recipe that Martee serves to guests who visit her Chicken Coop.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

Psychologists call it "stress."

We call it "farming" . . .

"Mom?" came a familiar voice over the phone.

"Where are you?" I questioned, already anticipating something gone amiss.

The owner of the voice — our son — had departed the farm with the spray truck, top-dressing corn with a boost of mid-summer fertilizer. He should have been nowhere near a phone.

"I just had fire in the spray truck. Send Dad down with the pickup and a tow chain."

Two questions always immediately come to mind under such circumstances. The primary, spoken one is: "Are you OK?" Secondary to that is: "How much is this one going to cost?"

Stress levels are pretty high around farm country these days, what with continuing lowball prices for commodities farmers sell as compared to the ever-climbing rate of everything from health insurance to pickup trucks. Couple that with some of the over-all-goofiest-nationwide weather we've seen in recent years. Friends in the mid-West couldn't plant until mid-June, now others can't harvest, due to rain. While Chester County farmers were kicking up dust, much of York County resembled a swamp at flood stage.

Still, most farmers remain eternal optimists and find little ways to beat down stress. One farm friend takes out his grandchildren's pictures and looks at them when something gets him down. Many take refuge in humor or shooting the breeze with other farmers. Our resident Farmer enjoys a few minutes of fishin' at the pond and feeding the geese.

I like to go for a walk or run with the dogs, pick wild berries, putter around the flower beds. Pulling weeds is great, especially when you pretend they're the jerk behind the wheel of the car that nearly ran you off the highway last week and caused your knees to shake for the next 10 miles. Find shapes in clouds — or the markings on your Holstein cows.

A fellow stressed-person recently shared a list of some pretty goofy ways to relieve tension, a list he found tacked up on a bulletin board at his place of employment. Here are just a few:

- Pop some popcorn without putting the lid on it.
- Write a short story, using alphabet soup.
- Make up a language and ask directions with it.
- Read the dictionary upside down and look for secret messages.
- Fill out your income tax form in Roman numerals
- Tape pictures of your boss on watermelons and drop them from high places.
- Polish your car with earwax.
- Drive to work in reverse.
- Bill your doctor for the time you spend in the waiting room.
- Pay a utility bill in pennies.
- Leaf through an old National Geographics and draw underwear on the natives.

Silly? of course. But we got a good laugh just reading over them.

By the way, the spray truck was back in business the next day. Our son had filled a rubber glove in the truck with water from the water system to extinguish the small electrical fire. And The Farmer repaired the minor damage from the electrical malfunction.

Guess our old National Geographics are safe for a few more days.

ZUCHINNI BREAD

¼ cup graham cracker crumbs
1½ cups all-purpose flour
1½ cups sugar
1½ cups shredded zucchini
½ cup water
2 eggs
1 teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup coarsely chopped nuts
½ cup raisins
1 teaspoon vanilla

Generously grease 9-cup ring dish; coat with graham cracker crumbs.

Mix remaining ingredients except nuts and raisins; beat until smooth. Stir in nuts and raisins. Pour into ring dish. Elevate ring dish on inverted dinner plate in microwave. Cover with waxed paper and microwave on medium high (70%) 6 minutes; rotate ring dish ½ turn. Microwave until top of bread is dry and springs back when touched lightly, 6 to 8 minutes longer.

Let cool 10 minutes on heatproof surface (do not use rack). invert on dish and let cool completely before slicing. To store, wrap and refrigerate no longer than 10 days.

INVESTIGATING "EXCITING BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES"

When times are financially tough for families, those "exciting business opportunities" that are advertised in the classifieds, magazine fliers, and on TV become very enticing. Recently someone approached me and asked if I might be interested in hearing about the business opportunity they had just become involved in.

The reality for my family is that our time is so precious at this point, the last thing we would want to do is commit it to a sideline business. But for people who need money or long for a more extravagent life, these offers may be welcomed.

If you're considering taking on a new money-making venture—whether it's a work-at-home opportunity, a product sales venture, or some other option—make your decision very cautiously after lots of investigation.

Don't spend a lot of money up front to order supplies for business start-up. This is especially important if you have never actually seen the products/equipment that you will receive for the money given. Some companies actually make their money by tricking people into buying supplies for a much bigger price than they are worth. Even if the person can never resell the products, the company has made a profit. The more gullible people they discover, the more money they make.

Ask for referrals of others in the same business. Many ads suggest that thousands of dollars can be made by selling or operating the business venture in your "spare" time. Ask people how much time they devote to the business and how much profit, not gross income, they make. Product sales is a grueling occupation. It cannot be done casually and still bring in lots of money.

You will also want to ask how many other people in the local area are already involved in the business. Unfortunately, many people who make money in these businesses do so by recruiting more people under them rather than by selling massive amounts of merchandise. Even if the product or service is a good one, often the profit that is promised is not possible from strictly selling goods. It comes only as you build a sales team underneath you. It's easy for a location to become saturated with buyers and sellers.

The pyramid scheme is a principle that business scams use to make money off uniformed consumers. This practice depends on people recruiting others and taking a cut off the sales that they make.

Let's see how impossible it becomes to make money if you are not in at the start of these schemes. Suppose one person begins the business and recruits six others to do a similar task and he takes a cut. In turn each of those people is challenged to recruit six others so they too can gain profit from someone else's efforts. It doesn't take long before there's no one left to recruit or sell to.

By the fourth level of recruitment, there would be 7,776 people trying to sell a product or service to other consumers. Often a person's network does not stretch far beyond his home town. Can you imagine 7,776 people all trying to do the same thing in the same community? Who would your customers be?

By the tenth level of recruitment, the business would have to involve everyone in the United States' population, and by the twelfth level the entire earth's population would be involved in this "exciting business opportunity." It becomes impossible to realize the advertised profits for nearly everyone who joins a company that operates in this way.

The real truth is no legitimate business results in quick money. It takes a lot of work. As a consumer or potential business partner, explore all the questions thoroughly before committing any of your already limited assets to someone else.

Penn State's Dairy Science Club Is National Champion

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Penn State's Dairy Science Club placed first in outstanding chapter competition at the annual meeting of the Student Affiliate Division of the American Dairy Science Association (ADSA-SAD) held at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York, last month. The club is now five times national champion. Following Penn State in this year's competition were Cal Poly in second and Virginia Tech in third. Chapters are judged on club activities, yearbook design and content, and meeting participation and displays.

The club's yearbook, The Dairyman, placed second in yearbook competition. Jayne Hess (Gettysburg) and Carrie Bryant (Honesdale) were co-editors of this year's award winning annual.

Jayne Hess was named outstanding senior of the Student Affiliate Divison for her work with the Penn State Dairy Science Club over the past three years and her leadership in ADSA-SAD. Hess was a very active club member, having served as Cheesebox Sale chair, two-time yearbook editor, and chair of Foster Family Farm Day.

She received numerous honors while at Penn State, including Outstanding Senior Student in the College of Agricultural Sciences. Recently she graduated with highest distinction and is now employed by Mid-Atlantic Milk Marketing Association. She completed her term as ADSA-SAD third vice president at the Cornell meetings.

In this year's undergraduate presentation competition, Marsha Chess (Fredonia), a sophomore majoring in Dairy and Animal Science, placed third in the dairy products division with her paper, Milk — is it still perfect?

Matt Espenshade (Elizabethtown), a senioir in the Dairy and Animal Science major, competed in the production division. His topic was on The European Animal Rights Movement and Its Effects on U.S. Animal Production.

Dairy and Animal Science junior Carrie Bryant discussed the Penn State Dairy Jubilee in the activities symposium and was elected second vice president of the national association for the coming year. Charles Houp (sophomore) and Howard Reyburn (senior) also represented the Dairy Science Club at the Cornell meeting.

The following club members received awards for outstanding scholastic and leadership achievements. Gold Medal winners include Elizabeth Garver (Spring Grove), Jeffrey Hostetter (Annville), Rodger Keith (Martinsburg), Lisa Olver (Honesdale), and Jennifer Trout (Forest Hills, Maryland). Silver Medal winners include Robert Detrick (Kane), Carol Franklin (Zimbabwe), and Marel Raub (Duncannon). Bronze winners include Mark Garber (Elizabethtown) and Joshua Harvatine (Thompson), and Carrie Bryant (Honesdale).

Food Guide Program Aug. 15

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J.—Consumers interested in good nutrition now have two new informative tools to assist them in making smart food choices.

By working with the Food Guide Pyramid, you can identify the food categories to choose from most frequently. By working with the actual percent Daily values found on the Nutrition Facts panel, you can easily compare the nutrient profile of one brand or type of food to another.

Rutgers Cooperative Extension is offering a program titled The Food Guide Pyramid Meets the New Food Label on August 15 from 7 p.m.-9 p.m. at the Extension Center on Route 31.

This program, co-sponsored by 4-H Youth Development and Extension Home Economics, will be presented by Donna Woody, 4-H program associate and Kathleen Klotzbach, interim home economist. The fee is $3 and is open to older youth and adults.

For more information, please call (908) 788-1342 between 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Keep Healthy With Summer Vegetables

The variety of vegetables we choose to eat affects our health. For instance, the number and kinds of fruits and vegetables affect our risk of developing certain cancers. It is recommended that we eat five or more fruits and vegetables a day.

One cup of raw leafy spinach counts as one of those five servings. Spinach is a good source of two nutrients. One-half cup of chopped raw spinach contains almost one-third of the U.S RDA of vitamin A. It also contains one-fourth of the recommended amount of folic acid, a vitamin important for healthy blood cells. Spinach also provides fiber to keep you regular.

SPINACH AND ORANGE SALAD

4 cups fresh, trimmed, washed spinach
2 oranges, peeled and sectioned
½ cup sliced onions, optional
¼ cup French dressing, reduced calorie

Wash and drain spinach thoroughly. Tear into small pieces and combine with the oranges and onion slices. Pour the French dressing over the ingredients and mix well. Chill for one to two hours.

PICKLED BEETS

7 pounds beets
4 cups vinegar
¼ cup canning or pickling salt
2 cups sugar
2 cups water
2 cinnamon sticks
12 whole cloves
4 to 6 onions, if desired

Trim off beet tops, leaving 1-inch stem of roots to prevent bleeding of color. Wash thoroughly. Cook until tender (about 25 to 30 minutes). Drain and discard liquid. Cool beets. Trim off roots and stems and slip off skins. Slice into ¼ -inch slices. Peel and thinly slice onions. Combine vinegar, salt, sugar, and fresh water. Put spices in cheesecloth bag and add to vinegar mixture. Bring to a boil. Add beets and onions. Simmer 5 minutes. Remove spice bag. Fill jars with beets and onions, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Add hot vinegar solution, allowing ½ -inch headspace. Adjust lids and process in boiling water bath for 30 minutes.

ZUCCHINI RELISH SALAD

4 quarts cubed unpeeled zucchini
6 medium onions
2 cups diced carrots, cooked
2 cups diced celery
2 heads cauliflower
4 red peppers
½ cup salt

Mix together and cover. Let stand three hours. Drain off juice and discard it.

Syrup:

5 cups sugar
1½ teaspoon turmeric
1½ teaspoon celery salt
1 teaspoon garlic salt
2 cups vinegar
1 cup water

PARTY HAM CASSEROLE

¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
1 cup grated Velveeta cheese
3 medium potatoes, cooked and sliced
1 quart yellow corn, cooked
3 cups diced, cooked ham

Melt ¼ cup butter; stir in flour. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese and cook slowly until melted. Arrange potatoes in 2½ -quart casserole dish. Cover with corn. Pour half the cheese sauce over corn; add ham and remaining sauce. Bake for 30-35 minutes at 350 degrees.

COPPER PENNIES

2 pounds carrots, sliced and cooked
1 can tomato soup
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup salad oil
¾ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
½ cup chopped celery
Salt and pepper to taste

Cool carrots. Combine remaining ingredients; add cooled carrots. Refrigerate mixture for 24 hours before serving.

CAULIFLOWER SALAD

2 cups raw cauliflower, chopped in small pieces
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
¼ cup minced onion
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
14-ounce can pimiento, minced
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
½ cup fat-free mayonnaise

Cook cauliflower in boiling water for 2 minutes. Drain and place in cold water until cool.

Drain and combine with remaining ingredients. Chill before serving.

Yields 3½ cups (7 ½ cup servings). 120 calories, 8 g fat, 207 mg. sodium per serving.

BROILED TOMATOES

4 medium ripe tomatoes
¼ cup cracker crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
Fresh parsley
Cooking spray

Wash tomatoes, slice in half crosswise. Place on baking sheet with cut side up. Mix crumbs, seasoning, and oil. Sprinkle 1 tablespoon mixture on each tomato. Broil 8 to 10 inches from heat for about 4 minutes or until golden brown. Garnish with parsley sprigs or sprinkle with chopped parsley. Yields 8 halves (4 servings). Each 76 calories, 4 g fat, 220 mg sodium.

BROCCOLI SALAD

1 large head broccoli, cut up
1 medium onion, chopped
½ cup raisins
10 slices bacon
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
¾ cup Miracle Whip

Cut bacon into bits and fry. Mix salad dressing, sugar, and vinegar. Pour over all ingredients and let set at least one hour in refrigerator before serving.

ZUCCHINI LOAF

1 cup biscuit mix
½ cup oil
½ cup cheese whiz or Velveeta
½ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 eggs
3 cups grated zucchini

Pour mixture into greased casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until set.

Sautéed Chicken Breast With Sweet and Sour Melon Sauce

4 whole boneless, skinless chicken breasts
¼ honeydew melon
¼ cantaloupe
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup sake or Riesling wine
¼ cup chicken broth
1 teaspoon freshley grated ginger
2 teasponns cornstarch
¼ cup rice wine vinegar
1 tablespoon honey
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Cut each chicken breast in half and slightly flatten with hand. Peel melons and slice into thin strips (or cut into melon balls). Place vegetable oil in large frypan over medium heat. Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper and add to pan; sauté about 5 minutes on each side until golden brown. Add sake (or wine), chicken broth and ginger; simmer for several minutes. Dissolve cornstarch in rice wine vinegar. Remove chicken to serving platter. To frypan, add vinegar mixture, honey and melons, stirring gently. Add butter and parsley and dribble sauce over chicken. Makes 8 servings.

Best Values in New Equipment

Hitch controls now incorporate a drop-response control, while the hydraulics are designed to cycle quickly for efficient loader work.
Cab versions feature plenty of glass area and a console designed for quick and frequent use of controls for the transmission, hydraulics, PTO and hitch.
A standard, smooth-working 8F/4R transmission provides synchronized on-the-go shifting of four speeds within each of two ranges. Optional packages increase gear selection to 16F/8R; also optional is an 8F/8R shuttle transmission.
New nylon release disc and throw-out bearing with high-temp grease allow the heavy-duty clutch to stand up to the rigors of feedlot work and daylong tillage.

The Case International 3200 and 4200 Series tractors. Five tractors designed to the industry-leading performance criteria established by MAGNUM™ and MAXXUM®. These 42 to 85 PTO hp tractors set the standard for mid-range productivity.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Julie Garber Smith, Millersville, would like recipes to use in a cast-iron cookie mold.

QUESTION — Anna Bell would like a recipe for what she believes is called Spanish Bar Cake, which was sold by A&P grocery stores years ago. It was a dark cake with a spicey taste.

QUESTION — A Paradise farm wife lover of B-section would like to know how to make bagel sandwiches like those sold in restaurants.

QUESTION — Linda Fields, New Oxford, would like a recipe to preserve eggplant so that it can be enjoyed all year. She also would like a book on home canning and a recipe to make Seven-day pickles. Note: An excellent up-to-date home canning book is available from the Penn State Extension. Contact your local extension office to purchase a copy. The extension also has many free hand-outs on home canning directions.

QUESTION — Kathleen Flagg, Sellersville, writes that her aunts from Middletown and Lebanon used to make "Birdie Beans." They'd cook beans until tender and serve buttered. She would like to know what kind of beans were used and where they may be purchased.

QUESTION — Maryann Santini, Alpha, N.J., would like a recipe to make Kosher dill pickles in a 5-gallon crock.

QUESTION — Katie Stoltzfus, Christiana, would like to know how to make Spam, which is available in cans at the store.

QUESTION — Arlene Snyder, Manheim, would like a recipe using banana creme flavoring.

QUESTION — Judy P. Looney, New Castle, is looking for a cake recipe with a hot milk dressing served over it. It was one of her favorite foods made by her grandmother.

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like directions for making realistic gingerbread people that are used in crafts. Some are puffy and others are thick and flat. How is the dough made and colored and the features painted?

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like the recipe and directions for Slow-Ball Dip that appeared in Woman's Day on July 5, 1983, page 98. She recalls that it contained 3 cans chopped clams and cream cheese. It is baked in a round loaf of bread that has been scooped out.

QUESTION — Sarah Clark, Breezewood, would like a candy called Decadent, which she thinks is made in North or South Carolina. She'd also like a bread recipe called Arkansas Travelers Bread, and a cherry pie made with red Kool-Aid.

QUESTION — A Chambersburg lover of Section B would like recipes for "all fruit" jellies without artificial sweeteners and granulated sugar. She'd like details on using a smoker. Do you burn charcoal or wood? How do you keep the fire hot while adding wood? How do you keep ashes off the meat? How can you tell if it's hot enough?

QUESTION — Nancy Price, Jarrettsville, would like a recipe for fruit sauce such as they serve with ham at Horn and Horn Restaurant. She has tried other recipes but none is as good as Horn and Horn's.

QUESTION — Dick Taylor, Allentown, N.J., would like a recipe for hot pepper sauce using lime juice and carrots as opposed to the traditional method of using vinegar and tomatoes. He writes that lime juice enhances the pepper flavor more than vinegar.

QUESTION — Dee Crowder, Gettysburg, is looking for a recipe similar to Rotel or Chi-Chi's Tomato and Green Chilies.

QUESTION — Andy Andrews, Brownstown, would like the recipe for pecan collision, a pecan/chocolate cheesecake served at a Lancaster County smorgasbord.

QUESTION — Gina Hawbaker would like to know how to make a salad dressing similar to the house dressing at Atrim House Restaurant in Greencastle.

QUESTION — Sue Werner, Lebanon, would like a recipe for alfalfa jelly. She writes that her family tasted it at the Farm Show. Although she felt like she was eating grass, her son loved it.

QUESTION — Frank T. Cat of Millerstown, would like a recipe for English toffee cookies like those sold by Weis Markets. The cookies are great tasting and don't crumble for children.

ANSWER — A. Zimmerman, Mt. Pleasant Mills, sent in a recipe for pudding mix, which can be stored dry until ready to use.

Homemade Pudding Mix

4 cups nonfat dry milk solids
2⅔ cups sugar
1⅓ cups cornstarch
1 to 1⅓ cups baking cocoa

Pudding:

2 cups milk
1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

For mix, sift together all ingredients. Store in airtight container or plastic bag. For pudding, combine one cup mix with milk in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Stir in butter and vanilla. Pour into individual serving dishes. Serve warm: Yield: 9 batches (4 servings per batch).

ANSWER — Margaret Wagner, Englishtown, N.J., wanted a recipe for blueberry pie that has a baked piecrust filled with uncooked berries and a sauce made with cooked berries poured on top. The pie is then covered with whipped cream. She writes that this pie is particularly good since the flavor of fresh berries dominates. It is similar to a fresh strawberry pie. Thanks to Cheryl Pinkerton, Leonardtown, Md.; Alvernia Martin, Wellsboro; Sara Piko, East Berlin; Kathy Messina, Willow St.; and others for sending recipes.

New England Blueberry Pie

1 cup blueberries
1 cup sugar
¾ cup water
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup water
3 cups blueberries
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell, cooled
½ pint whipped heavy cream or 1 pint vanilla ice cream

Cook one cup blueberries with sugar and ¾ cup water until berries are soft. Put through sieve. Mix flour and ¼ cup water to paste and add to sieved blueberry mixture. Cook slowly until thickened. Cool.

Add 3 cups uncooked blueberries. Pour into pastry shell and chill. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

Fresh Blueberry Pie

9-inch baked pie shell
4 cups fresh blueberries
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon butter

Line cooled pie shell with 2 cups blueberries. To make sauce, cook remaining berries, sugar, cornstarch, salt, and water over medium heat until thickened. Remove from heat, add butter, and cool. Pour over berries in baked pie shell and chill. Serve with whipped topping.

ANSWER — For the reader who wanted a recipe for Kentucky Derby Pie, here is one from Sarah Clark, Breezewood.

Kentucky Derby Pie

½ cup chocolate chips
2 beaten eggs
½ cup butter, melted and cooled
1 cup nuts
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup flour
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix together sugar, flour, eggs, and butter. Add chocolate chips, nuts, and vanilla. Mix well and pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake at 350 degrees for 40-45 minutes.

SPRING PEA SALAD

10 ounces fresh small peas
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup cauliflower flowerettes
¼ cup green onion, diced
1 cup sunflower seeds
½ cup crisp cooked, crumbled bacon
½ cup sour cream
1 cup prepared ranch buttermilk dressing
½ teaspoon mustard
1 small clove garlic

Rinse peas in hot water. Drain. Combine vegetables, nuts, and bacon with sour cream. Mix dressing, mustard, and garlic. Pour over salad. Mix; toss; chill.

Sarah Clark
Breezewood

RED CABBAGE WITH APPLES

4 cups shredded red apples
2 tart apples, finely chopped
1 cup finely chopped onion
1½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar
¼ teaspoon supper
¼ -½ cups red wine vinegar

In large bowl, combine all ingredients, toss lightly and cover tightly with plastic wrap. Refrigerate at least 2 hours. Serve as either as a salad or a meat relish. (Finely chopped ingredients are the secret to success).

Recall

WEST BEND, Wis.—The US Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), The West Bend Company of West Bend, Wisconsin, is announcing a repair program for 425,000 Automatic Bread and Dough Makers. The breadmakers can overheat, presenting a fire hazard.

West Bend is aware of three recent incidents in which a faulty circuit board of the control panel overheated and caught fire. Neither CPSC or West Bend is aware of any injuries.

However, consumers should stop using the recalled breadmakers and call West Bend at (800) 367-0111 between 6:00 a.m. and 10:00 p.m. central time. West Bend will provide free pickup and repair of the breadmakers. To promote consumer participation in this product repair program, the company will return each repaired West Bend Bread & Dough Maker with six free bread mixes. In addition, each repaired unit will have its warranty extended for an additional 12 months.

This recall program involves all models of West Bend Automatic Bread & Dough Makers manufactured between June 1, 1994 and April 9, 1995. Consumers can verify if they own one of these West Bend Bread & Dough Makers by checking the five or six-digit manufacture date stamp, which includes the month, day and year of production, attached to the back of the unit.

The box-shaped breadmakers mix, knead and bake breads. The breadmakers are made of either white metal with a white plastic lid or black metal with a black plastic lid.

The units were sold nationwide and in Canada at leading retailers such as Wal-Mart, Target, and Sam's Club. The twelve models involved in this program had suggested retail prices of up to $300.

Rutgers' Gardens Sets Open House

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J.—Guided tours, "Ask the Expert" Clinic, garden lectures, children's programs, education displays, and more will all be part of the upcoming open house at the Rutgers Gardens.

The 31st Annual Open House at Rutger's Donald B. Lacey Display Gardens will take place on Saturday, July 29, from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. off Ryders Lane, just east of U.S. Route 1 in New Brunswick, rain or shine. Visitors are invited to take guided tours of the flower and vegetable gardens, including the All American Selection Display Garden, the New Jersey Native Plant Society Garden, and the new Bamboo Forest Trail. They may have their garden problems diagnosed by Rutgers Cook College faculty and enjoy illustrated lectures on garden themes.

The Display Gardens contain both perennial and annual flowers, herbs and vegetables grown and tended by volunteer gardeners. The gardens will feature this year's theme, "My Secret Garden." Lectures with slide shows on "Home Composting," "High Performance Annuals of the '90s," and "The Butterfly Garden" will be held in the air-conditioned Holly House starting at 9 a.m.

The Children's Garden will have programs featuring tours of their garden and games throughout the day. A butterfly release will take place at 12:30 p.m.

The Northeast Chapter of the American Bamboo Society will be holding its summer meeting and plant sale at the "Log Cabin." Susanne Lucas, chapter president, will give a talk on bamboo and companion plants in the landscape. Ed Maison, importer of bamboo culms and manufacturer of bamboo products, will present a program on bamboo fences, screens, and rattan products.

Composting tours will be provided by the Middlesex County Master Gardeners at 10 a.m., noon, and 2 p.m. The New Jersey Advisory board of the Master Gardener program will also have a general information table.

Other events will include special educational displays, insect identification, soil testing, sales, and an introduction to the Native Plant Society's New Jersey Garden. Refreshments will be sold by the New Jersey 4-H program at the outdoor cafe with a strolling musician.

Meat Nutrient Facts

CHICAGO, Il.—A partnership project between the American Heart Association (AHA) and the National Livestock and Meat Board has produced Meat Nutrient Facts, a printed summary for consumers of the nutrient content of various protein sources. Selected as an excellent consumer education tool, the AHA is including Meat Nutrient Facts in 15,000 1995 "HeartFest at Work" kits.

The front of the handout features information on how to select, prepare and serve lean meat, as well as what the meat industry is doing to deliver products to consumers that maintain a high nutrient content, yet are lower in fat. Printed in chart format, the second side of Meat Nutrient Facts compares the relative nutritional value of lean beef, pork, turkey, chicken, seafood and ground meat products. Its May publication was timed to allow it to be a key component in the "HeartFest at Work" kit, a packet of educational materials on heart-healthy lifestyles that the AHA distributes annually through work sites.

As part of this kit, Meat Nutrient Facts focuses on the reduced fat content in today's lean meat and other nutrition information tailored to heart-health. It incorporates tips on selecting, preparing and serving lean cuts of meat without adding extra fat or calories. In addition to highlighting the latest USDA nutrient data for lean cuts such as beef sirloin and pork tenderloin, the checkoff-funded material, which carries both AHA and Meat Board logos, shows how the fat content in meats and poultry can be reduced by further trimming.

How Would You Like To Be 200 Years Old?

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

SALISBURY (Cumberland Co.) — Hi, all you kids in LANCASTER FARMING territory.

I was just wondering if you know what bicentennial means. Everybody here is worked up because Somerset County is having its bicentennial birthday and we're all supposed to be celebrating.

Bicentennial means 200. Somerset County is 200 years old this year. Some of its towns, like Salisbury, my home community, are also 200 years old.

The bicentennial celebrations are supposed to go on all year long. Now, I'm not usually a griper, but has anybody ever celebrated your birthday a whole year without stopping?

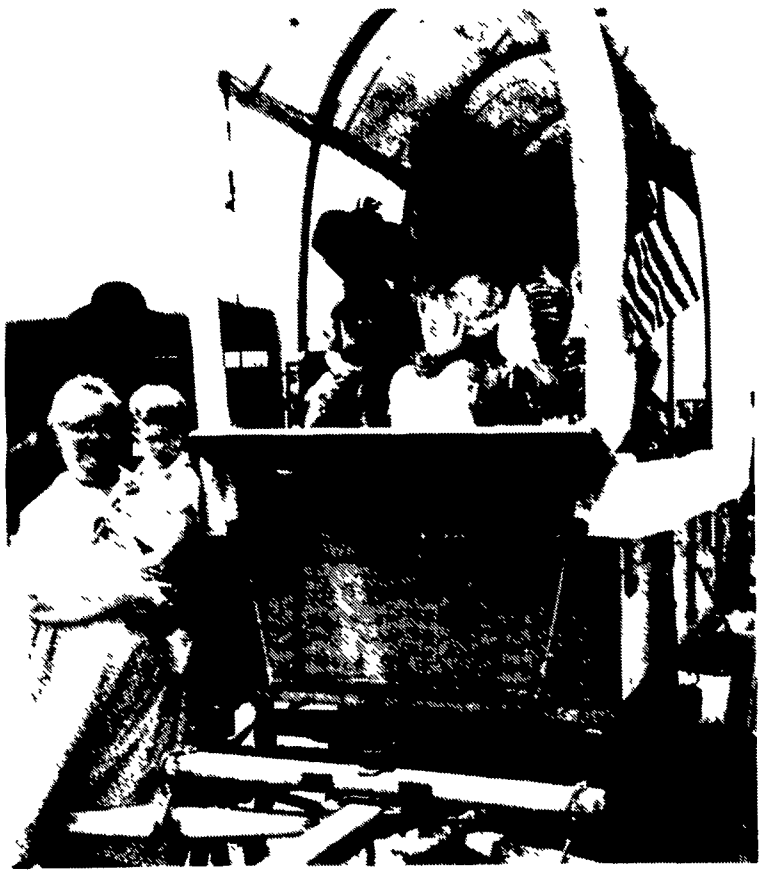
"No," you say. Well that's what I say, too. We have just one day to do our favorite things and eat all we want.

I tried to imagine being 200 years old and couldn't. Umm . . . let's see . . . that would mean I had lived 73,000 days.

To get that number just multiply the days in one year — 365 by 200. Actually there's an extra day every four years in February. That would make 50 more but I'm not including them.

Now, if I was 200, I would be as creaky as a door hinge that needed oil. Probably my hands would have been washed at least 365,000 times during my life. And I would have eaten 219,000 breakfasts, lunches, and dinners if I didn't count snacks in between.

Yvonne Durst of Fort Hill, Somerset County was so excited about going on the Appalachian Wagon Train for the first time that she sewed five new dresses that are hanging on the horse trailer. She made ruffled bloomers to wear underneath. Oops! Something is showing below her skirt. Yvonne can pretend she's living on "Little House on the Prairie," because it's her favorite TV show.



Paul and Mona Miller have a bunch of grandkids on their wagon for the Appalachian Wagon Train. They are all from around Greensburg, Westmoreland County. In the wagon are Danny Moyer, 4; Laura and Kaitlyn Liprando, 6 and 7; and Danny Moyer, 7, in back. Grandma is holding Matthew Moyer who is 18 months.

Elam Bender is a wagon train chaplain and circuit rider. He holds his Bible and his circuit horse. He and his wife, Mildred are from Meyersdale, Somerset County.

In 200 years of life, if I drank four cups of milk each day that would be 292,000 cups, or 73,000 quarts, or 18,250 gallons.

Here's how I figured it. There are four cups in one quart. There are four quarts (or 16 cups) in one gallon. And I already told you there are 73,000 days in 200 years. Now get busy with your math to see if I'm right.

Or take a gallon jug and a measuring cup and experiment with water. Sixteen cups of water will fill it.

I suppose I would have eaten a good many eggs in 200 years, and slices of bread. But it's harder to calculate them. I know that the people must have had milk, eggs and bread back in 1795. Not ice cream, though, or pizza, hot dogs, fries and shakes. I wonder what their desserts were.

If I had never known about electricity then I wouldn't miss it. But since it's part of my life today I can't imagine not having it. It's just the same with the telephone. You and I can call anywhere in the world anytime of the day and talk to someone. Big satellites above the earth make it possible to communicate this way.

Some people I know like to pretend they are pioneers. Every year they go on the Appalachian Wagon Train for one week. They camp out in covered wagons and ride horses. It's their way of honoring the real pioneers of long ago.

This year the Appalachian Wagon Train came to my town so I went to visit the camp. They were helping celebrate the bicentennial of Somerset County and Salisbury.

I was surprised to see how many kids were along. They were with their parents or grandparents, having a high old time. Their clothes looked Early American not modern.

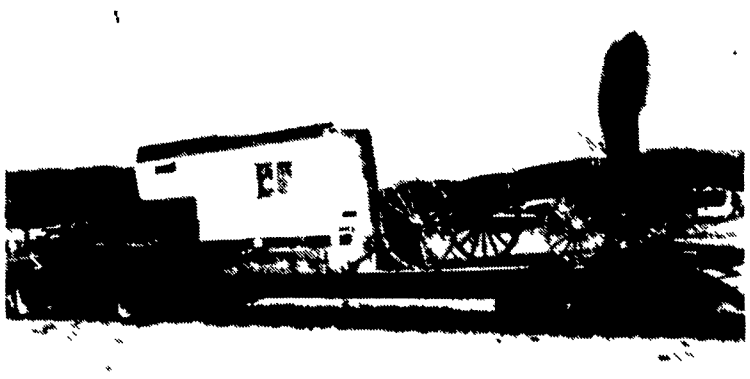
One woman was very happy because she was going on the wagon train for the first time. She was excited about living like the family on Little House on the Prairie. That's her favorite TV program.

She had made all new pioneer dresses and fancy bloomers (underwear) for each day she was on the wagon train.

The wagon train had a cook, a postmaster (mailman), a chaplain (preacher), a wagon master (boss), and a chief scout, and other scouts.

The scouts ride horses and help the chief scout. They report to the wagon master and prevent problems. They also direct traffic at intersections. You see, the covered wagons and buggys sometimes use main highways and pass through towns.

(Turn to Page B11)



This picture shows how horses and wagons are brought to a campsite before a wagon train can be formed. Isn't it funny how modern people try to be pioneers? Even though they still need to use trucks, cars and campers, they are showing honor to the real pioneers who died long ago.

| 7. BLOOMERS | g. carries out orders for the wagon master |
| 8. BONNET | h. says the prayers, leads church services |
| 9. HALTER | i. leather strap |
| 10. CHUCK WAGON | j. big wagon for freight |
| 11. WAGONS HO | k. underwear for a female pioneer |
| 12. CHIEF SCOUT | l. a head harness; for headstall, bit and reins |

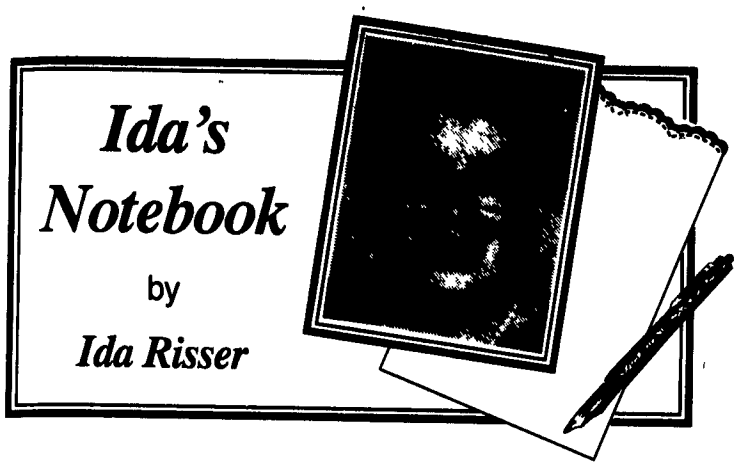
Answers: 1. (j) 2. (e) 3. (h) 4. (l) 5. (a) 6. (i) 7. (k) 8. (b) 9. (f) 10. (c) 11. (d) 12. (g)

Answer: Conestoga wagon was named after the Conestoga Valley because that's where the wagons were made for the pioneers who went West.



This summer our family has four reunions to attend. Some are large gatherings with folks from far away attending while others are smaller and more intimate.

Both of my parents were interested in their ancestors and so I heard a lot of talk about great uncles and aunts. I've gathered quite a few names and dates and put them on a chart. Ten families have been traced back to Europe. Even so, there are many empty spaces. Hunting more information is something that one intends to do but never seems to find the time for it.

Our son, Philip, is the tenth generation of the Weidler family to farm this land. My parents knew that there were Weidler ancestors but it was not until a lady from Texas did an indepth study of the family that I knew the direct line from which I'm descended. In fact two sons of Hans Michael are my ancestors.

Studying genealogy can lead one from church archives to cemeteries to courthouse records. It is a time-consuming hobby but one that many people find very interesting. Lately, I've given several well-preserved studio pictures to persons that I really did not know but their grandmothers and grandfathers were on the photos.

I've heard that some people buy these old pictures to study the styles of hair and dress. Often the little boys wore dresses until they were almost school age. The ornate furniture in the pictures is also quite interesting.

Each day the Appalachian Wagon Train went to a different campsite that was 10 or 15 miles away. It ended at Rockwood.

The wagon master told me the wagon train doesn't stop for storms or anything once it gets going.

For fun they held contests for the "Ugly Man," "Prettiest Bonnet," "Nicest Beard" and some other stuff.

Lots of people belong to the Appalachian Wagon Train Association, from Pennsylvania and a few other states.

If a town has something special to celebrate, the people can invite the wagon train to join them. The train goes most anywhere if someone invites them. But first the association members vote to show they agree on it.

There are hundreds of ways to celebrate being 200 years old. Oh gee, there are parades, you can fly banners, send up balloons, have someone parachute out of an airplane for you or write your name in the sky with airplance exhaust. It could also be written on a big billboard and posted along the highway.

And you could travel around the world to places like Alaska and Africa. Hey, why not! All it takes are 365 days and lots, lots, lots of money. So start saving now. One day you might be 200 years old — if you live long enough.

Until then, here's a quiz. This one is about wagon trains and some words you might hear the pioneers say.

Jay and Eyvonne Shaffer, Somerset RD 5, pose on a big tractor inside the garage of the Somerset Farm Equipment Company, which they own. Besides being a dairy farmer and overseeing the 800-acre Loyetta Farms, Jay is an ordained minister. Much sermon preparation occurs when he is driving tractor or milking the 100 head of Holstein cows.

Farming Helps Dairyman Become Better Minister

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

SOMERSET (Somerset Co.) — A few weeks ago the Reverend Jay Shaffer was ordained to the ministry by the Somerset Association, Penn West Conference, United Church of Christ.

After commuting from his farm here to the Lancaster Theological Seminary where he received his master of divinity degree on May 13, the pastor nullified the early predictions of those who told him, "You can't be a full-time student and a farmer at the same time."

"I wanted to be a minister from when I was 13," recalls Jay, who milks the 100 Loyetta Farm Holsteins weekday mornings and on alternate Sunday mornings.

His supportive wife, Eyvonne, said the subject of Jay's becoming a minister used to come up during their courting days so she accepted it quite naturally.

The Reverend firmly believes that his occupation greatly enhances his part-time vocation of preaching.

"Farming helps me be a better minister," he states. "I'm involved in the same work as the people in the church. It gives me a better understanding of their problems and their frustrations," he says.

"I use the time I spend milking and driving the tractor for thinking and meditating on what I've been reading or reflecting." So Loyetta's 800 acres harvest more for the Lord than mere grain and edibles for the livestock. For Jay it's a knitting of the soil and the soul.

He wants the people to find in him their equal. "Ministers are called to serve, not to be served," is the belief by which he strives to live.

"I'm blessed that I have time to contemplate and think," the pastor said.

Jay was raised on the farm that's still his home and where he and his dad, Lloyd Shaffer, became partners on April 1, 1973. By that time the older Shaffers (Ethel is his mother) had given the place its distinctive title by combining their first names.

That year Jay graduated from Penn State on March 24 and married Eyvonne the next day, March 25.

He thought he would teach high school ag. In fact, his year of student teaching was done under ag teacher Doyle Paul, at the Berlin -Brothersvalley High School.

By 1986, Lloyd retired and the partnership fluctuated from two to four, and then to three persons where it is now, because Lloyd had also launched a second business called Somerset Barn Equipment Company, which took looking after.

"We have more workers around here then a normal farm because of the equipment business," interjected Eyvonne.

Jay's philosophy of farming was a bit different from that of his dad. He opted to concentrate on the dairy and marketing the milk, rather than on the registered cows which had comprised some two-thirds of the entire herd.

Farmer and preacher Jay Shaffer of Somerset RD 5, has two computer centers in his office, one for the farm and one for the church. Jay has a Greek textbook and an eight-translation Bible to enhance his studies.

NEW HIGH CAPACITY

MORE OF THE THINGS YOU WANT

More capacity, improved reliability and better bale shape.

- Big Capacity. Wide, Super-Sweep™ pickups get the short fine hay ordinary pickups miss.
- Efficient Feeding Systems. A rotary system on the two larger balers adds capacity and improves bale shape. The "565" has a beefed-up Flow-Action® feeder.
- Increased Reliability. Heavy-duty materials in the bale case and plunger, and accurate knotters or twisters, complete the story.

ECONOMICAL FLAIL CONDITIONING

The Model 412 Discbine® disc mower-conditioner gives you a 9'9" cut and uses an economical flail conditioning system that scuffs plant stems for fast drying. And, the "412" has the responsive header flotation you've come to expect from a Discbine. See it for yourself.

BALE IT DRY OR WET

HAY OR SILAGE

You can make both with the Model 640 Silage Special. Here's how:

- The heavy-duty feeder has a position designed especially for silage baling.
- Steel-welded loops and a heavy-duty sharpened steel scraper on the sledge follower roll and tailgate nose roll eliminate crop residue buildup.
- Endless belts provide added durability in tough crops.

For dense, uniform 4' x 5' bales in dry or high-moisture crops, stop by and see the 640 Silage Special.

The name Loyetta has stayed because Jay wants to honor his parents who live nearby.

His brother, Lee Shaffer, and Richard Ferguson are Jay's partners. They raise 400 acres of corn, 150 of alfalfa, 120 of oats, 100 of clover or timothy, and barley. Six silos are filled, young stock raised and farm equipment sold.

Eyvonne is the bookkeeper. In the basement, a big room handles two offices, one for the farm, the other, the church. Each of the two desks has a separate computer station and comfortable desk chair for moving about. Jay works at both areas and utilizes his nearby resource library.

The key is organization, he says. That's how they approach a bustling life successfully without coming undone.

"Eyvonne is a good organizer," says Jay, praising his spouse. "I'm an idea person and she's a detail person."

Without her dependable support and their marital unity, getting his higher degree would have been much harder for Jay. But because his "great family," worked shoulder to shoulder they conquered as a unit. The kids pitched in too, including Alisa who will be a junior at Penn State, and Adam, now a senior at Somerset Area High School.

"The kids were old enough to understand why everybody was sacrificing for Dad," Eyvonne said, glad that Jay is home easing the worries she faced while he was in school.

"Things didn't get fixed and we had no social life to speak of," she says.

The business partners pulled a heavier load, too.

Jay would rise in the wee hours and head east to spend two or three days in Lancaster. Regardless of the season or the weather, the routine was pretty much the same.

"The other students were fascinated to have a farmer on campus."

The circumstance resulted in a collection of entertaining stories.

More serious, however, was the inner-city ministry experience which Jay used to bring about an awareness that ministry programs in rural areas were also needed.

With others from the school, he toured Costa Rica and Guatemala, Central America, in January 1994. Snow was falling as the students flew out of Philadelphia, just two hours before the blizzard caused officials there to shut down the airport.

So with the man of the house setting off for his cross-cultural experience, the family was a bundle of nerves, sitting helplessly at home and watching the awful storm.

While visiting the city of San Jose, Jay ended up getting mugged and lost several hundred dollars. But he rolled with his losses and learned a good lesson.

Perhaps that's why he prefers the jungle to the city. The beauty of the jungle won him over, unlike the poverty of the people that he saw so much of.

"People in this country do not realize the poverty in those countries," he says.

Jay was commissioned as a licensed minister on October 23, 1988. He had studied four years to be a supply minister. It was basically a home training course, that began in 1984, he said. As a licensed minister, however, he couldn't perform the sacraments of the church.

Then on September 1, 1990 he was assigned to the Unity United Church of Christ in Shanksville. Soon the Search and Ministry Committee convinced him to take a class.

Jay thought if he took something pretty difficult at first, he would soon know if he should shoot for his M.A. in Divinity. So he took Greek.

"I took a semester of Greek and survived," he said.

After that he decided to tackle his degree. His grades were high and so was his interest. But experts advised that it had to be one or the other — farming or school, but not both at once. Now that Jay has successfully completed school and continues to farm, he's still Unity UCC's part-time pastor, preaching on Sunday mornings, making crisis visits, preparing the bulletin on Monday, and working with the 19-member Care Committee.

He's been an interim pastor for the St. Paul's UCC in Stoystown; St. Paul's UCC, Somerset; St. John's UCC, Salisbury, and Trinity UCC, New Germany, Garrett County, Maryland.

Jay and Eyvonne were co-chairpersons of Somerset County Day at the Farm, held on July 2 at the Latuch Brothers Dairy near Rockwood. They were pleased when the event drew more than 2,000 and was one of the largest in the event's 12-year history.

The hayrides this year were so popular with visitors that some five tractors and wagons were still running long past closing time, they said.

The event was sponsored by the Somerset County Farm Bureau.

Sugar Is Not Poison

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — Learn why sugar is not the forbidden substance for diabetics that it was previously believed to be.

A workshop on Sugar is Not a Poison will be taught at the Berks County Ag Center, Leesport, on September 7, at 1:00-2:30 p.m. and repeated at 7:00-8:30 p.m.

Cost is $1. LATE BLIGHT "ALERT"

This is the second in a series of articles on diagnosing and reducing pests in the garden. Serious disease and insect pests problems require quick identification and treatments.

During the growing season, check your garden weekly for diseases. On potatoes and tomatoes check weekly especially in wet weather.

Why? A disease known as late blight can affect the foliage, fruits and tubers of tomato and potato. The first occurrence of late blight in any area will be very important to other areas where late blight has not appeared. Please contact your County Extension Office, if you suspect the presence of late blight.

The "alert" is also for commercial growers of both potato and tomato. There is a strong chance that potato seed pieces in cull piles could be carrying the blight fungus (Phytophthora infestans).

Tomatoes and potatoes are susceptible to late blight at any time during the growing season. If the growing season continues wetter than the usual, late blight occurrence is likely.

If you find late blight, begin fungicide applications. Or intensify your fungicide applications by increasing application frequency or rate. Be sure to keep within the guidelines on the pesticide label.

The only fungicides now effective against late blight and available to home gardeners are protectant materials. These products protect foliage from infection but they cannot cure plants once they are infected. Continuous fungicide coverage is necessary to protect plants from infection.

Protectant fungicides available to manage the disease include mancozeb, maneb, chlorothalonil, and copper. See the label directions for specific information on application rates and frequency of application.

If late blight becomes severe, remove diseased plants by digging them up. Destroy these plants immediately by burying in an area away from the garden, or discarding in a plastic bag. Lastly, harvest all potato tubers in the garden. If late blight occurs when the tubers have already "sized up," harvest the crop as soon as possible to avoid post-harvest tuber rot. Again, destroy diseased foliage and stems.

Watering practices that help reduce foliage diseases will help prevent late blight. On potatoes and tomatoes avoid wetting the leaves when you water. How? Soak the ground around each plant instead of spraying the foliage with water. Consider using a trickle irrigation system or water your garden mid-day so that the foliage dries off quickly. Eliminate weeds around the garden so as to maximize air circulation around the plants. Additionally for potatoes, hill up the soil around the plants to provide a more substantial barrier against tuber infection from spores washing down through the soil.

Governor's School For Ag Sciences Marks 10th Year

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—The Pennsylvania Governor's School for the Agricultural Sciences at Penn State, held on the University Park Campus July 2 to August 5, celebrates its 10th anniversary this year.

Each summer, 64 of the state's leading high school juniors and seniors spend five weeks at Penn State, learning about the agricultural sciences. They conduct research with professors and have access to college facilities, including specialized libraries and laboratories.

Over the past 10 years, about 600 students have attended the school. Nearly all of them have gone on to college, and many have chosen to attend the College of Agricultural Sciences at Penn State.

The school's 10th anniversary was recognzied at the opening ceremony on Sunday, July 2, in the Agricultural Sciences and Industries Building.

Between 70 and 100 College of Agricultural Sciences faculty members are involved in the program each year, teaching subjects such as agricultural economics, food science and forestry. The scholars take core courses in 11 areas and elective courses in five areas, and can choose from more than 30 independent research projects.

They also take field trips to agricultural agencies and businesses and get hands-on experience working in laboratories, greenhouses and farms. Planned activities include visits to Longwood Botanical Gardens, Hershey Foods, the New Bolton Center at the University of Pennsylvania, the Atlantic Breeders' Cooperative and Shaver's Creek Environmental Center.

At the end of the school, participants receive a special state certificate. They are not graded or competitively ranked, leaving them free to learn without pressure.

The Governor's School is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Education, the state's intermediate units and Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. Pennsylvania Governor's Schools also are offered in the arts, sciences, health care, education and international studies.

Butterfly Weekends

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Attend a Butterfly Weekend, sponsored by the entomology department in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, to learn to identify butterflies.

The Butterfly Weekends are scheduled for July 22 and August 12. Each session begins at 9:30 a.m. in Headhouse 3 on Penn State's University Park Campus. At 11:30, participants will board a bus for a leisurely four- to five-hour day in the field looking at some of Centre County's 100 species of butterflies. Trips with a series of stops are planned to other areas where butterflies congregate.

The cost is $22 per session. Participants must be 10 years of age or older. For more information or to receive a registration brochure, write to the Office of Short Courses, 306 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802-2601 or call (814) 865-8301.

A Real 4-H County Fair

On July 27-29 the Gloucester County 4-H Fairgrounds in Mullica Hill will become a beehive of activity. Route #77 will swarm with a steady stream of vehicles bringing 4-H'ers and their exhibits to show off for the three days of the annual Gloucester County 4-H Fair.

The animal barns will burst with rabbits, horses, pigs, goats, steers and cows, while the exhibit barn will show visitors 4-H woodworking, needlework, quilts, crafts, vegetables and flowers. Exhibiting marks the culmination of a full year of work for 800 4-H members. These school-age children are part of Gloucester County's 4-H youth program of Rutgers Cooperative Extension and Gloucester County.

A full schedule of events over the three days will provide something for any age group. The 1995 Fair boasts an exciting schedule of events. Teams of draft horses will compete, pulling a huge sled with thousands of pounds of weight. Kids can see and touch baby animals in a special display area, also, there will be a Kiddie Tractor Pull for the little ones, and children's shows all three days.

Gloucester County Ambassadors will be named on Thursday evening following a day including horse, swine, sheep and dairy goat shows. Albert Scott 4-H Alumnus of the Year will be honored following the Ambassador Contest.

Thursday, July 27 at 8 p.m. will also feature a "Celebrity Contest." Come see local celebrities compete in a goat milking and watermelon eating contest.

Friday's annual shows will include dairy, rabbits, and horses. At 7 p.m., the stage area will be the site of the 4-H Fashion Show, featuring models who have both purchased and constructed their outfits. Doc Holliday's Country & Western Band will provide evening entertainment. The Old Woman in the Shoe and Mother Hubbard will entertain children from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Little Miss Peach will be named as well as 1995 Peach Queen. The contest will take place at the stage from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. The Peach Queen contest is part of the Peach Festival.

Saturday is "Kids Day." Activities will include a fun carnival, baby parade, diaper derby, turtle race, and frog jumping contest. For the entire family, the fair will offer police canine demonstration, karate show, and the Keystone Cloggers.

Saturday at 1 p.m., the 4-H Fair Fun Carnival will usher in the afternoon of "Kids Events." The Senior 4-H Council sponsors this series of games and contests for the younger set.

Prize 4-H market lambs and hogs will be auctioned off Friday evening, July 28 at 7 p.m. at the 4-H Fair.

More than 50 animals will be auctioned. Come and see the auction.

Cumberland Livestock

The July meeting of the Cumberland County Livestock Club was held on July 12 at the Country Butcher Shop. It began at 7:30 p.m. with a program on meat identification in the store.

The members were asked to take selected cuts of meat and match them with names of the cuts on a list.

New business was discussed, and included Roundup and a livestock banquet to be held in September. Roundup will be held on August 6-7 at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds. The sale will be held on Monday night at 5 p.m. beginning with a buyers' buffet. Anyone who is interested is invited to attend.

A meeting of the fair exhibit committee was held afterward.

Ceiling Fans Cut Costs

Ceiling fans can circulate air that will make you feel cooler and allow you to set the thermostat on your air conditioner as much as 5 degrees higher.

Your air conditioner won't have to work so hard, and the electricity used by the fan won't cost you any more than the electricity to light a 100-watt light bulb.

In addition to being a good supplement to air conditioners during the hottest part of the year, ceiling fans can replace air conditioning altogether during moderately warm weather.

Ceiling fans work best when the blades are 7 to 9 feet above the floor and 10 to 12 inches below the ceiling.

Placing fans so the blades are closer than 8 inches to the ceiling can decrease the efficiency by 40 percent.

Fans also require at least 18 inches of clearance between the blade tips and walls. They should never be hung where excessive moisture could damage the wiring or warp wooden blades.

When selecting a new ceiling fan, consider the warranty, the availability of multiple speeds, the blade material, the blade size, the noise level, and the ease of installation.

Help Teens Learn From Car Purchase

PATRICIA POWLEY
Penn State Extension

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—When a teenager decides it's time to get a first car, parents don't always agree. Instead of relying on knee-jerk reaction of "yes" or "no," parents can use this situation as a learning experience for their children.

Several issues need to be discussed with the teen. Responsibility is one of them. Money is another. Whether or not the teen really needs an auto or is just responding to peer pressure is another issue.

Sit down with your child and figure out, on paper, how much transportation a week is needed and how much that transportation costs, both in terms of time and money. If, for instance, you are currently driving the teen back and forth to school, to a part-time job, to after-school activities, to social events because other transportation is not available, then perhaps it is time for the young person to get his or her own car.

But if other transportation is available—public transportation, car pools, friends with cars—peer pressure, rather than actual need, may be the motivating force.

Don't underestimate peer pressure. Social factors can make a car seem very desirable and even necessary.

Next, talk about money. Teens are, at best, young and inexperienced consumers. They may well believe that the only expenses involved in this project are purchase price and gas. Educate them. Buying a car may be, for some teens, their first financial introduction to adulthood.

Begin to estimate the true costs by first considering possible cars the teenager plans to buy, including year and make. The young person should have a possible selection of three or four cars, for comparison. Next, try to anticipate, realistically, how much repair and maintenance will cost. Add those expenses to the purchase price. Get estimates for insurance premiums.

The model and year of a car greatly affect insurance costs, so get estimates for several different cars. For instance, a four cylinder is generally less expensive to insure than an eight cylinder. And while an import may seem sporty, if parts are hard to get, the insurance will cost more.

Now is the time to be certain that teens understand their driving will affect their insurance premiums. Any bad marks on their license will drive up their premiums and keep them in a high-risk pool for years to come, adding greatly to the cost of auto ownership. Young people who have taken a driver education course usually get a discount on their insurance premium, and in some counties, teens with A and B grades get a discount, too.

Financing is another cost the teen must consider, if the car is to be paid for in installments. He or she should ask about car loans at several lenders and compare. If the parents are lending the money, they should have, in writing, the terms of the loan: what the interest rate is, if any, and how and when the loan will be repaid.

Don't forget the cost of gas has to be added into monthly expense figures.

If, after adding up all those figures, the young person is still determined to buy a car, help him or her draw up an income and expense sheet, identifying sources of income and expenditures, figuring the car expense into the budget. Buying a car may mean no more meals out, no more designer jeans, and cutting back on money for dates.

It is important for teens to learn that money is limited and purchasing one thing means not getting another. Parents should not make this easy or painless for their children. The budgeting and sacrificing will help prepare them for adult financial situations.

Lawn Mowing: Make The Cut Safely

NEWARK, Del. — Parents who wouldn't think of allowing their child near a lawn rotary tiller or snow blower don't always exercise the same caution when it comes to lawn mowers. Every year, more than 75,000 Americans are treated in emergency rooms because of accidents involving lawn mowers. Often these victims are children, notes Ron Jester, Cooperative Extension safety specialist at the University of Delaware.

"Children should not be allowed to play in the yard while a mower is in use," warns Jester. "Tragedies have occurred when riding-mower operators have switched into reverse without realizing small children were in back of them. And never carry children as passengers on riding mowers."

Many adolescents welcome the chance to begin using a mower, both for the extra money they might earn from a grass-cutting business and simply because it makes them feel grown up. However, Jester stresses that older children should not be permitted to cut the grass until they are fully aware of the safety precautions necessary in operating a mower.

Adults should review these precautions and make sure that they, too, are following the proper practices.

* Be sure you know how to safely operate the mower. Know where the controls are and what they do. Do not remove or disable guards or other safety devices. Maintain the equipment according to the operator's manual.

* Dress properly for the job. Wear sturdy work shoes, long pants and close-fitting clothes — nothing that could get caught in a moving part. Hearing and eye protection also are recommended.

* Handle gas carefully. Store gas in an approved container, away from the house. Fill up before you start while the engine is cold. Wipe up spills.

* Clean up and clear out the area before you start. Pick up anything that could be thrown by the mower, such as toys, trash and golf balls. Then, clear the area of people and pets.

* Operate the equipment carefully. Always turn off the engine before attempting to unclog a mower. Check mower periodically to see if bolts have loosened. Get the blade sharpened periodically.

Mowing a hill safely requires different techniques, depending on what kind of mower you use, notes Jester. If you use a walk-behind mower, mow across the slope; if you use a riding mower, mow up and down the slope. If the slope is very steep, consider a landscape option, such as a groundcover that requires no mowing.

If you use a walk-behind mower, push the mower because pulling it increases the risk that you might slip and pull it over your feet. Riding-mower operators need to take extra caution when unloading the grass catcher. Before unloading, disengage the blade, put the mower in neutral, turn off the engine and set the brake.

Leave Wildlife Wild

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—Many animals raise their young during spring and summer. If you come across one of those young animals, it's best to leave it alone, according to wildlife specialist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"People often encounter wildlife, particularly young animals, in the spring," said Dr. Margaret Brittingham, associate professor of wildlife resources. "Birds, fawns and rabbits are the most frequently encountered animals.

"People who try to help animals that seem to be wounded or abandoned have good intentions," she said. "But often they wind up doing more harm than good.

"Many people see a young, flightless bird sitting alone and decide to help by taking it inside," Brittingham said. "Problems soon arise because baby birds are very difficult to raise."

If you leave a bird where you found it, the parents will come to feed it. "It's easy to think that a bird that can't fly is in trouble," she said. "In fact, young birds often leave the nest when they can't truly fly, but can do a hopping half-flight. If you put them back in the nest at this point, they'll hop right back out."

If you're worried that a cat or other animal might get the bird, it's okay to place it out of harm's way in a bush. The adult birds will come back and feed it.

"If you can see the nest, it's all right to put the young bird back in it," Brittingham said. "It's a myth that if you touch a baby bird the mother will never come back."

If you discover a nest that's tipped over or fallen, pick it up, put the young back in it and place it in the tree. You also can make an artificial nest from a small basket and hang it as close to the original nest as you can. The adults will find the young and return to feed them."

If the adult birds have been killed, the young birds may need help. "In that case, you may want to intervene—but if you try to raise the birds yourself, chances of success are slim," Brittingham said. "Take orphaned birds to one of the many wildlife rehabilitators around the state."

People also may find rabbit nests during spring and summer. "Rabbit nests usually are slight indentations in the ground covered with rabbit hair," Brittingham said. "People who come across a nest of baby rabbits often think the babies have been abandoned, but that's not so. Rabbits nurse their young only twice a day, early in the morning and late in the afternoon. The rest of the time the young rabbits are left by themselves. If you find a nest, don't disturb it."

Brittingham notes that rabbits periodically return to check on their young. "If the nest has been disturbed, the adult rabbit will move it. Once my dog came upon a rabbit's nest. I got her away from it and left the nest alone. When we returned to that spot two hours later, the young already had been moved."

People also may find fawns in the woods. "Deer, like rabbits, leave their young alone for long periods of time," she said. "So if you come upon a young animal in the woods, don't immediately assume it's been abandoned. It's more likely that the adult will return later."

Brittingham also urges people to remember that you can be injured trying to aid wildlife.

"By handling wild animals, you put yourself at risk of being scratched, bitten or even contracting a disease," she said. "Raccoons, for instance, often carry rabies. Many people are exposed to the disease each year by having contact with a raccoon.

"The best policy is to leave wildlife wild," she said.

FFA HAPPENINGS

The Newport FFA was successful in placing first in the recent Livestock Judging Contest held during the 66th Annual FFA Activities Week and Summer Convention at Penn State University.

This is the first time an FFA team from Perry County has ever received a first place in the livestock judging. The team will represent Pennsylvania during the National FFA Livestock Judging Contest to be held during the National FFA Convention on Nov. 9.

In preparation for this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, the team plans on practicing judging in as many contests and fairs that are possible prior to their trip to Kansas City. The team members are Brad and Bart Gill, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gill; Becky Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Miller; and Marijane Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wright.

The Newport FFA adviser is Virgil E. Gutshall.

Western Md. Field Day Aug. 10

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—Interested in learning how to get more value out of your agricultural production dollar while reducing your use of purchased off-farm inputs? How about exploring opportunities to diversify sources of farm income?

If so, plan to attend the Western Maryland Ag Field Day on Thursday, August 10, from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Western Maryland Research and Education Center (WMREC).

Wagon tours of Agricultural Experiment Station research plots and Cooperative Extension Service demonstrations will depart from 8 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. Steven M. Bogash, faculty extension assistant and enterprise consultant, will talk about gooseberries, elderberries, and currants.

Other featured topics are as follows: phosphorus-loading capacity of Maryland soils, high-population planting of corn, corn and soybean weed control in western Maryland, insect resistant plants, reintroduction and management for natural control of the cereal leaf beetle, blueberry growing, management of young forests, and the Washington County Ag Expo.

Throughout the day there will be farm tillage and planting equipment demonstrations and displays examining the latest agricultural equipment, farm services, and University of Maryland at College Park's agricultural programs. Field day participants can browse through field plots of corn and soybean varieties and check out the new weed controls in corn. Representatives from various seed companies also will have literature displayed.

The Cooperative Extension Service will run a Home Economics program from 9 a.m.-11:55 a.m. The theme is food and includes "Meals in Minutes," "Eating on the Run," "Food Safety," "A Closer Look at Foods" and "Bread—The Staff of Life."

"You're Not Getting Enough Grains," presented by Kaye B. Derr, Frederick County faculty extension assistant, will present variations on how to prepare the recommended 6 to 11 servings of grains a day. She will introduce grain dishes such as couscous—new to U.S. palates. Cassandra S. Corridon, Frederick County home economics extension agent, will present "Seafood for Family Meals." Seafood safety, handling, and delivery will be addressed. A few presentations will feature food tasting.

A hog roast will round out the day. For $4, participants can enjoy a lunch featuring Maryland pork. Preregistration is required for the lunch. Registration forms must be received by August 2, or call WMREC at (301) 432-2767.

For more information on the Western Maryland Ag Field Day, contact either your local county extension agent or the WMREC at (301) 432-2767.

START WITH THE BEST!
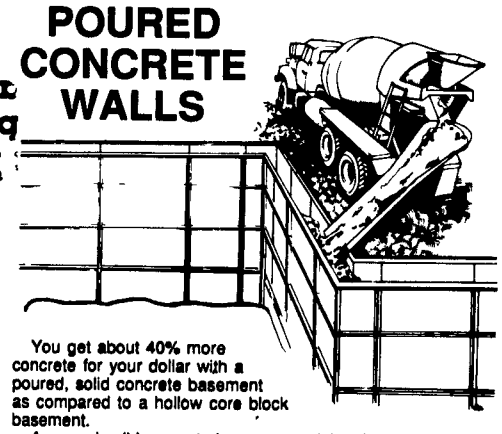
POURED CONCRETE WALLS



You get about 40% more concrete for your dollar with a poured, solid concrete basement as compared to a hollow core block basement.

A poured solid concrete basement weighs about 50 lbs more per cubic foot! Far denser What's more, poured solid concrete walls are monolithic . . there are no joints!

This is why laboratory tests show poured, solid concrete basements have many times the flexural and compressive strength to withstand the side and down pressures caused by earth, wind, water and building loads and the material density to resist water penetration.

Best of all, thanks to modern and efficient construction techniques, poured, solid concrete basements are competitively priced

Solid Concrete For:

- Manure Pit Walls
- Hog House Walls
- Barnyard Walls
- Chicken House Walls
- Retaining Walls
- House Foundation Walls
- Silage Pit Walls
- Cistern Walls
- Concrete Decks
- Concrete Pit Tops

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

QUESTION — Jeff Connors is looking for a painting of a Lancaster County farm scene with cows, barn, and field work in it. Contact him at P.O. Box 144, Perryville, Md. 21903.

QUESTION — Marcia Richards, Pitman, N.J., collects old valentines called Penny Dreadfuls or Vinegar Valentines. They are one-page caricatures with a mean poem printed beneath the picture. The valentines were mailed unsigned. She would like information someone might have regarding the valentines and also to purchase more.

QUESTION — A Pennsylvania reader would like to know where to buy a good book on knitting and crocheting. It should include patterns and directions for different stitches.

QUESTION — A Lehighton subscriber writes that she is the person who had requested an address for the company of the Merit Quik Chef Fast Grill. Someone sent an address, but when she wrote to it, her letter was returned. Does someone have an up-to-date address?

Cook's • Question • Corner

ANSWER — For the Somerset reader who wanted recipes for rhubarb jelly, here are a few from Elizabeth Auker, Manheim; Mrs. Leid, Ephrata; and other readers.

Rhubarb Jelly

3½ cups rhubarb juice
7 cups sugar
2 pouches Certo liquid pectin

Use about 3 pounds fresh rhubarb, grind and squeeze for juice. Measure juice. Add sugar. Bring to a boil. Add pectin. Bring to a full rolling boil. Boil hard one minute. Remove from heat. Skim off foam. Put in jars and seal.

Strawbarb Jelly

1½ pounds rhubarb
1½ quarts strawberries
6 cups sugar
2 pouches Certo liquid pectin

Grind rhubarb. Crush strawberries. Mix together. Squeeze out juice. Add sugar. Bring to a boil. Add sugar. Bring to full rolling boil. Boil hard one minute. Remove from heat. Skim off foam. Put in jars and seal.

ANSWER — Lorraine Bannon, Waymart, wanted a recipe for raisin pie just like grandma used to make. Thanks to Alverna Martin, Wellsboro, for sending a recipe.

Raisin Pie

1 cup raisins
2 cups water
½ cup sugar
1 egg
3½ tablespoons flour or minute tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Pastry for 9-inch crust, baked

Add water to raisins, cover and cook slowly for 20 minutes. Drain and add enough water to drained juice to make 2 cups. Combine flour or tapioca, sugar, salt, and liquid.

Cook over direct heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Pour small amount of hot mixture over beaten egg. Stir vigorously.

Return to saucepan and bring to a boil. Remove from heat, add butter, lemon juice, and rind. Cool and pour into baked pie shell. Serve with whipped topping.

Enjoy Bramble Berries

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — Bramble berries are in season from July through mid- to late-August. They include raspberries, blackberries, dewberries, boysenberries, loganberries and young berries. The following are some tips on purchasing, storing and preparing bramble berries from your Cooperative Extension Office in Wayne County.

Purchasing Tips: Select berries that are firm, plump, and solid in color. While color depends on the variety, a solid deep color is a good indicator of ripeness. Immature berries do not sweeten after they are picked and should not be purchased. Bramble berries are very delicate, the less they are handled before they are used the longer they can be stored. Avoid buying leaky or stained containers of bramble berries because the berries may have been overripe when picked, or damaged.

Storage Tips: Bramble berries are very perishable and must be refrigerated immediately after harvested. Blackberries can be refrigerated 5-7 days; black raspberries, 3-5 days; and red raspberries, 2-3 days. Store refrigerated bramble berries in a shallow container with a loose covering, such as plastic wrap. Do not wash berries before storing.

Preparation Tips: Wash bramble berries gently and quickly in cold water just before serving. Gently lift them from the water and drain. Never soak berries in water or they will lose sugar, flavor, and color. All bramble berries are interchangeable in recipes and may be substituted for strawberries in many recipes. Bramble berries are excellent to eat our of your hand, over cereal, in salads and pies, and in preserves. Avoid using aluminum, tin, or iron utensils or baking pans when using raspberries because the berries can turn from red to blue in color. For more information about preserving bramble berries contact Maria Lieb, Wayne County Family Living and Youth Agent and ask for the Let's Preserve fact sheets.

Fresh Berry Pie

Pastry for 9-inch double crust pie
2 tablespoons cornstarch or Clear Jel
¼ cup water or fruit juice (mild grape juice)
1 tablespoon lemon juice

QUESTION — Does anyone remember a cleaning fluid called Renusit, available in one-gallon cans. After the garment was cleaned, the fluid was strained and able to be reused. A Lehighton reader would like to know where to purchase it.

QUESTION — A reader would like to know where to purchase Birch Beer Extract and where to purchase finely ground natural phosphate. She would like a source located in either Lehigh or Northhampton counties.

QUESTION — Gloria Torrieri, Coatesville, would like to buy a dulcimer. She recalls an article about a man who made dulcimers appeared in this section several years ago. Does anyone know to whom she is referring?

LEADERSHIP AT WORK

Flea Control

EBENSBURG (Cambria Co.) — You may be itching to get home at the end of your vacation. Just make sure your itch isn't the result of a house full of fleas.

Fleas may become a problem whenever dogs, cats or other furry pets share our homes. When the house has been deserted by owner and pet alike, flea eggs and larvae that have fallen on the carpet or furniture will continue to mature. And, adult fleas will be waiting to make a meal on the first warm body to cross the threshold.

To control these pests in your home, here are some suggestions from Penn State Extension in Cambria County.

Begin with a thorough vacuuming that includes baseboards and carpets. Vacuum under rugs and on furniture. Don't forget other areas where your pet sleeps or rests. Dispose of the vacuum bag immediately in an outdoor trash can to dispose of fleas, eggs and larvae.

Be sure to clean your pet's bedding. If the pet sleeps on your bed, wash these linens, too.

You can get a jump on flea season by applying an insect growth regulator to carpet in the spring. Wait until after temperatures reach 60 degrees F both day and night and humidity is at least 50 percent.

Insect growth regulators are chemicals that imitate a hormone produced by fleas and interfere with their development. They have low toxicity to people and pets but can prevent flea egg hatch and inhibit larval development. They are available in ready-to-use aerosol sprays, usually in combination with a synthetic pyrethroid insecticide.

Look for flea control products containing methoprene, hydroprene or fenoxycarb. When applying these products, concentrate on areas where pets sleep.

⅔ to 1 cup sugar
4 cups fresh berries

Mix cornstarch with water or fruit juice, lemon juice, and cinnamon until smooth. Add sugar and fold in berries. Pour mixture into pastry-lined pie plate and cover with top crust or lattice top. Bake in preheated 450-degree F oven for 20 minutes. Reduce the heat to 350-degree F and bake about 40-45 minutes or until pastry is golden and the pie bubbles in the center. Cool before cutting. Serves 8.

Farm Women Societies

Berks Society 1

The June meeting of Berks County Society of Farm Women Group 1 was held at the home of Joan Haas, Douglassville. Special guest speaker to the group was Matthew Harley of Douglassville who spoke and also showed slides of his four-week trip to Holland, which was part of his senior year curriculum at Penn State University where he is majoring in criminal justice. He will graduate from the university in August.

The business meeting was conducted by President Evelyn Heacock. Members present greeted two visitors, Elaine Shannon and Debbie Shirey.

The next meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Evelyn Heacock, Boyertown. A doggie roast will precede the business meeting.

You Ask, You Answer

QUESTION — Amos Stoltzfus is looking for "Got-A-Minute," a word game by Selchow and Righter. It must be complete and in playable condition. Please do not send the game without contacting him first at R.R.1, Box 106 SR 17, Blain, PA 17006-9714.

QUESTION — Rose and George Plitt of Painted Post, N.Y., grow mint in their garden. They would like to know how to package it as a dry tea. Are the leaves stripped from the plant and put on a screen to dry in the sun or the oven and for how long? How long can it be stored after drying? How much is used for a cup of tea?

QUESTION — A reader is looking for two products that she was able to purchase years ago but can no longer find them: Pine Jelly Disinfectant and Musterol, a salve to rub on your chest when you have a cold.

QUESTION — Coralie Grant, Coopersburg, would like to find an outlet for old colored feedbags, and an outlet for wool remnants suitable for making braided rugs.

QUESTION — Mrs. Snyder of Fleetwood writes that she is desperate to find out how to get rid of an army of bats that live in her attic. Every summer the bats manage to squeeze through a tight door that leads to the downstairs and terrify her small children in their beds. It is a summertime nightmare. Editor's Note: Contact the state game commissioner. We understand they will come to your home and help eradicate the bats. If someone else has a solution, please write.

QUESTION — Norma Jean Yankey, Mt. Solon, Va., has a Burpee pressure canner Model #AR 1525. The screw in the control valve is weak and the pressure will not register properly. Does anyone know where she can find another control valve? The canner is approximately 40 years old.

QUESTION — J. Keith O'Leary would like to know how to eliminate voles without gassing them. They seem to be too smart to trap and gassing is not only expensive but it can kill other ground-dwelling animals.

QUESTION — Jeff Connors, Perryville, Md., would like to know where a good FFA school is in Lancaster Co. or a good, clean Christian family farm, or a Virginia-style dairy barn.

QUESTION — Jeff Connors, Perryville, Md., would like to know where he can purchase a toy Farmall 560 1958 NFAN 1456.

QUESTION — L. Zimmerman, Stevens, would like to know where to get coal grates for a Frank's FWC 140 wood and coal furnace.

QUESTION — Harold Stoudt, Hamburg, would like to know where to buy a continuous timer that can be set to turn a fan on and off at preset intervals of 20-30 minutes.

QUESTION — Mrs. Joseph Boll, Harleysville, would like to know where to purchase mendettes, a small disc with a screw that fits a small hole in pans and holds the other side on.

QUESTION — Joan Francisco, Stroudsburg, would like to know where to purchase oil of cassia, used in Italian cooking.

QUESTION — Yvonne Lawrence, Newburgh, N.Y., would like to know where to purchase a rhubarb and soda mixture used for indigestion. She used to purchase it in a pharmacy but finds the New York pharmacies don't stock it anymore.

QUESTION — Mrs. William Pierce, Palmyra, would like to know where to purchase antique two-bottom dishes for crock-type chicken water fountains. Must be white with 10-inch top and 8-inch bottom.

QUESTION — Maxine Tutton, Fort Royal, Va., would like the address for a mail order company that sells patterns for clothing that fits cement lawn geese that are so popular now.

ANSWER — Esther Miller, Coatesville, and Edgar Jackson, Ligonier, wanted to know how to puff wheat, rice, corn, and other grains for making cereal. Thanks to Allen Hoover, Ephrata, who writes that puffing wheat and other grains is not a home process as it is too dangerous. Here is one way that it is done.

The grain is wetted and put in a long narrow sealed cannister. The cannister is heated until the steam pressure reaches 100 to 160 psi (depending on the cereal). The pressure is instantaneously released by opening the lid on one end. The resulting explosion puffs the grain and shoots it out of the cannister with terrific force, usually through a cooling tube and into a holding compartment.

ANSWER — Alma Grady, Falls Creek, wanted to know how to get in touch with sewing factories in the Harrisburg area to get fabric salvage suitable for weaving rag rugs on a loom. Thanks to Leona Simko, Shamokin, who writes that she has material that may interest her. Please call her at (717) 797-4712.

DO DUES TO GET ON A

Not All Fields Are Perfectly Flat

That's why the Bush Hog® model 2615 15-foot cutter's wings are designed to float along contours as severe as 90 degrees up or 22 degrees down while shredding stalks, clipping pastures or cutting along rights-of-ways, drainage ditches, terraces and fence rows. As it does so, an automatic height adjustment keeps the wings cutting at the same height as the center section. A framing system featuring closed box members allows us to make the 2615 pounds lighter without sacrificing any of the strength you've come to expect from a Bush Hog. And, less weight not only means less wear and tear on your tractor but it has also allowed us to cut the price.

Why pay more to get less - make a Bush Hog's success your success.

BUSH HOG

2345 Qt Series Front End Loaders

Rugged Front End Loaders That Attach To a Wide Range of Tractor Models
Rated For 25-45 PTO Horsepower

- Designed for 2 and 4 wheel drive tractors.
- Choice of attaching buckets from 48" to 80" wide.
- Rugged construction and durability.
- Low profile provides excellent visibility for operator.
- The 2345 QT is available for a limited tractor hp range.

- No tools are required to removed the loader form tractor.

Why Bush Hog Squealers Mow Down The Competition

There are two basic reasons and quality is the first. Each Squealer model is equipped with Bush Hog's tough gearbox that carries a 2-year warranty. All models, except the 42-inch wide cutter feature oval blade pans, and the 60 and 72-inch wide models have an "in-line" shear bolt with ball bearing protection that can be replaced in a snap. An optional slip clutch is available.

The second reason for the Squealers popularity is price. Select any of 5 models, 42 to 84-inches wide, and compare prices with the competition. With a true price/quality comparison, it's easy to see why Squealers mow down the competition.

AFFORDABLE

The Bush Hog Razorback gives you plenty of performance - plus features for fast and better rotary cutting. Like a full 5-foot cutting width and a cutting capacity up to 1 - inch diameter. Like the protection of a shear pin and oval blade pan as standard equipment. Like 11-ga. steel construction and a tapered rear deck for faster discharge. The Razorback is ideal for use with 18-30 HP tractors.... and it's ideal for your pocketbook - because it's plenty affordable.

BUSH HOG

For Pastures, For Roadsides, For Stalks...Here's The Rotary Cutter You Need

Bush Hog's medium duty 270 Series Rotary Cutters are excellent tools for the widest variety of land maintenance chores. And they're built tough, built to withstand rugged cutting in material up to 2-inches thick. Decks are 10 gauge steel, continuous welded and braced at all stress points.

Select from three models, in cutting widths of 5, 6 or 7-feet. A threee-point hitch is standard, and for the 7-foot model an economical semi-mount hitch is available.. Round bladeholders and laminated wheels are also standard on all models.

Come in today and learn more about Bush Hog's 270 Series Rotary Cutters.

These Lawn Care Mowers Make Grass Cutting a Pleasure.

With Bush Hog's ATH Air Tunnel Finishing Mowers cutting large lawns is fast and easy. Adjustments are minimal and simple to perform, and these mowers give you all the features you'll need to tackle heavy grass and uneven terrain. Heavy, 7-gauge steel deck-plate, floating top linkage and lower link allow uniform cutting. High blade tip speeds and 1 1/2 inch blade overlap assure clean cutting. The high volume discharge chute flexes to allow mowing in heavier or damper conditions.

You can select a five or six-foot cutting width to match your tractor or cutting needs. Come in today and learn more about how Bush Hog's ATH Mowers can take the chore out of cutting big lawns.

CHIPPER/SHREDDERS

CS-100P

The CS-100P Chipper/Shredder is a handy PTO model that mounts easily to any 3-point tractor with a minimum of 18 hp.

CS-130T

The CS-130T Chipper/Shredder has a 13 hp Honda engine. This self-powered model has the power necessary to handle big jobs. Standard equipment includes electronic ignition, oil alert and a two-wheel trailer that is highway towable to the work site.

CS-180T

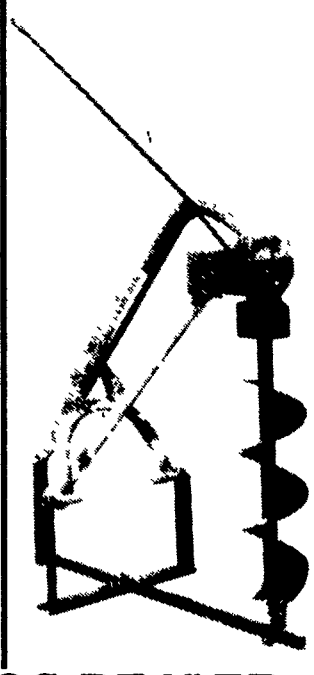
Built to handle the toughest jobs, the CS-180T Chipper/Shredder features an 18 hp Honda engine, 1500 pound torsion axle, a 3-gallon detachable gas tank for convenient refueling plus all the features of the CS-130T.

WITH BUSH HOG® POST HOLE DIGGERS YOU GET A CHOICE.



Whether you have trees to plant, post holes to dig or large construction chores, there's a Bush Hog Post Hole Digger that will do the job.

Choose the utility model 2101 and you can select 6 or 9-inch auger diameters. And with 9-inch augers double flighting is available. Choose the agricultural model 2102 and you have a choice of auger diameters from 6 to 24-inches. Or, with the rugged industrial model 2103 you not only have a selection of 6 to 24-inch augers, but also an optional down pressure cylinder that delivers 500 lbs. of extra digging force.

WHAT ABOUT THOSE VENTILATION FANS?

Eileen Fabian Wheeler
Assistant Professor
Environmental Control
Agricultural &
Biological Engineering

Ventilation is a system. The fan is but one component of a ventilation system, and it is not the most important component! Inlets and air distribution have a tremendous effect on the success of a ventilation system.

Mechanically ventilated building use fans as part of the system of air exchange. Air exchange is the main function of ventilation which improves air quality in an enclosed space by exchanging "used" air with fresh air. Sometimes fans are used to recirculate air already in the building but this offers little air exchange. Recirculation fans are not being discussed here. We will be discussing negative pressure mechanical ventilation which is the most common in poultry structures.

Air moves in response to differences in pressure. Those of you who already understand this principle are assured of understanding how ventilation systems work. Air moves in response to pressure differences whether we are describing high and low pressure systems, or wind, which is created and moves in response to pressure differences or in ventilating a building where the inside is at a different pressure than the building exterior.

Air always moves from regions of higher pressure to regions of lower pressure. Our means of creating a pressure difference to ventilate a building is through the use of fans. They create a slightly negative pressure within the structure as they exhaust air from the enclosed space. Fans create the pressure difference which causes air to move into the building. That's all fans do.

Control of a ventilation system depends on maintaining this pressure difference between the building exterior and interior. Mechanical ventilation system controls include a manometer which indicates the static pressure difference between the inside and outside of the building. This is the pressure difference that is "driving" air into the building. To keep a pressure difference between the building inside and outside, it is necessary to keep the building well sealed so that the fans can create the small negative pressure, or vacuum, that is needed to create the air exchange.

Inlets and their function in air distribution are the most important feature of a ventilation system. Air is drawn in through the inlets because of the pressure difference the fans have created. Inlet location and size determine how well fresh air is distributed within the building.

Ventilation problems such as drafts and dead air zones can be alleviated with properly designed and operated inlets. Given a static pressure difference which the fan has created between the building interior and exterior, inlet size will control inlet jet air speed and the potential for that fresh air to mix well with air already in the enclosure.

Location of inlets all around the structure allows for more uniform indoor air quality. Fans will control the amount, or volume, of air being moved through the building while the inlets will control how well that air is delivered to the places within the building where fresh air is needed.

Air will enter the building wherever there are holes. Inlets are designed to be our "planned" holes for air entry. Unplanned inlet holes exist in most buildings. Tight construction is necessary to minimize leaks around siding gaps, door frames, broken windows, or other "holes" in the building. We've heard that doors and windows need to be kept closed when a mechanical ventilation system is in operation. This is true.

When planning or troubleshooting air quality problems in buildings, it is imperative to think of ventilation as a system. Fans create the pressure difference which is necessary for bringing fresh air into a structure, but it is the inlets which have the major impact on how well air is distributed to the places where it is needed in the structure. Fans do not distribute air around within the structure. They just create a means to bring it into the structure.

So what about those fans? Although they are an important component of a mechanical ventilation system, it is the inlets and air distribution components which have a major influence on air quality in the enclosure. Remember, "natural" ventilation depends on inlet size and location without the use of any fans.

Cyanamid Honors Six For Excellence

WAYNE, N.J. — Five engineers and one human resource manager have been honored as the 1995 recipients of the Cyanamid Agricultural Group's coveted Manufacturing Award of Excellence.

The award recognizes outstanding contributions to manufacturing and engineering. It also honors recipients for their achievements in productivity and cost efficiency, commitment to innovation and quality, and dedication to success.

Those receiving the awards are:

• Anthony Germinario, environmental engineer for the agricultural products division of American Cyanamid Company. Germinario has been selected for his outstanding contributions to the Clean Air Act operating permit programs at Cyanamid Capri in Manati, Puerto Rico and Hannibal manufacturing plants. He is also being recognized for his consistently strong performance on environmental projects. Germinario joined Cyanamid's headquarters in Wayne, N.J. in 1990 as an environmental engineer. He holds a professional engineering license in chemical engineering.

Anthony Germinario

Carl A. Stumpe

Juan L. Castillo

Michael C. Wolfe

Steven R. Soto

• Steven R. Soto, human resources manager for the agricultural products divison of American Cyanamid Company. Soto was instrumental in improving the overall quality of operations at Cyanamid's Capri manufacturing plant in Manati, Puerto Rico. He was responsible for establishing and implementing targeted selection and absenteeism reduction programs, employee recognition systems and activities, and performance management programs, and was the driving force behind the implementation of the plant's communications programs. Soto joined Cyanamid in 1992 and is located at the Manati, Puerto Rico plant.

• Joseph D. Goerlich, production engineer for the agricultural products division of American Cyanamid Company. Goerlich is one of four team members recognized for his contributions to improving the capacity of the imidazolinone production facility in Hannibal, Mo. He was responsible for coordinating the construction activities with the plant operating schedule to minimize production delays and improve cycle times on processing steps — all in an effort to achieve targeted productivity gains. Goerlich joined the Hannibal plant in 1992 as a production engineer.

• Carl A. Stumpe, lead instrument engineer for the agricultural products divison of American Cyanamid Company. Stumpe is one of four team members recognized for improving the capacity of the imidazolinone production facility in Hannibal, Mo. Stumpe was the instrument engineer for the capacity improvement project and was responsible for the installation of a new control system, control instruments, and new operator stations, as well as the relocation of existing operator stations and the startup of the new system. He joined Cyanamid in 1992 as an instrument engineer in the technical department of Cyanamid's manufacturing plant in Hannibal, Mo.

Joseph D. Goerlich

• Juan L. Castillo, project engineer for the agricultural products division of American Cyanamid Company. Castillo is one of four team members recognized for improving the capacity of the imidazolinone production facility in Hannibal, Mo. He was project engineer for the improvement project. Aaccomplishments included installation of new separation equipment in a difficult location and a short installation timetable.

• Michael C. Wolfe, process engineer for the agricultural products division of American Cyanamid Company. Wolfe is one of four team members recognized for improvement of the capacity of the imidazolinone production facility in Hannibal, Mo. As part of the project, the computer control system for the plant had to be expanded, including replacing the computer software. This required changes to the control system database for the plant's separation section. Wolfe developed a method to modify the database for the expanded section of the plant, allowing the remainder of the plant to continue operations on the old control system while the new system was upgraded. Wolfe joined Cyanamid in 1990 as a process engineer in the technical department of the Hannibal plant.

J-Star Honors Sales Leaders

CLEVELAND, Ohio — J-Star Industries recently honored area dealers for outstanding sales performance at a regional dealer meeting held here at the Clarion Hotel.

Harry Troop of Harry L. Troop accepted his B.U.C.S. Top Sales Leader and Bronze MVP awards at the meeting.

Don and Brenda Rovenolt of Rovendale Ag and Barn Equipment, Watsontown, Pa., received their Gold MVP and Top Sales Leader-B.U.C.S. and Jamesway awards at the meeting.

The elite MVP Award (Major Volume Performer) recognizes the company's top dealers who have achieved bronze, silver, or gold levels of sales and performance objectives during 1994. The Top Sales Leaders Award recognizes the top sales leaders for J-Star's main product lines. The Grady Comstock Top Performer Award, in memory of the late Graydon Comstock, who was Jamesway's training manager for many years, recognizes the North American Jamesway dealership with the highest dollar increase in the sale of Jamesway and J-Star equipment in 1994 over 1993 and 1992.

Bou-Matic Improves Cow Traffic

MADISON, Wis.—Improved cow traffic is just one of the many benefits the new Xpressway Milking Center from Bou-Matic offers dairy producers, said Joe Prazak, manager of Farmlines Marketing.

The exclusive Exit Reel is the key to not only good cow traffic, but proper positioning of cows, making milking easier," Prazak said.

With a gentle rotation, the patented "Exit Reel" prompts cows to quickly exit the milking center after being milked. After the next group of cows enters, the reel's wedge-shaped brisket beam conforms to each individual cow, giving all the cows a customized fit. The Exit Reel then automatically indexes, so each cow is in the optimum position for milking.

"Because the Exit Reel's sole purpose is moving and positioning cows, milkers can now focus all their energy on properly milking cows. This, in turn, leads to less stress for the cows and fosters a more productive milking environment," Prazak said.

The open design and uncluttered cow platforms also add to cow comfort, actually encouraging cows to enter and exit quickly.

NESGA Elects Officers

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — Linda Moose, owner of Chapel-Ridge Farm, will serve as president of the North East Santa Gertrudis Association (NESGA) for the 1995-1996 year. Moose was elected at the May meeting of the NESGA at Hoss's Restaurant.

Other officers elected are Jim Delaplaine, Gettysburg, vice president; Susan M. White, Gettysburg, secretary-treasurer; Marguerite L. Bucher, Gettysburg, publicity chair; and James Quanbeck, Columbia; John and Margaret Marshall of Rochester Mills; and Gene Moose, Annette Delaplaine and Douglas White, all of Gettysburg, directors.

The organization will hold a Field Day on July 29 on Tejas Farm, Rochester Mills. Tejas Farm is owned by the Marshalls, who are using a Santa Gertrudis bull as a herd sire in their commercial cattle operation. The event will feature the progeny of the Santa crosses produced at the Tejas operation. Purebred cattle from major breeders will also be on exhibit.

The field day held at the Moose farm in the summer of 1994 was termed very successful by Linda Moose. There were 40 members and guests present. "With the event being held on a farm to the west of us, we hope to introduce the Santa breed to cattlemen in that area." she said.

The members voted to participate in Pennsylvania State University's Ag Progress Days on Aug. 15-17. It was agreed that the exposure of a live animal or animals to the thousands of ag-oriented people who visit the event is worth the time and effort. Follow-up letters were sent to all people who signed the request form at last year's event and they will be sent after this year's event as well.

Other projects discussed were participation in the Virginia Expo 1996, which is always held on the third weekend of April. The Mooses attended the event this year and stated that the animals were on exhibit at private treaty. It was agreed that participation might expose the breed to Virginia people.

The District Six sale will be held this year on Sept. 23 in Sydney, Ohio.

Emu Farmers' Association Hosts Statewide Event

MILLVILLE (Columbia Co.) — The Pennsylvania Emu Farmers' Association (PEFA) will be hosting a "Meet An Emu Day" event statewide. Open houses will be held on participating PEFA members' farms on Saturday, Aug. 5.

The public is invited to contact and visit various member farms to learn more about this agribusiness. Many farms will be serving emu meat, handing out free samples of emu oil-based products, and literature explaining why emu is being raised commercially.

For more information, contact the Pennsylvania Emu Farmers' Association at (717) 437-9185.

Chipper/Shredder Chips To 5 Inches Thick

SELMA, Ala.—The new farm-tough chipper/shredder line from Bush Hog will chip light brush to five inches and shred material up to 1¼ inch thick.

"As landscapers meet government concerns about landfilling of yard wastes, they need a chipper/shredder that will stand up to hard use in all conditions," said Robert O. Moore, Bush Hog vice president, sales. "The new Bush Hog chipper/shredder line is designed with the efficiency and ruggedness that built the Bush Hog reputation in farming applications across North America. Not only will the new chipper/shredders handle tough applications such as shredding leaves and chipping limbs, they will produce uniform wood chips for landscaping."

The new chipper/shredder line consists of three models: the CS-100P PTO chipper/shredder designed for category I, 3-point hitch 540 RPM tractors, 18 to 35 HP; the CS-130T highway towable model with a 13 HP Honda electric start engine; and the CS-180T highway towable model with an 18 HP Honda electric start engine. All three models feature standard 1½ -inch grate.

Northrup King Progresses Toward Bt Corn Commercialization

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn.—In another key move towards commercialization, Northrup King Co. has received clearance from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to harvest extensive research trial acreages of Bt corn.

The clearance granted, a temporary tolerance exemption, extends to all 500 plots in cooperating farmers' fields and Northrup King research locations that are participating in advanced Bt corn field trials across the U.S. this year.

"We have been actively evaluating the field performance of Bt corn for three years," said Kent Schulze, president/CEO of Northrup King. "The extensive research trials now underway, coupled with clearance to harvest Bt corn just like a conventional experimental hybrid, are encouraging steps in our efforts to bring Bt corn to farmers."

Bt corn was developed through biotechnology to resist the European corn borer. The plants contain a gene from Bacillus thuringiensis, commonly known at Bt, a naturally occuring soil bacterium. The gene causes the plant to produce a protein which controls European corn borers, but in its intended use is harmless to beneficial insects and other species, including humans.

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

The major costs on dairy and livestock farms are related to FEED: production...harvesting...storage...purchases...delivery to animals. Significant savings in time and money are possible when you store and deliver your feed from a poured concrete silo.

"As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency: This can have as great an influence on Profit as milk price changes."

Protect your valuable feeds from rain, sleet, snow, mud, ice, wind and the sun's heat. Reduce the stress. INCREASE THE EFFICIENCY OF YOUR FEEDS, LABOR, AND LIVESTOCK!

At Sollenberger Silos Corp. we know a lot about feed storage and handling; we've been in the business since 1908. If your plans call for new feed storage, give us a call...We'd like to contribute to your success!!

NO USED SILOS!

TIRED OF LEAKING ROOFING? USE

WHEELING
Channeldrain
ROOFING & SIDING

Exclusive drain channel guards against wind, rain and snow...assures dryness.

1. Wide overlap: Increases strength and leak protection at each joint.
2. Wide nailing surface: Makes nailing easier and faster.
3. Drain channel: the exclusive leak-proof system that prevents capillary action; stays weather tight. This Wheeling feature has insured "dry barns" for thousands of farmers over the past 50 years.

Side with Alumax ALU-TUFF Steel

When you put up a building, you expect it to be attractive and to last. A building constructed with ALU-TUFF will meet those expectations. That's because ALU-TUFF is made using top-quality materials, super-tough protective coatings, and a unique rib design that's both functional and attractive.

Years from now when other buildings are starting to show their age, your building will still look good.

- A STRONG PROFILE
  High 3/4-inch ribs on nine-inch centers give ALU-TUFF exceptionally high spanning properties for its weight and thickness, while stiffening ribs in flat areas prevent rippling.
- MADE TO LAST
  To keep Alu-Tuff working hard and looking good for years to come, we protect it with an oven-cured system of four different coatings.
- A GREAT LOOKING PANEL
  You don't have to sacrifice good looks to get a tough steel panel.
- MORE QUALITY FEATURES
  Each ALU-TUFF sheet is 38 inches wide to provide 36-inch coverage. That's wide enough to minimize the number of side laps, yet narrow enough to be easy to handle.

You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

| Example | Mueller | Competition |
|---|---|---|
| Cost of equipment | $31,000 | $28,000 |
| Cost of electricity @ .08 KW for 12,000 lbs milk day for 10 years | $17,550 | $22,850 |
| Total operating cost for ten years | $48,550 | $50,850 |
| Savings | $ 2,400 | |

Cut stall clean-out time by 50% with a Millcreek Compact Spreader.

EARL SINKS - Brock, Texas

Say "Good-Bye" to back-breaking manure handling and cut stall clean-out time in half. Hook an affordable Millcreek Compact Spreader to your 10 hp garden tractor, take it right to the stall for easy loading. No more wheelbarrow.

Millcreek Spreaders last and last

Since spreaders are our specialty, we put more into each one. For example our 20-year guaranteed floor will never rust or rot. Positive chain drive provides excellent spreading action. And tough steel construction holds up to rugged farm use. Seven sizes, for 1-horse barns to 50-horse stables. PTO and ground drive models available.

RESEARCH PROVEN—BEFORE YOU BUY IT

When a new feed ingredient or idea comes out, MoorMan's doesn't automatically "jump on the bandwagon".

We avoid offering you anything new without first proving it with our own research animals in carefully conducted tests.

Then we test it further in Field Research on farms of cooperating hog raisers with their animals.

We want to make sure anything new improves animals' performance - and can do it profitable for you - before we put it in a MoorMan's feed product.

Often we aren't the first to offer something new, but when we do, you can depend on it being research proven.

Agriculture Moves on EBY Bodies

- LIVESTOCK BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of heights and widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24'; landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.

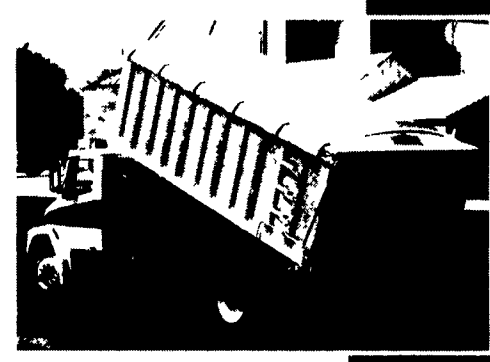
For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer custom options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business- building bodies to haul it is ours.



Let EBY custom build one for you.

FURROW DRIVE WHEEL TIRES

In mold board plowing operations where tires on one side of the tractor are run in the furrow, inflation pressure in that drive tire should be increased 4 PSI over the rated value. This is to compensate for the additional load being carried by this tire and to reduce sidewall buckling tendencies under high torque.

THE BEST TIRES IN THE WORLD HAVE GOODYEAR WRITTEN ALL OVER THEM

Common Plants Can Be Fatal Snack For Large Animals

KENNETT SQUARE (Chester Co.) — The leaves, flowers and berries of some common plants may be beautiful, but they can be deadly if eaten by livestock and pets, according to doctors at the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine.

Rhododendron, azalea, nightshade, acorns, mountain laurel cherry trees, apple trees and yew are all toxic.

"Even maple leaves, which are not usually harmful, become acutely toxic in the fall," said Dr. Robert Poppenga, director of the toxicology laboratory at the New Bolton Center, Penn's large-animal facility in Kennett Square.

"Plant poisoning in pet animals is less common than in livestock," said Dr. Michaela Kristula of New Bolton Center's Field Service. "Small pets can be poisoned by household plants such as dieffenbachia, philodendron, and similar common house plants."

Leaves of the red maple, Acer rubrum, which become increasingly toxic as they dry out, are particularly dangerous in the fall. If eaten by horses, the toxin contained in the leaves causes hemolytic anemia and secondary kidney damage, usually resulting in death or permanent kidney dysfunction. Other maple species are not considered toxic.

"There is no known antidote for maple-leaf poisoning," said Kristula. "Some horses die from the poison only 12 hours after it is ingested, so it is important to have the horse examined by a veterinarian immediately if you suspect he may have maple leaf poisoning." Clinical signs associated with hemolytic anemia resulting from toxins include lethargy, increased breathing rate, jaundice, and reddish-brown colored urine in the early stages.

To protect the animals, Kristula suggests horse owners take the following precautions:

• Do not plant red maple trees in or near your horse's pasture, as horses may nibble the leaves over the fence if they are hungry.

• Make sure that your horse has plenty of hay and other feed to eat, so there is no temptation to eat the leaves if they blow into the pasture. This is especially important in the fall when pastures dry out and grass is sparse.

Other plants to watch out for are several species of nightshades and horsenettle. The berries and vegetation are poisonous. Toxicity is not lost in drying, thus contaminated hay may be toxic. When ingested, they cause neurologic and digestive problems. These plants are found in disturbed soil, woods, meadows and pastures and cultivated fields. Nightshade poisoning affects all animals, but horses, sheep and goats are the most likely to nibble on it if feed is not available.

In sheep, severe intestinal lesions develop as a result of horsenettle toxicosis. There may be inflammation of the mouth and esophagus in calves. Nervous symptoms may include apathy, drowsiness, salivation, shortness of breath, trembling, progressive weakness or paralysis, prostration and even unconsciousness. The dried berries of horsenettle, which cling to the plant over the winter, are so potent they can kill cattle in March.

Buttercups that proliferate in fields in May and June can cause critical gastrointestinal problems in livestock. In severe cases buttercups induce convulsions ending in death. Dried material in hay reportedly is not poisonous. Most livestock will not eat the plant when plenty of other forage is available.

Acorn poisoning can cause digestive problems, jaundice, permanent kidney damage and eventually, death. Calves, goats, and sheep are particularly susceptible to this poison; horses are rarely affected.

The leaves of rhododendron, mountain laurel and azalea, evergreen shrubs with glossy leaves and rose-colored or white flowers, can also be toxic to sheep and goats. The toxin in the leaves causes severe indigestion, bloat and frothing at the mouth. The leaves and buds of hydrangea contain poisonous constituents that cause painful sickness in livestock and humans. Iris, if eaten in large quantities, causes gastroenteritis and labored breathing in livestock. The common morning glory's leaves and stems are toxic. Especially predisposed to poisoning from this creeping vine are hogs, sheep, cattle and goats. Prolonged consumption results in anorexia, coma, and, in severe cases, death.

Yew leaves are extremely toxic for all animals. Cattle seem particularly sensitive to the toxin. As little as one mouthful of the plant can be fatal, so it is essential for owners to dispose of clippings out of the animals' reach whenever pruning yew trees and shrubs.

A particularly harmful plant for horses is the black walnut. Ingestion is not necessary for poisoning to occur. Black walnut trees in the

Field Day Set For Tree Fruit Growers

BIGLERVILLE (Adams Co.)—Tree fruit growers in Pennsylvania and neighboring states are invited to a field day July 26 from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. here at Penn State's Fruit Research and Extension Center.

Visitors will tour orchard research plots and hear presentations highlighting new research and extension programs.

The entomology program will include the latest information on various integrated pest management tactics, including degree days and weather forecasting, mating disruption, new biological control agents, ground cover management, and insect growth regulators. Participants will also learn how to combat insecticide resistance and what is being done to understand the development of resistance in insects.

The horticulural information that will be highlighted will include production data and economic evaluation of apple rootstocks, apple root system dynamics, performance of scab-resistant apple varieties, peach and apple thinning programs, and apple plant growth regulators to manage excessive tree vigor.

The postharvest portion of the program will include the introduction of the new postharvest physiologist and research program. Work conducted over the past three seasons concerning controlled atmosphere (CA) storage of apples from reduced pesticide trials will be briefly discussed.

Presentations will include the control of major diseases of tree fruit crops caused by fungi, bacteria, viruses, and nematodes. Emphasis will be placed on methods helpful in reducing pesticide usage, including antagonistic bacteria and cover crops useful in controlling nematodes.

The 180-acre Fruit Research and Extension Center is located at 290 University Drive, just off Route 234 west of Biglerville in Adams County. Parking and admission are free.

Angus Breeders Exhibit 221 Head

ST. JOSEPH, Mo.—Junior Angus breeders from throughout the country paraded 221 head of entries before judge Randy Daniels of Colbert, Ga., at the 1995 Atlantic National Junior Angus Show in Timonium, Md.

In the owned heifer show, grand champion laurels were presented to Ted Bourne Jr. of Donalds, S.C. The heifer first won the early spring calf division and is a January 1994 daughter of Waldeck Sky Traveler. She is named Waldeck EF Forever Lady 9407.

The reserve grand champion owned female was Ankony Lady Lucy V284 owned by Kyle Jackson of Anderson, Ind. The March 1994 heifer is sired by RA Beartooth Aberdeen and first won the late spring calf title.

In the bred-and-owned heifer show, the grand champion was Dalton Lady Belle owned by Judson Dalton, Altavista, Va. The heifer first won the fall calf division and is a November 1994 daughter of GDAR Oscar 711.

Dalton also exhibited the reserve grand champion bred-and-owned female which first topped the summer calf division. Daltons Belle Anna is the name of his reserve grand entry that is a May 1994 daughter of VDAR Northern Exposure.

The grand champion bred-and-owned bull was Champion Hill Architect owned by Neenah Hill of Birdwell, Ohio. The entry is a September 1994 son of VDAR New Trend 802.

Reserve grand champion bred-and-owned bull laurels were presented to Randolph Clary III, Brodnax, Va., for his bull Southsides Bando. The November 1994 bull is a son of Bon View Bando 598.

The grand champion cow-calf pair was Kruegers Blackbird 704B exhibited by Erin Krueger of Coatesville, Pa. The October 1992 cow is a daughter of R&J Maxima, and she had a September 1994 heifer calf at side sired by GDAR Nugget 6180.

Wynn Dalton, Altavista, Va., displayed the reserve grand champion cow-calf pair. The cow

Common Plants Can Be Fatal Snack

environment are not considered to be harmful. Contact is usually the result of inadvertently using black walnut-contaminated wood shavings for bedding. Horses on black walnut bedding are susceptible to laminitis.

Plants classified as members of the mint family (Labiatae) can cause considerable problems and death in livestock, especially horses; Glecoma hederacea also known as ground-ivy, gill-over-the-ground, creeping charlie and runaway-robin secrete pungent, volatile oils that may be toxic in large amounts. Apparently only horses are susceptible to Glecoma toxins. Found in moist fields or woods, all parts of the plant are toxic in green or dried condition. Symptoms include salivation, sweating, panting, anxiety, turning blue due to a lack of oxygen and pulmonary edema. Lamium amplexicaule L. or henbit, commonly encountered as an element of our spring flora, causes "staggers" in sheep, horses and cattle. Stachys arvensis L., field nettle, is responsible for nervous disorders in livestock especially sheep. It too is a Pennsylvania resident.

Corn cockle and bouncing bet are poisonous and common in Pennsylvania. Corncockle which flowers from July to September is widely established as a weed of grain fields and waste places. Infrequently it is cultivated as a garden plant. The seeds are difficult to separate from wheat seeds and may contaminate this product. The seeds are lethal to young poultry but older birds are less susceptible. Horses and other livestock are also affected. In animals that vomit freely (e.g. pigs), acute poisoning is less likely.

Amaranthus species, commonly known as pigweed and redroot pigweed, although native to tropical America, grow in Pennsylvania gardens, cultivated fields, pastures, roadsides, waste places, and fields. They flower from mid to late summer and are a danger to livestock, especially sheep. Hogs and young calves are more susceptible than adult cattle and horses.

Sorghum species belong to the grass family and include broom corn, Sudan grass, grain sorghum, forage sorghum, saccharin sorghum and Johnsongrass. Johnsongrass, a perennial introduced into the United States sometime in the early 19th century, has spread as a weed on highway margins and cultivated fields, particularly in southeastern Pennsylvania. Cyanide poisoning to livestock may result from consumption of plants resulting in coma and death. Nitrate poisoning and photosensitization has been reported in animals eating the sorghums.

Dr. Susan Crane of the New Bolton Center's Field Service adds another common summer poisoning although it is not exactly a plant. Said Crane, "There is a fungus (Rhizoctonia leguminicola) that grows on clover in this area which produces a toxin (slaframine) that causes horses to salivate profusely when they graze pastures which contain clover. There are no other problems caused by the toxin and the salivation stops when the horse is removed from the pasture. It is very common in this area and we get calls every year from people who don't know what the problem is."

Individuals interested in more detailed information on poisonous plants can contact:

• Pennsylvania — State Bookstore, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of General Services, 1825 Stanley Drive, Harrisburg, PA 17103. For a cost of approximately $6 plus tax they will send you "Poisonous Plants of Pennsylvania," by botanist, Robert J. Hill.

• Delaware — Home Horticultural Publications, Cooperative Extension Service, University of Delaware, 032 Townsend Hall, Newark, DE 19717-1303. Ask for "Delaware Poisonous Plant Guide." Please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with two first class stamps.

If you suspect your animal has eaten one of these toxic substances, contact your veterinarian immediately because delay could be fatal! Remove the animal from the immediate environment and do not allow further access to its regular feed and water. Examine the premises for consumption of or exposure to a toxic plant or chemical. Save appropriate samples of the suspected toxin!

HIGH CONCENTRATE FEEDLOT DIETS

High concentrate — and therefore high energy — feedlot diets are used in a variety of cattle feeding programs. Many Pennsylvania farmer-feeders routinely use silage and haylage at up to 50-60 percent of the dry matter in feedlot diets, because of the economics of using their land to produce feed energy.

An exception in our area to this high forage feeding regime is when feeding Holsteins and some "exotic" type cattle for speciality markets.

Research has shown that cattle can be fed to 95-100 percent of the dry matter intake as grain, and it can be economical to do so. A recent report from Cornell (Traxler et al, 1995) has shown that in rations containing hay crop silage, pelleted roughage, or no roughage fed to Holsteins, the most economical to feed were those with no roughage.

Other work has shown with conventional beef cattle there will be a reduction in performance after 112 days on all-concentrate feeds, while even other studies have shown there are inconsistent results when adding roughage to these diets. Why the conflict?

The answer generally lies in the type of grain that is being fed. For the cow, dry corn will be digested differently than will high moisture corn, rolled wheat, grain sorghum, or cracked corn. The rumen digests part of the grain through the action of bacteria, and part of it is digested in the intestine. The relative proportion of each is determined in part by the physical form of the grain and the amount of roughage that may be present.

The Cornell study indicated that dry, whole corn may in fact be treated like roughage and be ruminated like hay, thus changing the pH and form of the grain before it is digested by the bacteria in the rumen. These results allow the grain be used efficiently for growth.

Cattle producers often ask me if it pays to grind, roll, or crack corn for cattle. The answer really has little to do with digestion kinetics. The answer must be determined by economics and feeding management.

For the Holstein feeding situation, the high concentrate ration with dry, whole corn works well for two reasons. The cattle eat the grain well and use it efficiently for gain. It also mixes well and sorting is prevented with the protein/mineral pellets generally fed to these cattle.

When grain is processed in any manner, there is a cost associated with it. Large western feedlots will often use steam flaking, rolling, or some other process for their grain. The equipment for this type of processing is very expensive, and the incremental change in conversion and performance can be very small.

However, because these lots feed very large numbers of animals, it can be profitable to perform this processing. For feeders in our region, the small changes in performance from processing the grain may not be economical. Possible exceptions would include wheat, barley, or rye, and the cost of using these grains must include the cost of processing it. For corn, there is little economic incentive to process the grain under most conditions. This includes not only the processing costs, but the storage and handling costs as well.

For example, if cracked corn is used 5 percent more efficiently than whole corn, this means for every 100 pounds of whole corn valued at $3 per bushel fed, there would only be about 95 pounds of cracked corn fed to get the same results. The producer should pay no more than $.15 per bushel to have the corn cracked.

If it costs more to store or handle the cracked grain, then the processing costs would be even less.

We are fortunate in Pennsylvania to have a variety of grains available for feeding cattle. Processing these grains has a cost that must be determined.

Tree Association To Show Benefits Of Tree Care

WILKES-BARRE (Luzerne Co.) — On Saturday, July 29, join Vincent Cotrone, Penn State Extension urban forester; Bernie Dincher, International Society of Arboriculture (ISA) certified arborist, and members of the Northeast Pennsylvania Community Tree Association for a morning in the park, demonstrating and discussing tree care practices at the South Williamsport Area Recreation Park on East Central Avenue.

Starting at 9 a.m., interested homeowners, gardeners, municipal workers, and shade tree commission members will begin to witness an ISA certified arborist and his crew demonstrate tree climbing practices, proper tree pruning, fertilization, and the use of aerial lifts and other tree care equipment.

Participants will learn tree care tips; what to look for when hiring a professional arborist; and how the ISA maintains a voluntary, non-government certification program.

Maintenance of community trees is something often misunderstood and left up to the property owners. In many cases, when maintenance work is performed, it is done improperly, having drastic effects on tree health. For example, homeowners fearing a tree's height will contract for the topping of their trees, which promotes decay and death. Well cared for trees are attractive and can add considerable value to your property. Poorly maintained trees can be a significant liability.

Making the decision to hire a professional tree service should not be taken lightly. Certified arborists are plant care specialists dedicated to excellence in the field of arboriculture. They are highly qualified in the care of valuable landscapes using the most up-to-date advances and proven age-old techniques.

The ISA maintains this voluntary, non-governmental certification program. To qualify as a certified arborist, an experienced plant care professional must pass an extensive examination and obtain continuing education credits while keeping abreast of new technology.

For more information contact South Williamsport Borough at (717) 322-0158 or Penn State Cooperative Extension at (717) 825-1701.

Fair's Talent Search Is On

The Great Allentown Fair is looking for talent in everything from singing to scarecrow making. The annual contests for aspiring entertainers and crafters require entry before the fair, scheduled Aug. 29-Sept. 4.

Three competitions at the fair's Farmerama Theater test performing talent. On Thursday, Aug. 31, radio station WZZO sponsors its annual Backyard Bands Live contest.

Rock and pop groups are again asked to send a song on tape-cassette to the station where a listener call-in will determine the top five bands to compete at the fair. Record company representatives judge the contest and prizes are awarded. Tapes can be mailed to WZZO, P.O. Box 9595, Allentown, PA 18105-9595. Mark "Backyard Bands Contest" on the envelope.

The Coca-Cola All Star Lip Sync Contest hosted by radio station B104 will be back for its tenth year Friday, Sept. 1. Contestants of all ages can pantomime musical recordings, imitating or embellishing the recording artists' renditions.

Coca-Cola, S&S Amusements and the fair will present prizes to winners and runners-up in three age categories. Applications to participants are available at the fair office.

"Wanna-be" singers get their shot all day Saturday, Sept. 2 at the Farmerama, when radio station Oldies 99 hosts The Great Karaoke Singoff and Finals. A karaoke machine drops the lead vocals from records allowing amateur singers to sing the lead.

Finalists will compete after an all-day elimination round. Each finalist will win a gift certificate from The Brass Ring Saloon restaurant on the fairgrounds. A grand prize will be awarded.

Applications are available at the fair office, Oldies 99 and the restaurant which offers Karaoke practice every Wednesday night.

For those up to some fancy footwork, a "Country Jamboree" complete with a dance contest is being hosted by radio station Country 107 at the fair's Banko Music Tent. Tommy Schafer and Blue Mountain Ramblers will perform at the tent from 1:30-5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 3.

Everyone who attends can join in the country line-dancing and even a little square dancing at the free event. Dance contest winners will be awarded prime seats for the fair's Reba McEntire concert on Sept. 4.

Creative talent will be judged at the fair's Create Your Own Scarecrow contest at 1 p.m. Friday, Sept. 1 in the Farmerama. Coca-Cola will award prizes for the "funniest," "nerdiest," "cool dudest," "scariest" and other varieties of scarecrows. As part of the fair's commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the end of World War II, a patriotic or armed service uniformed scarecrow category has been added.

Applications to participate are available at the fair office. Participants will use straw and some decoration material supplied by the fair, but may bring from home old clothes and other materials to enhance their entries.

For contests requiring applications from the fair, they are available at the fair office which is located behind the Ritz Barbecue on the fairgrounds at 17th and Chew Streets in Allentown. For more information, call (610) 433-7542 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Ag, Environment Panel Topic Of Meeting

EDGEWATER, Md.—"Agriculture and the Environment—Where Do We Go From Here?"

That's the title for a blue-ribbon panel discussion to be held as part of the 1995 annual meeting of the Maryland Grain Producers Association.

The meeting will be held Thursday, July 27, at the University of Maryland Wye Research and Education Center, off Route 50 just south of Queenstown.

Panelists will be Jane Nashida, formerly with the Chesapeake Bay Foundation and now secretary of the Department of the Environment in the Glendening Administration; Delegate Marsha Perry from Maryland's 33rd District; Maria Kelly, representing Maryland's First District Congressman Wayne Gilchrest, an outspoken advocate of environmental protection; and Maryland Ag Secretary Lewis Riley.

The panel discussion will come about midway in a program slated to get under way at 1 p.m. and to conclude at 4 p.m. with MGPA's traditional crab feast and chicken barbecue.

Elsewhere on the agenda, which will be emceed by Patrick McMillan, an MDA staffer and a member of the MGPA board of directors, will be the election of directors, an update on the work of the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board which administers the grain checkoff in the state, and the presentation of MGPA's coveted Man of the Year Award.

Bruce Cain, director of the Alternative Ag Research and Commercialization Center, an independent agency within the USDA, will discuss alternative uses for ag products, and John Dantine, an agronomist for Willard AgriService Inc., will provide a briefing on "satellite farming" using the Global Positioning System (GPS) technology.

The featured speaker of the afternoon will be Dr. Marshal D. McGlamery, professor and extension weed specialist at the University of Illinois and one of the nation's foremost weed control scientists.

For more information, call the MGPA office at (410) 956-5771.

JUMBO BALES

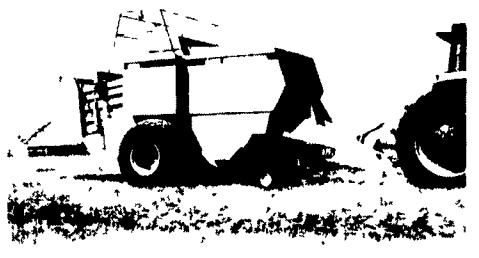
A Case International 8580 large rectangular baler makes JUMBO bales - up to 2,000 pounds.

It compresses hay equivalent to about 40 conventional bales into a single high-density package. The high-end capacity and performance of the 8580 means you can push these big bales through the machine all day — every day. That's a lot of hay!

And it's quality hay, too. The center-line design handles the crop gently to preserve nutritious leaves. The bales are uniformly shaped for efficient handling and shipping.



The 8580 also has a full list of standard features. Low-profile pickup, pre-packed chamber, massive gearbox, heavy-duty components throughout, electronic monitoring, double-tie knotters and low maintenance. And it's simple to operate.

The Case International 8580 is a JUMBO value, too.

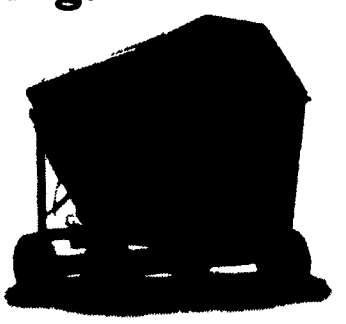
If You Want The Real Facts On A Real Dump Wagon, See Binkley & Hurst Bros. Today Ask About Financing!

HERE'S THE STRAIGHT SCOOP ABOUT RICHARDTON HIGH DUMP WAGONS



Seems like some folks are always trying to catch up. And sometimes they'll do just about anything to get ahead. But you know that for over 35 years Richardton high dump wagons have been the best in the business and in the field. So get the best —Hitch up a Richardton Wagon today.

| What the competition says about Richardton Wagons | The truth about Richardton High Dump Wagons |
|---|---|
| Cylinders and cables | Our exclusive patented lock cylinders ensure that the box won't tip over Our cable system allows you to top off a truck load with a partial dump You're not restricted to a full dump cycle And, you save time because there are no master/slave cylinders to purge |
| Over two minute cycle time | ALL cycle times depend on your tractor's hydraulic system! We designed our wagon to cycle in less than one minute. |
| 12GA. steel on entire hopper | Our 12GA. steel construction is absolutely the most cost effective and strongest on the market. It's that way today and it's been that way for over 35 years |
| Internal braces welded to flat steel | We'll say it again — Richardton wagon components are the strongest and best built on the market! |
| 300# rated standard black pipe fittings | Flared hydraulic steel tubing with 5,000 PSI rated fittings are standard on Richardton wagons |
| ¼" wall material | Our ¼" walls withstand decades of hard use And, just so you know, we use 5/16" where necessary. |
| 3½" x 3½" slide tubes, steel on steel | Others copy our original heavy duty nylon no-grease slide system There is NO metal on metal at any time! |

CLAAS® Rollant round balers give you what you want

—one quality round bale after another.

Discover Quality...Discover Value...

The Rollant 66 makes fast work of 4'x5' bales. Its unique two-stage pick-up and close tines produce a clean, efficient harvest in less time. Rollatex netting wraps a bale in 10 seconds or less, and double-twine wraps it up in just 20.

The Rollant 46 introduced CLAAS's innovative fixed bale chamber to the marketplace. This versatile baler handles all farm operations from dry hay to silage. Nobody produces a better 4'x4' bale.

The Rollant 42 was designed for family livestock operations. This economical investment produces weather-tight 4'x4' bales for the highest nutrient content possible.

CLAAS bales mean nutrient-filled edible hay, low spoilage, and high crude protein retention.

Each Rollant offers the innovative chamber, low-profile pick-up, and world class dependability. And they all share CLAAS's international reputation for low maintenance, durability and long-life.

Call now to see how you can improve the round figures on your bottom line.

MANURE HAPPENS!

Badger

New Model BN4250 Spreader Tank

From 4250 to 0 gallons in less than six minutes!

- Cor-Ten Steel Construction - makes tanks 20% stronger and 8 times more corrosion-resistant than tanks made of 1/4 in mild steel, yet it's lighter in weight for fuel savings
- Heavy-Duty Undercarriage and Drawbar are ruggedly designed to give you many years of trouble-free use High ground clearance makes it easier to haul over rough terrain
- High Flotation Tires - help reduce fuel consumption and ground compaction
- Heavy-Duty Impellor - features four cutting blades that chop up bedding, long straw and weeds to provide trouble-free spreading
- Liquid Level indicator - shows manure level at all times
- Discharge Nozzle - provides wide angle, uniform 30-50 ft spread pattern, depending on liquid content and impellor operating speed
- Rear-Mounted Injectors - available as an option
- Best Warranty in the Industry: 10-year full-price warranty on barrel

WHIRL-A-FEED

SAVE TIME AT THE SILO

Increase your productivity with a Model 40 forage blower. The Whirl-A-Feed® table breaks up clumps and spins crop into the blower at high speed. This means less drag on the fan and more efficient use of your tractor's horsepower.

The GLEANER Natural Flow process.

When it comes to harvesting a crop it doesn't pay to go against the grain. GLEANER knows this, so we designed our combines to be the most efficient harvester you can use.

Our secret is our Natural Flow System. Okay, so it's not exactly a NATURAL FLOW secret, but it is unique. GLEANER's processing cylinder sits crosswise. So your crop doesn't need to change directions before processing. GLEANER's unique system moves your grain through the entire machine in one direction. Unlike competitors combines which force your grain to change directions, first when entering the cylinder, and again when exiting, causing unnecessary cracking and splitting. Between our transversely mounted cylinder and gentle air system, it's no wonder your crop comes out cleaner with less damage. Take a look. It's easy to see we have the most productive combine available today.

Level your fields without leveling your combine.

The brilliantly simple Dynamic Hillside Compensation System, optional on MF 8400 conventional combines, gives you "flat land" performance on slopes up to 20 degrees. All automatically. And all at a surprisingly low cost. Stop in today for all the details.
